Judging Teams Enter Contests

A&M's senior meats and wool judging teams left Wednesday to compete in contests at Kansas City's annual American Royal Livestock Show, one of the largest in the nation.

Members of the meats team include Henry Fitzhugh of San Antonio, Don Osbourn of Valley Spring, Leroy Keese of Bandera and Joe Poyce of San Marcos.

Junior College Meet Sets 'New Concepts' As Its Topic

"New Concepts in Higher Education" is the theme of the 16th annual Junior College Conference to be held Monday and Tuesday in the Memorial Student Center.

The session's purpose is to promote closer working relationships between junior and senior colleges, according to Dr. C. H. Ransdell, associate director of the Basic Division and chairman of the conference.

Leading Educators to Attend
Attending the meeting will be many Texas junior and senior college educators and administrators who are leaders in their work. Several of the speakers are from out of state, Ransdell said.

One of the main speakers in the program which is still tentative, is Dr. Ross R. Middlemiss, professor of mathematics at Washington University at St. Louis, Mo. "Teaching Mathematics in Higher Education" is the title of his talk.

Another leading speaker will be the Rev. Dr. Walter K. Kerr of Tyler, pastor of the Marvin Methodist Church.

Conference Schedule
The first day's conference will start at 9 a.m. with H. Brownlee of Bryan, dean of Allen Military Academy, presiding. Dr. J. B. Page, dean of the college, will welcome the group. Dr. Robert B. Kamm, dean of arts and sciences at Oklahoma State University, will give an address.

Dr. Raymond Caveness, president of San Angelo College, will preside at the afternoon meeting. In addition to Dr. Middlemiss, talks are scheduled by Dr. Winfred Lehman, chairman of Germanic languages at the University of Texas; and Dr. Josephine McAmis, chemistry professor at San Antonio College.

"The Need For, and Problems Related To A Proposed State-Wide College Testing Program" will be discussed by Alton Lee, Baylor University registrar, at the morning meeting Tuesday.

The group held a practice judging session in Fort Worth at Armour and Company. They held a similar session in Oklahoma City yesterday and today at Wilson & Company. Monday they will hold their final practice in Kansas City before the contest begins next Tuesday.

Team coach Frank A. Orts, research assistant in the Department of Animal Husbandry, said 20-25 teams will compete in the event.

The wool team is composed of Lovell Kuykendall of Cherokee, Hudson Glimp of Burnet, John Hodge of Salado and Joe Joyce. Joyce is also a member of the senior livestock judging team, which will also compete in the Kansas City event.

Wool team coach, C. F. Parker, instructor in the Department of Animal Husbandry, said that the team will hold several practices before actual competition. About 8 teams will compete.

Another judging team composed of 12 junior and senior animal husbandry students performed cattle placing and grading chores at the annual Hereford Feeder and Stocker Sale last night at the Ft. Worth Stockyards.

Students who were competing for a place on the junior livestock judging team graded pens of cattle according to government grading standards.

Sophomore Shows Two Champions

Out of two classes of sheep in the Junior Rambouillet show, Sharp showed the champion ram in the ram-lamb class and champion ewe in the ewe-lamb class.

Sharp has been exhibiting lambs in the fat lamb class since he was nine years old. He has since worked himself into the registered lamb business, at which he has been exhibiting for the past four years.

In these past four years, Sharp has built up his flock of 10 ewes and 1 buck to 58 ewes and bucks of which he is the owner and breeder.

Since last year Sharp has sold 16 bucks, 7 of which have gone to Mexico City.

First Corps Trip Saturday; Ags Meet Texas Christian

Dance, Game Highlight Weekend

By ROBBIE GODWIN

A constant stream of traffic northward from Bryan can mean only one thing at this time of year—the first Aggie Corps Trip is under way.

The first in a long line of activities for the weekend will be an open house from 6-9 p.m. at Texas Woman's University. This is the first year this event has been a part of the weekend's activity. Hostesses will be on hand to receive visitors.

The dance will begin at 9 p.m. in the Student Union Building Ballroom. Hostesses will also be on hand at the dance. The sweetheart presentation ceremonies will begin at 10 p.m., and will be followed by a Yell Practice.

Saturday at 10:30 a.m., the Corps will march in review in downtown Fort Worth.

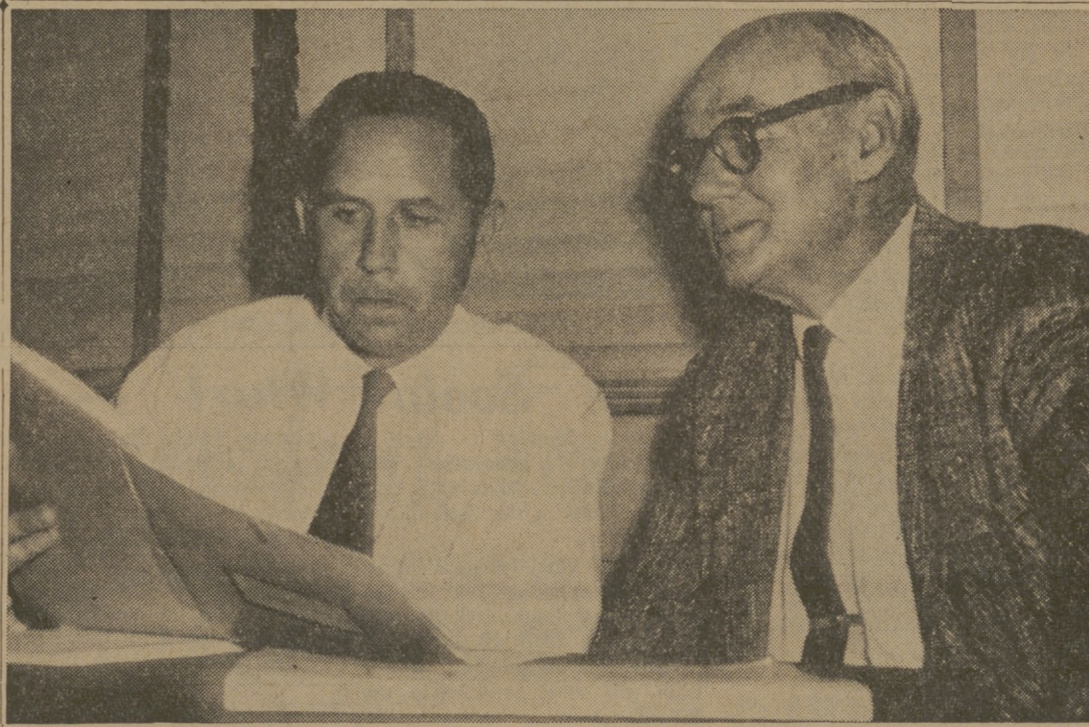

Units will assemble on East Weatherford St. between Jones and Elm Streets. The route of march will begin on Weatherford, turn left on 10th, go east on 10th one block, and turn left on Main; then north on Main to 1st St., turning right on 1st and proceeding to the 500 block of 1st Street where the units will be dismissed.

The reviewing stand will be located at the Texas Hotel at 8th and Main Streets.

Brig. Gen. Niles O. Ohman, commanding officer of the 19th Air Division, will take the salute. He will be accompanied by his aide, Capt. N. F. Graham.

Also invited to be at the reviewing stand are Col. Joe E. Davis, commandant, and Col. C. E. Gregory, Professor of Air Sciences, and their wives; Dr. Sammie Ross, dean of women at TWU; and TWU President John A. Guinn and his wife.

To conclude the formal activities the big contest between the Texas Aggies and the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs will get under way in Amon Carter Stadium at 2 p.m.

Discuss United Fund

J. B. (Dick) Hervey, left, College Station United Chest Fund chairman, goes over the 1959 budget figures with Gibb Gilchrist, the 1958 chairman. The fund drive to raise a budget of $13,150 will be conducted in the College Station area Nov. 1-15. Fourteen agencies, most of which are local, are participating in this year's united effort.

United Chest Leaders Prep for Fund Drive

The College Station United Chest officers and drive chairmen are busy this week making plans for the annual chest fund drive to be conducted Nov. 1-15.

The 1959 chest budget is $13,150. J. B. (Dick) Hervey, general chairman of the College Station

United Chest, expressed his appreciation for the gratifying response being received by chest officials from the drive chairmen and their groups of solicitors.

The three drive chairmen are E. L. Angell, A&M College and System; H. E. Burgess, College

Station; and Irvin Lloyd, federal agencies. Each of the three have selected their drive committees and organization is expected to be completed this week.

The College Station United Chest combines fourteen drives into one effort, thus eliminating the necessity for many separate drives, Hervey explained.

The agencies participating in varying amounts in the 1959 drive are: College Station Community House; College Station Youth Facilities Council; the College Station YMCA; the College Station Recreation Council.

The Brazos Valley Crippled Children's Therapy Center; Brazos County Youth Counseling Service; Bryan-College Station Girl Scouts; Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation.

The American Red Cross; Texas United Fund; Boy Scouts of America; College Station Charity Fund; Salvation Army; and the Brazos County Hospital Fund.

"Everyone of these agencies is worthy of your support," Hervey stated. "Your Chest Committee has carefully gone over each agency's budget request and believes the total budget is fair and equitable."

Hervey went on to explain that this year's campaign slogan, "One Day's Pay... the United Way," does not mean a donor has to limit his contribution to that amount. The "one day's pay" idea serves as a guide only in answer to the question, "How much shall I give," he said.

Hervey concluded by saying that if any service group, civic organization or club in College Station desires more information about the United Chest prior to the drive dates, Nov. 1-15, that a meeting speaker could be provided by calling his office in the Memorial Student Center.

"We look forward to another successful drive," Hervey said.

At Consolidated High

Band Carnival Set Saturday

The annual A&M Consolidated High School Band Booster's Carnival, scheduled for Saturday on the Consolidated campus, promises fun for the whole family as well as financial assistance to the band itself.

Carnival funds will be used by the band to finance instruments, uniforms and other activities.

Activities begin with a supper in the school cafeteria at 5:30 p.m. Concessions, games and other activities begin at 6. The school band, under the direction of James Atkins, will present a concert.

The carnival will include a country store operated by Mrs. E. S. Holdridge, a spook house operated by John H. Southern, Ernest Tanager's snake house, games operated by the College Station Lions Club with C. E. Cosper in charge and a beauty bar operated by Mrs. Joseph H. Brusse.

Also included are three shows operated by James Baldauf, charcoal portraits sketched by Keith McCreary, and a fish pond operated by Dr. and Mrs. Dale F. Leipper and Mrs. James Atkins.

Mrs. P. H. Callahan is chairman of the foods committee, Dr. W. N. Williamson heads the publicity, I. P. Dulaney has charge of lighting, Dr. Charles LaMotte is in charge of the grounds and T. D. Ledbetter is chairman of the ticket sales committee.

Cadets Seek First Victory In SWC Play

By BOB WEEKLEY
Battalion Sports Editor

Early this afternoon the Aggies filed aboard their plane and departed for Fort Worth and their Saturday afternoon date with the TCU Horned Frogs, a frustrated eleven that hopes to make a Southwest Conference comeback at the expense of the Aggies.

The Frogs must win this game to maintain their opportunity to defend their championship or at least share in it. Already the Frogs have met the quick-hitting Arkansas Razorbacks and tasted defeat by a field goal. This is the Farmer's first venture into the conference race this season.

The contest will put the two leading ball carriers in the conference against each other, one a tried veteran and the other a sophomore. Jack Spikes, playing his last year for TCU's purple and white, leads the conference in rushing with 273 yards on 52 carries. A&M's Jesse McGuire is hot on his heels with 230 yards in 35 tries.

But jumping Jesse is labeled a doubtful starter by Aggie Coach Jim Myers. McGuire came out of the University of Houston game with an injured knee and has not responded well to treatment this week.

Ends Ralph Smith and Russell Hill are also on the disabled list for the Cadets, Smith has a hurt shoulder and Hill twisted his ankle in practice Wednesday. Both men might be ready in time for the game.

TCU Coach Abe Martin has his problems too in the injury department. He announced Wednesday afternoon that Jackie Sledge, a 6-1, 175-pounder, will start at quarterback for the Frogs Saturday in place of the ailing Larry Dawson.

Sledge, who played in his first game since 1957 last week when TCU beat Texas Tech, was moved ahead of the No. 2 quarterback Donald George.

The Frogs have three outstanding players in tackle Don Floyd, fullback Jack Spikes and halfback Marvin Lasater.

Floyd was one of the finest junior linemen in the nation last year and was named to the Look Magazine All-American team. He also made the NBC and Gridiron Record first teams and was a second unit choice of the Associated Press.

Lasater has been a first team halfback for three years for the Frogs. Spikes was a unanimous all-Conference selection last year and made many all-American honorable mentions.

The Aggies will counter the Horned Frogs great talent with Charley Milstead and Halfback Jon Few. Milstead has drawn repeated praise this season for his outstanding work at quarterback and his captaining of a team that has won three straight victories over inter-sectional foes.

Few has turned into one of the steadiest performers on the Aggie team, doing a great job on both offense and defense.

Game time at Fort Worth is 2 p.m.
