

Annett Sinks Two

Junior Wayne Annett goes high into the air Friday night in White coliseum to score two points for the Aggies against the Midwestern Indians. The Farmers won, 70-43. Carroll Broussard (24) and Don Stanley (44) move in for A&M while Al Lee contests Annett for the shot and Bob Myers moves in to help Lee.

Lawrence, Broussard Top Aggie Statistics

The A&M basketball team, undefeated in four inter-sectional games, get a chance to sit back and rest on their laurels this week before they pack their bags and move to Houston Thursday night where they have a date with a revenge-minded University of Houston five.

Coach Bob Rogers' boys have showed the Southwest Conference that a goal saved is a goal unmade, holding their bevy of four opponents to a meager 44 points per game average. On the other hand, the Aggies have been anything but the genial host, scoring an average of 80 points per game . . . which makes an average of 36 points per game difference between them and their foes.

The Aggies haven't been stingy with each other, either, in shooting opportunities. Carroll Broussard is the top gunner on the team, but there's only 25 points separating him from the eighth ranked man on the team.

Broussard, the talented sophomore with a knack for everything in the way of basketball, is averaging 13.2 points per game and shooting at a .442 clip from the floor. He's also second in total rebounds with 36. Free throws doesn't seem to be his specialty, though since he's ranked fifth in accuracy on the team with a .625 percentage from the circle.

Lanky Wayne Lawrence, the 6-7 senior who was picked on Time Magazine's All-Sectional team, is the leading rebounder with 38 to his credit. Lawrence is third in scoring with a 10.2 average and a shooting percentage of .405.

Kelly Chapman, who earned his first starting assignment of the year Friday night against Midwestern, is second in scoring with a 12.2 average and a .471 shooting percentage. Chapman has 27 rebounds and is third in that department.

Elliot Craig, one of the top eight men on the team, is the most accurate shooter on the squad, batting an even .647 from the floor and a .1000 percentage from the free throw line. Craig has a total of 28 points in four outings.

Broussard holds the individual record of most points per game this season, 17 against Midwestern, while Lawrence is to top rebounder for any one game, with 14 against the University of Houston.

Houston will be the last team the Aggies will meet before they move to Houston and the Southwest Conference pre-season tournament scheduled for Dec. 28-30. The tournament will be the first time the teams will have a chance to get together and compare notes.

The Aggies were winners of the SWC Tournament last year, their first in the history of the school, and are rated as co-favorites to win the event again this year along with SMU and Arkansas.

No real action should be seen until the second round when the winner of the SMU-Texas Tech game meets the winner of the Arkansas-Baylor game in the second round action. SMU and Arkansas should be the two teams tangling.

The Farmers aren't expected to have too tough a time getting to the finals, meeting weak TCU in the first game and the winner of the Rice-Texas game in the second. It has been a tradition in the conference, in years gone past, that the winner of the tourney was automatically jinxed as far as pennant hopes are concerned.

The Aggies won the tourney last year, but finished in a tie for fifth in the conference race. They have hopes of winning both and bursting the jinx this year.

Wayne Lawrence

Lawrence, recently selected on Time Magazine's All-Sectional team, is the Aggies leading rebounder with 38 to his credit and third in scoring with an average of 10.2 points per game.

Ags Dump Indians, 70-43, Friday Night

Carroll Broussard dunked 17 straight points before the final horn sounded.

A&M finished the game shooting 42.5 per cent from the floor while holding the Indians to 35.1 per cent of their field goal tries. The Aggies out-rebounded Midwestern, 54-41.

The Aggies had a tough time in getting going against the Redskins, and didn't begin to pull away from their opponents until late in the first period.

Midwestern had only one chance to lead the Aggies, and that was at the start of the game when Bob Myers tied the score up for Midwestern at two-all, and then missed a free throw on a foul by Kelly Chapman.

The largest margin the Farmers could pile up in the first half was a 12 point lead with less than one minute remaining in the game.

In the first half the Aggies hit 41.7 of their field goal attempts with Broussard and Wayne Lawrence leading the scoring with six points apiece. Midwestern hit 38.8 per cent of their shots and Don Shelton was their leading scorer with five points.

The Aggies roared back in the second half and scored 14 points before Midwestern could score a point. Lawrence scored six of those points and Broussard seven.

Elliott Craig was the big gun for the Aggies in the fading moments of the game, scoring six

INTRAMURALS

Friday's intramurals were somewhat slacker than usual with two events in class A and one event in class B.

In class A football Puryear beat Hart, Bizzell won over on a forfeit, Co. H-1 beat Co. A-1 on penetrations and Sq. 10 topped Co. B-2.

Winners in class A horseshoes were Co. E-2 over Co. F-2, Co. G-1 over Sq. 14 and Sq. 11 topped Sq. 3.

Class B handball found Co. B-1 winner over Sq. 3, Sq. 14 over Co. E-1, Sq. 9 over White and Co. D-1 over Sq. 5.

Yesterday's action was quite a bit faster with a host of games being played in all three classes.

Five contests were played in class A football with the Air Force's teams taking three of them. Sq. 3 took Co. C-2 on penetrations in a close contest. Co. E-1 scored an 8-6 win over Co. F-2; Sq. 15 held a 14-0 margin over Co. F-1; Co. H-2 rapped Co. A-2, 22-0 and Sq. 1 took an 8-0 beating from Sq. 12.

Class A-C horseshoes was full of forfeits with only one game actually being played. Sq. 15 beat Co. E-1 in the lone contest. Co. G-1 won on a forfeit and in the class C division College View and Puryear won on forfeits.

Only two games were played in class B basketball as Sq. 3 topped Co. H-2 and Sq. 15 beat Co. A-1.

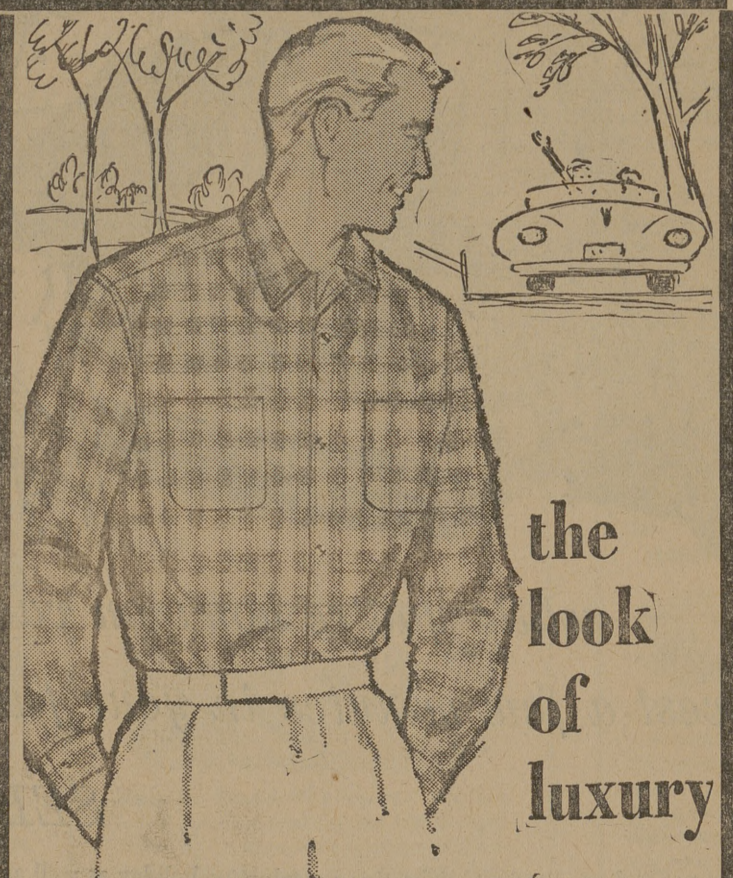

Winners in class B handball were Sq. 12 over Co. F-2, Co. F-1 over Sq. 1 and Co. H-2 over Co. I-2.

Today's schedule shows basketball, handball and bowling in class B.

In the A division contests in football, horseshoes and ping pong are on the agenda.

The standings in class A have been unofficially totaled in swimming, rodeo, basketball, bowling and handball. Sq. 1 leads the pack with 305 points. Sq. 8 and Co. A-1 are knotted at 290 points for the runner-up honors. The rest of the top ten is made up of Co. B-2 with 285 points; Sq. 4 with 280 points; Co. F-1 with 275 points and Co. B-1 tied with Sq. 11 with 270 points.

Unofficial class B standings take in swimming, rodeo, football, horseshoes, ping pong, cross country, basketball, bowling and handball. Sq. 11 is holding down the number one spot with 446 points followed by Sq. 10 with 390, Sq. 1 with 377½, Co. G-2 with 376 and Sq. 12 tied with Co. E-2 with 270.
