A&M's Freshman eleven open their 1959 football campaign tonight on Kyle Field against one of the heaviest TCU Wog teams in the history of the Purple and White at 7:30.

The Fish boasts one of the more talented and heftier teams in the Southwest Conference, certainly having more than their share of all-state and high school all-America athletes.

Piloting the Aggies tonight will be quarterback Ronnie Brice, a 6-9, 175 pound all-stater from Andrews. The speed merchant on the team, Jon Mason from Las Cruces, N.M., will be running at the left half-back slot. Mason has been clocked in the 100 at 9.6, which ranks him as the fastest freshman in the conference.

The Fish line is headed by all-staters George Hogan of Longview and James Walton of Dumas. Hogan was one of the top line catches in the state, captaining teams in both the Oil Bowl and the Texas high school All-State game.

The Wog forward wall is sparked by all-staters Lynn Morrison of Cleburne and Bernard Bartek of Belton. Morrison, a 215 pounder, was the outstanding lineman in the North-South all-star game last summer in Fort Worth.

Smith furnished South Texans with some top offensive thrills, by both his passing and running, and was twice the state low hurdles champion in track.

Smith, Morrison, Guard Hal Stanislaw and Davis all played in the high school all-star game.

TCU will outweigh the Cadets by six pounds in the line, with the biggest difference coming in the Wogs left tackle and right guard. Joe Owens will face the Cadets' James Walton with a 15 pound advantage and right guard Pete Winfrey puts his 240 pounds up against the Ags James Phillips' 210.

The big difference in the game could be the Wogs' weight, the Aggies' Mason's speed and the good right arm of A&M's Brice on the pass.

Ags Resume Drills; None Injured Badly

All hands were present and accounted for yesterday afternoon as Coach Jim Myers sent his charges through their practice drills in preparation for their first home game of the season Saturday against the University of Houston Cougars.

Tailback Charlie Milstead was out in pads but not going through any contact drills after his shoulder injury Tuesday sent him in to the training room.

Left halfback Jon Few and Fullback Bob Caskey were the only other Aggies suited out in full uniform but staying away from all contact phases of the practice session. Few's ankle is slightly swollen, but Caskey appeared ready to go.

The Farmers stressed their running game and put in a great deal of work on pass defense. Blocking was stressed as the Cadets strived to send their runners on longer gains.

Milstead, his right shoulder bothering him, did not participate in any of the passing drills either. None of the injuries are considered serious and Myers expects his team to be at full strength come Saturday.

At the present date there are no changes in the Aggie starting lineup that has Milstead at quarterback, Few at left half, Robert Sanders at right half and Gordon LeBoeuf at fullback.

The Cadets have scheduled only a short drill today that should last no longer than an hour. All heavy contact work will be eliminated as the coaching staff tries to keep the team in game playing condition.

A&M is favored by some 6½ points over the University of Houston, but go into their third straight game outweighed and with the Cougars boasting a 9.7 sprint man in the person of Claude King.
