

Some 1,000 Cooperative Fellowships Offered in Support of Graduate Study

Approximately 1,000 Cooperative Graduate Fellowships will be offered in support of graduate study in the sciences, mathematics and engineering during the academic year 1960-1961, the National Science Foundation announced this week.

Fellows will be selected solely on the basis of ability as indicated by reference reports, academic records and other evidences of attainment, including scores received on nationally administered examinations designed to test scholastic aptitude and scientific achievement.

In this second year of operation of the program, applicants may apply to study at one of 152 designated colleges and universities including A&M—those which are authorized to confer the doctoral degree in at least one of the sciences. First-year participation in the program had been limited to 115 institutions which had awarded a specified minimum number of science doctorates.

Applicants will apply through the participating institution of their choice and will be initially screened and evaluated by the faculty. Applications will be forwarded—together with the institution's recommendations—to the National Science Foundation. Applicants will then be evaluated for the National Science Foundation by panels of scientists especially chosen for this task by the National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council.

At both levels of review and evaluation, as well as in the final selection of Fellows by the National Science Foundation, ability will be the sole criterion for judgment.

Tenures of nine or twelve months are optional with the Fellow. Fellows will receive a basic annual stipend of $2,200 from funds provided by the National Science Foundation and will be encouraged to undertake limited teaching responsibilities. At their discretion, the institutions themselves may supplement the stipend by as much as $800 for a Fellow on a full year's tenure or $600 for those on the shorter tenure.

In lieu of tuition and fees, the Foundation will provide each institution a predetermined and standardized cost-of-education allowance on behalf of each Cooperative Graduate Fellow.

Application materials can be obtained from the Graduate Dean of a participating institution or from the Fellowships Section, Division of Scientific Personnel and Education, National Science Foundation, Washington 25, D. C. Applications must be submitted to the Graduate Dean of the participating institution of the applicant's choice by Nov. 6, 1959.

Shortly after March 15, 1960, all applicants will be notified, by the schools through which they applied, of the disposition of their applications.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	2 Chronicles	20	20-37
Monday	Revelation	22	6-21
Tuesday	Leviticus	14	1-20
Wednesday	Leviticus	19	1-18
Thursday	Numbers	20	1-13
Friday	2 Kings	11	1-16
Saturday	2 Kings	12	8

When I walk out of my front door, it always gives me a good feeling to see the spire of the church down the street.

A church spire makes you look upward. You have an irresistible urge to gaze at its highest point. It is a lofty symbol, the physical manifestation of an ideal.

Sometimes, when I step through my front door, my thoughts are on the "down" side. Then I look toward the church, my eyes travel to the sky, and I feel better, no matter what my troubles.

Next time you're near a church — try it and see. Better still, try going inside.
