Purpose of the session is to bring together at all levels those interested in the promotion and success of the organization. It is being held in co-operation with JETS, Inc., of East Lansing, Mich.

The society is a pattern for high school extracurricula clubs to stimulate interest among junior and senior high school youths in engineering and science careers.

J. G. McGuire, assistant to the Dean of Engineering here and chairman of the conference committee, said registration for the parley is Dec. 18. The actual program starts at 9 a.m. the following day with a welcome address by Fred Benson, Dean of Engineering here.

Next are talks on national organization and objectives by Richard T. Fallon, executive director of JETS, Inc., and Dr. John D. Ryder, JETS president and Dean of Engineering at Michigan State University.

JETS organization and objectives on the state level will be described by McGuire; A. J. Druce, associate professor of electrical engineering at A&M; Jesse P. Morgan, assistant dean of engineering, New Mexico State University, and W. C. Gaddy, state chairman of the vocational guidance committee of the Louisiana Engineering Society.

Organization and objectives on the local level will be the subject of Waddell P. Williams of Marlin, Texas Highway Department engineer; Wesley C. Collier of Stephen F. Austin high school in Bryan, and Gordon McDugl, president of JETS at Connally High School in Waco.

In the afternoon, Dr. Lee Strom, research director of Texas Instruments, Inc., of Dallas, will talk on "Industry Views JETS." He will be followed by Col. Carlos R. Tosti of the United States Air Force Air Research and Development Command at Washington, D.C. Fallon will then conduct a "Conference Round-Up" to conclude the program.

The eight states to be represented at the meeting are Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona.

Diving Safety

Two students in the Self Contained Underwater Breathing Apparatus course practice the unique method of sharing air underwater from one tank. Pairs are able to stay under for the life of the oxygen supply by this system.

Tarleton Awarded At Press Meeting

Tarleton State College compiled 10 places in junior college newspaper contests to win the sweepstakes award at the seventh annual Texas Junior College Press Assn. convention here Nov. 15-17.

The convention ended Tuesday at noon with the election of officers for the coming year.

Elected were president, Ted Candler of San Antonio College; vice-president, Malcolm Perry of Le Tourneau Tech in Longview; secretary, Vicki Lewis of Henderson County; treasurer, Beverly Frost of Navarro; and parliamentarian, David Norred of San Angelo.

The association — representing 17 Texas colleges — welcomed Gainesville Junior College as a new member of the organization.

In the contests, first place in the editorial writing went to Larry Garrett of Tarleton, second to Dianne Bryant of Kilgore, third to Beverly Hanks of Paris and fourth to Larry Dorsett of Navarro.

First place in advertising copy and layout went to Lynn Halbarrier of San Angelo, second to William Morris of San Antonio, third to Neil McDonald of Odessa and fourth to Charles Bates of Tarleton.

Cartoon first place was awarded to Bob Chauncy of Odessa, second to James Wogstad of San Antonio, third to Tommy Mathys of Navarro and fourth to Alex Sanchez of San Angelo.

General column writing first place went to Judy Holladay of Tarleton, second to Floyd Bradley of Odessa, third to Lanny Parker of San Angelo and fourth to Jim George of Kilgore.

First place in feature writing was taken by Larry Garrett of Tarleton, second and fourth places by Annette Cash of Tarleton and third place to Polly McCullough of Tarleton.

Doran Williams of San Antonio College took first place in photography. Another SAC student, LeRoy Haws, took both second and third places and Alan Dart of San Angelo placed fourth.

Winner of the best sports story contest was Bill Ferguson of Tarleton, with Joe Lee Smith of Kilgore in second, Gary Barham of Tarleton in third and Gene Shelton of Amarillo fourth.

Jaynet Simpson of Amarillo won the news story contest, with DeLois Bell of Tarleton taking second and third places. Tommy Stuckey of Kilgore placed fourth. Sports column was won by Wayne Lee of Odessa, with Lynn Jones of Kilgore second, Joe Lee Smith of Kilgore third and Jim James of San Angelo fourth.

Front page makeup first place went to Amarillo College. In second place was Kilgore College, with San Antonio and San Angelo in a tie for third.

Featured speaker at the awards banquet Monday night was Ellie Hopkins, editor-in-chief of the Longview News-Journal. Eight other prominent Texas newsmen highlighted the three-day session with talks and discussions.

Mr. Earl Rudder, President
Texas A.&M. College
College Station, Texas

Dear Mr. Rudder:

We at Sears recognize the important role you folks out at the college have played in the success we have enjoyed since opening our retail store in Townshire Shopping Center.

To show our appreciation we have set Friday night, November 20th, as our Second AGGIELAND APPRECIATION NIGHT. We would like to take this opportunity to invite you, your staff, employees, students, and all their families to our store on this night from 6:00 to 8:30 p.m. During these hours, we will serve FREE hot dogs and cold drinks to everyone from Texas A.&M. College. On this night only we will offer free gift wrap on all of your purchases. Special low prices will prevail on Christmas items and other merchandise.

Many teachers and students already have an account at Sears but for those who do not we invite them to use this occasion to open one. There are several kinds of payment plans ranging from 30 days up to three years. To open an account just drop by our Credit Department or call us on the telephone.

We will be looking forward to seeing our many Texas A.&M. friends Friday night.

Yours truly
John T. Brayton, Manager
SEARS, ROEBUCK AND CO.
Bryan, Texas
