Required Physical Education Tests Completed Wednesday

Required physical education tests for students enrolled in required physical education were completed yesterday, Herman B. Segrest, head of the Department of Required Physical Education said today.

The "Aggie" test, familiar to many freshmen, consists of three basic items, overhand pull-ups, sit-ups, and a 30-yd. shuttle run, Segrest explained. Norms will be established as soon as the results are tabulated.

Any student falling below average in two or more of the requirements will be recommended to take a conditioning course in the Spring.

Students in required physical education were given a sheet with 25 basic conditioning exercises at the start of the semester so they could get in shape before the test, said Segrest.

Segrest explained in the event a student now enrolled in the last semester of required physical education should fail a test, he may take it over sometime before the end of the semester.

"We hope to have the results tabulated within the next two weeks," Segrest said. "We will then be able to see just what activities are contributing most to keeping students in the best physical condition."

To Advisory Council

Bankers Reappoint Dr. Tyrus R. Timm

Dr. Tyrus Timm, head of the Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology, has been re-appointed to the advisory council of the Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Assn. for 1960.

Making the appointment was John W. Remington, association president and also president of the Lincoln Rochester Trust Co. at Rochester, N. Y.

The American Bankers Assn. Agricultural Commission is composed of 12 bankers, and the advisory council of five men from land-grant colleges.

Purpose of the commission is to study important trends, problems and opportunities in the field of farm and ranch credit and to assist the 15,000 commercial banks in improving their services to the agricultural industry.

The advisory council meets with commission members about twice a year and is called upon for advice about credit policies and procedures.

In addition to Timm, the other members will be Dr. Van B. Hart, Cornell University; Dr. O. B. Jessness, University of Minnesota; Dr. Aubrey Brown, University of Kentucky; and Dr. G. B. Wood of Oregon State College.

Ag Extension Hosts Visiting Delegates Here

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service hosted to co-operative extension service delegates who visited here Dec. 3-10 in connection with a project in public affairs and leadership development for public responsibilities.

Larry L. Burlison, organization specialist with the Texas Extension Service, said the project, is jointly sponsored by the Fund for Adult Education and the co-operative extension services of Texas, Arizona, Illinois, Michigan, Montana and Pennsylvania.

In each of the six states, two counties have been designated as pilot counties, he said. Extension agents, known as "Program Consultants", have been assigned to the counties to conduct the program.

Kaufman and San Patricio are the pilot counties in Texas and the program consultants are O. B. Clifton and Dr. Edward F. Schlutt, respectively. Burlison is Texas program leader.

While in Texas, the 12 program consultants, along with the national co-ordinator, Dr. Frank Suggitt, and the national program consultant, Dr. Joseph L. Matthews, traveled to both of the pilot counties and visited the A&M campus.
