

Injuries Plague Triumphant Aggie Basking Over Spartan Victory

Injuries began cropping up in the Aggie football camp yesterday like ticks on sheep, many of them crippling to the Farmers if they can't be cured before Saturday's date with the Mississippi Southerners at Mobile, Ala.

Both starting tackles, Co-captain Gale Oliver and Bill Godwin left the practice field with questionable injuries. Oliver is reported to be suffering from an injured shoulder while Godwin was hobbled by an injured knee.

Second string center Larry Broadus, a converted guard who is challenging Roy Northrup for a starting role, is hampered by a shoulder injury as is Jesse McGuire, the Aggie left halfback.

Randy Sims, hero of A&M's victory over Michigan State with his winning field goal, reinjured his ankle that kept him off the practice field most of last week.

Pete Angermiller, moved up to the starting fullback position after his excellent showing against MSU, missed suiting out Monday and Tuesday with a bruised knee, injured in the State tilt.

Head Coach Jim Myers developed a worried frown as yesterday's sessions progressed, shaking his head as athlete after athlete left the playing field for Trainer Smokey Harper's training table. The extent of the injuries suffered is not known as of yet, but they are serious enough to worry Myers. "They'd better be ready to go against Mississippi Southern or we're in trouble," he stated.

Myers and his staff were still enthusiastic over the showing of some of the athletes in the Michigan State contest. He singled out Guards Wayne Labar and Buddy Payne, Center Roy Northrup, and Backs Charles Milstead, Robert Sanders and Jon Few for individual praise. "These boys looked real good on film," he said with admiration. The coaches grade the game films to see how each athlete performs at his position.

Few, now running at full speed after missing most of the fall drills with a leg injury, has taken over the starting left halfback slot from Jesse McGuire, now relegated to the second unit.

The major shift in the starting eleven came when Myers dropped Gordon LeBoeuf back to the third string fullback slot, and moved the injured Angermiller up to the second string. Angermiller was one of the most improved players during spring drills last year.

LeBoeuf, hindered by bruised ribs, and Angermiller with his injured knee leaves Myers with two of his three fullbacks on the injured list. The other fullback is sophomore Bob Caskey.

Emphasis was placed on offensive and defensive drills yesterday, with the Aggies also devoting time to that bugaboo of football, fumbling. All phases of the kicking game were also worked on.

Myers plans to kick more this year, and hopes to do it with the same degree of success the Farmers exhibited against the Spartans. Besides keeping State off balance with quick kicks the Cadets won the game with a field goal off the talented toe of Sims.

"We couldn't go after the field goal last year," said Myers, "because we were always too far behind for it to do any good." This year things could be different.

Myers plans to begin tapering off today in order to give his injured players a chance to recuperate and prevent others from becoming injured.

Broaddus Injured

Second string Center Larry Broaddus, along with a host of his teammates, pose a serious threat to the Aggie future with their injuries. Broaddus has an injured shoulder hurt in the Michigan State contest.

Aggie Harriers Meet Cougars Saturday

Aggie cross country runners open the season on home ground Saturday morning when they enter a dual meet with the University of Houston Cougars.

The two top runners for the Aggies are Freddie Dulock and Malcolm Hardee who both round the three mile course in 15 seconds flat. Running close behind is Thomas Johnston and Thad Crooks. Filling out the rest of the Aggie squad is Gail McDaniel, Richard Hickman and Charles Hajousky.

Houston boasts some strong competition for the Aggies with John Macy, 1958 National A.A.U. cross country champion and Al Lawrence, world record holder for the indoor two-mile. Other varsity entries for the Cougars are Pat Clohessy, Reggie Darley, George Rankin, John Reed and Ian Goldfoot.

In the two mile freshman division the outlook is favorable toward the Aggie fish headed by Johnny Faulkner who runs the course in 9:50 seconds.

"E. L. Ener and Ronald Dingle are looking good too," said Aggie Track Coach, Charlie Thomas.

Other freshmen runners for the Cadets are George Pickel, Jay Hundley, Mike Kerley, Edwin Korenek, Glen Shipp and Ken Patronella.

Barrie Almond, defending Kansas Relay mile champion, heads the Cougar freshman group. Almond is joined by Barry Madden, Richard Davis, Freddy Meyers, Joe Dow and David Hollingsworth, all former Houston high school track stars.

Coach Thomas said, "Although Houston is a strong contender for national honors this year, I think we will give them a good race."

Thomas also said that he thinks the A&M Frosh can beat the Houston freshmen.

Bob Benton, Mississippi's junior tackle from East St. Louis, Mo., wears a size 21 collar.

Saturday's meet is scheduled to begin at 11 a.m. on the cross country course behind G. Rollie White Coliseum.
