Hotard's Cafeteria Where the Art of Cooking Is Not Lost

Will he be in capable hands? Let's hope so. Let's hope this bright-eyed youngster (and millions like him) will be taught by men and women who have the brains and the will to do a first-rate job. Let's hope he'll be taught by people who put their hearts as well as their minds into their work. Let's hope, above all, that he'll be trained to make the most of his God-given talents.

WHEN HE'S READY FOR COLLEGE

very survival now as a nation depends on the use we make of our latent brainpower. We must act before it is too late. Won't you help? Support the college of your choice—your own alma mater, the college near you, or the college sponsored by your church. Get to know it. Find out about the job it is doing, about its plans, its problems and its needs. Give it strong moral support. Give it financial support, too, so that it can expand its facilities and pay good teachers a fair, competitive wage. And, perhaps most important of all, encourage intelligent young people to consider college teaching as a career. Do as many of these things as soon as you can. The rewards will be greater than you think.

It's important for you to know more about what the impending college crisis means to you. Write for a free booklet to: HIGHER EDUCATION, Box 36, Times Square Station, New York 36, N. Y.
