

Scientist Returns From Cambridge

Richard M. Adams, an administrative research scientist in the Department of Oceanography and Meteorology, has returned from an 18-month leave of absence in Cambridge, Mass., where he directed a phase of the satellite tracking program of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory.

Adams has been chief of the Computation Division of the Observatory's satellite tracking program.

At Cambridge, he directed computations based on satellite observations from 12 satellite tracking stations and 200 or more moon watch teams located in different parts of the world.

From these observations, precise information on minute to minute location of the satellites could be obtained for agencies conducting experiments aboard the satellites. Also, by computing the daily observation reports, predictions on the time, altitude and azimuth of the satellites could be determined for the tracking stations and moonwatch teams.

The Little League Corner

By RUSSELL BROWN
With a week's layoff cutting action to a minimum, the American League South stated the second half Monday night with two ball games—one a slugfest, one a pitchers' battle.

In the first tilt, the White Sox edged out the Orioles, 14-13 in five innings behind the pitching of Eddie Putz and Duke Butler and the hitting of Tommy Cartwright, Charles Ibert, Carl Gough and Joe Powell. Putz took the win with the loss going to starter Rodney Greer. Will Edmonds also hurled for the Birds.

The score was knotted at 5-5 when the White Sox blew the game apart with nine runs in the fifth. The Orioles came back to score eight but couldn't get the tying run across. Jerry Davis doubled twice to lead the loses.

In the second contest the Senators used two errors and a contested balk to score their 1-0 win behind Walter Varvel. Both Varvel and Randy Hall of the Sox yielded two hits but the Senators errors were not as costly as the Sox errors.

Hubert Hearne led the Sox with two doubles while Randy Storms and Larry Coufal got the Senator hits. The game is under protest on the balk ruling.

With limited action this week the players and managers should be pointed out at this time. Following are the four squads and their mentors:

Senators—Howard Nelson, Larry Coufal, Russell Hanna, Derrel Gossett, Walter Varvel, Randy Storms, Milton Moore, Marvin Smith, Jim Beamer, Larry Godfrey, Mark Mikulec, Eddie Slovacek, Mike Cooper, Billy Elder and David Terwey. Hank Mills is the manager.

Red Sox—Jimbo Robison, Bob Jones, Randy Hall, Hubert Hearne, Duke Miller, Larry Linton, Jan Dozier, Derrill Nixon, Sam Creswell, Steve Prescott, Andy Dean, James Creswell, Charles Holland, David Murphy and Roger Nichols. Manager is Manuel Garcia.

Orioles—Larry Mayes, Mark Hayes, Will Edmonds, John Baldauf, Rodney Chaney, Lee Martin, Bobby Ammirata, Rob Haley, Doyle Robertson, Jon Ammirata and David Price. Wayne Smith is manager.

The factory selling price of golf equipment purchased during 1957 was $60,711,924, reports the Athletic Goods Manufacturers' Assn.
