Also attending the conference are four members of the MSC staff. They are J. Wayne Stark, director; Charles Cosper, assistant director and business manager; W. D. (Pete) Hardesty, student organizations adviser; and Mrs. John H. Johnson Jr., student program adviser of the MSC.

Mattress Covers Available

Mattress covers are now available to all civilian students, Benjie A. Zinn, director of the Department of Student Affairs, announced yesterday.

Every civilian dormitory student is directed to report to the new B.&C.U. warehouse (opposite the College Station State Bank) and draw one mattress cover, Zinn said. The covers should be picked up from Dec. 7-11.

To obtain a cover the student must produce his identification card and sign a receipt for the cover.

After a student gets a mattress cover, should he leave the College by resignation, graduation, or when he leaves at the end of the semester, he is to return the cover to the warehouse and receive a receipt for it.

Should a student fail to return the mattress cover, he will be charged $4 for a replacement. The student will be assessed a charge to pay for repairs if his cover is damaged.

Busy Month Delays Twelfth Man Bowl

The Twelfth Man Bowl has been temporarily postponed for the fall semester according to an announcement from Ben Cook, chairman of the Student Senate Issues Committee.

Cook explained that an appropriate time could not be found during the exceptionally busy month of December therefore the postponement was inevitable.

The Issues Committee is working now on the date for next semester's bowl. No definite date has been set as of the present time.

Campus Chest Drive Scheduled Saturday

$7,000 Goal Set For Annual Event

By BOB SLOAN
Battalion Staff Writer

"A dollar for an Aggie, from an Aggie" is the theme for the 1959 A&M Campus Chest drive. If the goal were met—if every Aggie gave one dollar—the bank book would read almost $7,000.

In 1957, the first year of the Campus Chest, about $2,000 was collected.

Last year, 1958, donations amounted to only $1,822.

Forty per cent of the Aggie Campus Chest funds go to such worthy organizations as the World University Service, the College Station Community Chest, the Brazos County Tuberculosis Association, and the March of Dimes.

But the larger portion of the money goes directly back to the A&M student body. In fact, having available funds for sick or injured Aggies who are in dire need of financial aid is the primary objective of the Campus Chest, according to Marvin Schneider, Chairman of the Student Senate Welfare Committee and head of this year's drive.

Checks from the Aggie Chest have been sent to Aggies or their families several times in the past couple of years. In 1957 two checks for $250 each were sent to Don Connor, a freshman that year from Hale Center, Tex. Connor was injured in an automobile accident near Ft. Worth on Jan. 27, 1957.

Charles R. Hilland, Bellaire, received a check for $200 from the Aggie Campus Chest to help pay doctor and medical expenses incurred during a seige of glandular fever.

A $100 check was sent to the three-month-old son of Lt. Gerald Stull, '54, who crashed his F102A jet into a lake near Madison, Wis. to avoid hitting a highly populated area. Lt. Stull ejected himself from the plane, but he was too low for his chute to open. The money was to help in the boy's education.

Last year $300 was given to Dorlan Lee (Chick) Anderson on the death of his wife, Alice Jane. Lack of funds in the Chest account was the only reason more wasn't given. A special collection was taken in College View to help Anderson.

Donations from the Corps will be taken Saturday morning during commander's time. Each commanding officer will appoint a man to (See CAMPUS on Page 3)

When these employees drive to other campus area on business, they are to use the parking spaces marked for visitors Dean Hannigan said.

Another type parking system, effective the same date will cost the driver $1 and is for "fringe" parking on the outer areas of the campus.

Hannigan said that student parking, as in the past will be limited to the regular student lots. Travel to and from classes is not allowed. However, working student wives will be given special supplementary windshield stickers for parking near their place of employment.

The parking regulations are the result of the Texas Legislature passing a new law at its last session. The law prohibits state appropriated funds to be used for maintaining or expanding parking facilities on any state-operated college or university property.

BSU Sets Party For Foreign Ags

The Aggie Baptist Student Union will feature a ping pong party for all international students tomorrow night at 7 in the Baptist Student Union Building.

The party will follow a talk by Miss Eunice Parker of Austin who is serving as the Baptist Student director with the international students at Texas University. Miss Parker is also a member of the Missions Committee at the University Baptist Church in Austin.

She has served as president of the BSU while a student at Texas Woman's University and was also co-president of the Texas State BSU. Since her graduation from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in 1947, she has served as an associate in the State Department of Student Work in Dallas, and many other student affairs.

Next week Arthur Smith of the Baptist Bible Chair of A&M will present a survey of the Old Testament.

The Aggie BSU has set Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday of each week from 7 to 7:25 p.m. as their regular vesper services.

Fish Elections Under Way Today in MSC Corridor

The freshmen elections began this morning at 8 and will continue through 5 this afternoon at the voting machines in the corridor between the Fountain Room and the Bowling Alley in the MSC.

One-hundred-one freshmen have been successfully filed for the four class officers, four Student Senate and 5 Election Commission positions. One-hundred-six originally filed for posts but five of the class officer candidates were unable to meet the grade requirements. In each instance, confusion over the transferring of hours and grade points from Junction caused the mix-up. Other Student Senate positions being filled in the election are recording secretary and junior agriculture representative.

Norris Ray Gilbreath and Earl J. Wentworth, both sophomores, have filed for the recording secretary position. All classes are voting on this spot.

William R. Millsaps and Leo C. Rigsby have filed for the position of junior School of Agriculture representative. Only classified juniors in the School of Agriculture are being allowed to vote on this post.

The run-off in the freshmen class officer election will be held Dec. 15. There will be no other run-offs.

At Chicago Show

Meats Team Is Second in Nation

A&M's Department of Animal Husbandry produced the nation's Number 2 intercollegiate meats judging team Dec. 1 during the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago.

The team's high ranking was earned in competition with top talent from 24 other major agricultural schools in the United States. Last year, A&M's group was first in the contest.

Winning the event this year was a team from Oklahoma State University.

In taking second place, the A&M students scored 2,591 points out of a possible 3,000.

Team members were Henry Fitzhugh of San Antonio; Don Osbourn, Valley Spring; Leroy Keese, Bandera, and Joe Joyce of San Marcos. Frank Orts, instructor in animal husbandry, was team coach.

Fitzhugh was high point individual in the overall contest, piling up 884 points out of a possible

1,000. Joyce merited seventh place with 871 points.

A&M was first in beef grading and Osbourn was high point individual. The team was second in lamb grading, with Joyce getting high point honors. Other placings for the team were seventh place in pork judging and eighth in beef judging.

In addition to the Chicago contest the Aggies were number 2 at the American Royal Livestock Show at Kansas City in October, and number 2 at the Southwest Exposition and Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth last January.

Five A&M Profs To Attend Meet

Five professors from A&M's department of health and physical education will attend the annual meeting of the Texas Association of Health and Physical Education today through Saturday at the Windsor Hotel in Abilene.

Attending the convention will be Carl Landiss, Herman B. Segrest, Emil Mamaliga, Russ Wieder and W. M. Dowell.

Segrest is vice president of the state organization. Landiss is chairman of the research division and will preside over meetings of the group.

Mamaliga will present a paper entitled "The Place of a Weight Program in The High School and Athletic Programs."

Russ Wieder will see panel service in a discussion of administering a high school wrestling program.

The group expects to return to College Station Saturday night.

Veterans May Now Sign for Paychecks

All veterans attending school under the G. I. Bill should sign for November pay prior to Saturday noon, according to Bennie A. Zinn, director of the Department of Student Affairs.

Zinn urges veterans to sign before this deadline in order that they may receive their checks before Christmas. The Veterans Administration is attempting to deliver the checks Dec. 18, he explained. Those students who do not sign by Saturday will not receive their checks until after Christmas.

Dr. George Potter Honored Recently

Dr. George E. Potter, professor in the Department of Biology was honored at a recent appreciation dinner in the Memorial Student Center for his long service to science and medicine. Dr. Potter has been with the college for 20 years.

Colleagues and former students from throughout Texas were on hand for the appreciation dinner.

Highlights of the evening included a "This is Your Life" program illustrated by slides and narrated by Dr. C. C. Doak, head of the department, Dr. S. O. Brown and Dr. A. B. Medlen.

Dr. Potter's life was recounted from his boyhood days in Kansas through his teaching careers at the State University of Iowa and Baylor University. A 1927 newspaper clipping was shown in which he was called "that new evolutionary professor at Baylor University."

His career was then traced through his 20 years at A&M where about 500 physicians and dentists received their pre-professional training under his direction.

A book containing letters of appreciation from his former students was presented to Dr. Potter.

Among the former students sending letters were Col. John Paul Stapp, director of space medicine research for the Air Force, who has been called "the fastest man on earth" for his work on rocket sleds; Dr. Bentley Glass, professor at Johns Hopkins University, former president of the American Institute of Biological Sciences and now a member of the National Science Foundation Advisory Board; Dr. Titus Evans, a leading radiobiologist and editor of Radiation Research; Dr. Teague Self, former head of the Zoology Department, Oklahoma State University and Dr. Albert Winchester, head of the Biology Department at Stetson University, Deland, Fla., and author of several textbooks in the field of biology.
