

CADET SLOUCH

by Jim Earle

"We've been in school for two weeks now and no one has asked us for a date!"

"I sure would like to get a date with one of those girls, but there's probably a waiting list!"

Dr. Doak, A&M Biology Head, To Serve As Visiting Lecturer

Dr. C. C. Doak, professor and head of the Department of Biology, A&M, will be a visiting lecturer at National Science Foundation Institutes for Teachers on the campuses of seven colleges and universities this summer.

His first lecture will be at the Summer Institute for Teachers at the University of Texas tomorrow. He will lecture at Prairie View A&M on Monday and will lecture the following night before teachers attending the Summer Institute at A&M.

From mid-July to mid-August, Doak will make a series of lectures at Randolph Macon College and Hampton Institute in Virginia, at Converse College in South Carolina and at Texas Southern University in Houston.

E. Wayne Schmidt Gets Scholarship

E. Wayne Schmidt, senior architectural major at A&M, has received a $500 Black-Brother Scholarship for the 1959-60 academic year.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Schmidt of 619 North Fourth, Temple, and is married to the former Mary Folschinsky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Folschinsky of 920 Duval, Temple.

A 1949 graduate of Temple High School, a 1956 graduate of Temple Junior College and a veteran of three years in the U. S. Army, he was chosen for the scholarship award by the Faculty Scholarships Committee of the college.

During the 1959-60 school year, Schmidt will be vice-president of the student chapter of the American Institute of Architects and managing editor of the Architecture Plus, a student publication of the Division of Architecture. He will also be a member of the Memorial Student Center Creative Arts Committee and a member of the executive committee of the MSC Camera Club.

A native Texan, Doak has been a member of the faculty here for more than 30 years and has been head of the Department of Biology since 1938. For the past three summers he has served as director of the Science Enrichment Program for High Ability Secondary School Students held at A&M.

He is listed in "Who's Who in America," and "American Men of Science," is a past president of the Texas Academy of Science and a member of the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science and the Botanical Society of America.

The motto E Pluribus Unum (Out of Many, one) used on United States documents was the idea of Thomas Jefferson.

Retired Professor Honored Recently

Fred R. Jones, who retired as professor and head of the Department of Agricultural Engineering, A&M, in September, 1958, was honored at Ithaca, New York, recently by the American Society of Agricultural Engineers. Prof. Jones was awarded the John Deere Gold Medal for outstanding engineering achievements in the field of agriculture.

The ASAE cited Jones' long and distinguished career at A&M and his contributions to improved agricultural engineering practices and education in the South and Southwest in awarding him the medal.

Jones joined the faculty of A&M as an instructor in agricultural engineering, in 1921, and in 1938 was made acting head of the department. In 1940, he was named to head the department, the post he occupied until his retirement last September.

Born in New Lisbon, Wis., he was educated in the Mauston, Wis., High School, and at the University of Wisconsin, Iowa State College and A&M.

A member of the ASAE, Jones was made a fellow of the society in 1938, and a life member in 1959. His other professional society memberships include the American Society for Engineering Education and honorary societies Alpha Zeta, Tau Beta Phi and Phi Kappa Phi. He is a registered professional engineer of Texas.
