Poultry Nutrition Expert

Dr. Couch of A&M Invited To Talk in Europe, Israel

One of the South's leading experts on poultry nutrition, Dr. J. R. Couch, professor of biochemistry, nutrition and poultry science, A&M has been invited to lecture before feed manufacturers, nutrition experts and other scientists in seven European nations and Israel this month.

Couch will leave New York on Saturday, for a tour of Scotland, England, Holland, France, Italy, Switzerland, Germany and Israel, where he is scheduled to make addresses on late developments in poultry nutrition and where he will confer with representatives of European poultry ration manufacturers.

A pioneer in development of poultry rations using antibiotics and unidentified growth factors, Couch is credited by feed manufacturers as being one of the world's finest poultry nutrition specialists.

Ten years ago Couch successfully introduced such unidentified growth factors as distillers solubles, fish meals and dried whey into poultry rations, and added antibiotics—with the result that chickens fed on these diets made tremendous gains in growth with negligible mortality.

The work of Couch and his colleagues in poultry nutrition is credited with making it possible for broiler producers to raise 3-pound birds in about eight weeks time, on 6 and a half pounds of feed. Ten years ago, it took from 12 to 14 weeks to make the same market weight and 12 pounds of feed.

European broiler producers are making rapid progress in developing big markets, Couch says, but he adds they're generally behind the United States.

The broiler industry, as a major agricultural industry became a reality about 1935, Couch says, but the real progress in fast, economical production of high-quality birds has come about largely since 1948, he says.

England will be the first stop on his tour. There he will present lectures in the London area, at the University of Redding, at Sutton In Scotland he will confer with the research staff at the Rowlett Research Institute of the University of Aberdeen.

Dr. J. R. Couch

Dr. Couch will make a brief stop-over in Holland to give a lecture at the University of Utrecht. He will also give lectures at Cuxhaven in Germany and Pontenavaux in France.

In Switzerland he will confer with representatives of Ciba Pharmaceutical, Inc. and Hoffman-LaRoche Chemical and Pharmaceutical Company. The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station has a grant from the Hoffman-LaRoche firm for a study of tranquilizers in poultry feeds.

A&M's Dr. Davis To Attend Meeting

Dr. W. B. Davis, head of the A&M Department of Wildlife Management, will participate in the annual meeting of the American Society of Mammalogists in Washington, D. C. June 21-25.

Davis was president of the society from 1955 to 1958. He has also served as vice-president and secretary of the society and editor of the Journal of Mammalogy. He is currently a member of the society's board of directors.

An outstanding feature of the program will be a symposium on the Mexican free-tailed bat. This bat is involved in the transmission of rabies to man. Mammalogists, including Dr. Davis, are interested in how these bats become infected with the rabies virus and how dangerous they are to man.

New Officers Lead Meeting Of Secretaries

The Bryan-College Station Chapter of the National Secretaries Assn. held its monthly dinner meeting at the Triangle Restaurant with the new officers presiding.

New officers are Margaret Coleman, president; Alma Kasner, vice president; Merle Buchanan, recording secretary; and LuJuan Joyer, treasurer.

The following are committee chairmen for 1959-60: Florence Hall, bulletin; Merle Buchanan, civic; Alma Kasner, education and program; Margaret Grange, membership; Beverly Shelley, publicity, public relations, scrapbook; Beth Burnes, Gretchen Bailey, By Laws; Patsy Wilson, Ways & Means; Orlena Newton, secretaries week; Beverly Shelley, Alma Kasner and Florence Hall.

Guests at the meeting were Venita Williams, secretary of the economics section of the Texas Transportation Institute; Lillian Watson, secretary in the President's Office, A&M; and Daisy Brogdon, secretary, Office of Comptroller, A&M.

Aline Brogdon, vice president of the Bryan Building and Loan Assn. was the guest speaker and talked on "Jury Service for Women."

There will be no Goliath's on Brandeis University's 1958 football team but Coach Benny Friedman has three Davids as quarterbacks. They are Bouchard, Walker and Bornstein, all 160-pounders.
