

Aggies Jolt Longhorns, 72-61; Journey Against Rice Tonight

Carroll Broussard, the French gunner from Port Arthur, proved that you can't keep a good man down Friday night as he racked up 29 points to lead his Aggies to a 72-61 victory over Texas before 8,500 fans.

It was a repeat performance for the Aggies and Broussard, with the talented sophomore scoring 29 points once before against the Longhorns in A&M's 84-74 victory in the Southwest Conference Tournament.

The win sent A&M into a four way tie for first in the league, along with Texas, SMU and Arkansas. It was Texas' first conference loss and their fourth of the season, two of them to the Aggies.

Tonight the Farmers journey down Houston way to tangle with the luckless Rice Owls, who have yet to post a conference win, and only three over regular season play. Rice gave Texas a bad scare in their conference game, being downed by only 2 points in the final seconds of the game.

Broussard's 29 point performance sent him into second place in conference scoring, with a 17.2 per game average, and 28 behind leader Clyde Rhoden of Arkansas who is averaging 24.2 points per game. Broussard had scored only 4 points against SMU last Monday.

Rice has a top scorer in Senior David Craig, who is fourth in the conference in season scoring with a total of 236 points, an 18.1 point per game average.

Sophomore Mike Maroney is making a scoring splash in the conference for Rice, averaging a little more than 13 points per game. Maroney is a 6-7 cager from Austin, and holds down the center slot.

Texas only managed to lead the Aggies twice in their Friday night game, and both came within the first two minutes of the game. Jay Arnette made the first point in the contest, a free throw to give Texas a 1-0 lead, and seconds later Donnie Lassiter hit a jump shot for a 3-2 lead.

Broussard and Kelly Chapman teamed up then for a quick 17 point burst that gave the Aggies a nine point lead, and they coasted into the halftime with a 35-32 margin. Broussard finished the first period with 17 points.

A&M was cool from the floor in that first half, hitting 10 of 31 shots for a 32.3 shooting percentage while the Steers were hitting 14 of 24 for a 58.3 percentage, but Aggie free throws were the difference.

The Ags jumped into a 10 point lead early in the second period, and at one time held a 13 point margin before Texas could close the gap. The Ags hit 57.1 per cent of their shots in the second half.

Chapman was runnerup in the A&M scoring column with 11 points, trailed by Wayne Annett with 10. Pat Stanley, guarding the high scoring Arnette, netted 4 points but held Arnette to 12 and eventually caused him to foul out.

A Mass of Groping Fingers

The Stanley Twins, Pat and Don, appear to be almost Siamese twins as they try to bring down the roundball. Giving some as-

Dodgers Give Moon $8,000 Pay Boost

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Outfielder Wally Moon, whose timely hitting and all-around play sparked the Los Angeles Dodgers to the National League pennant last year, is getting an $8,000 pay increase. General Manager Buzzie Bavasi Monday signed Moon to a 1960 contract that is understood to call for $30,000. Moon last year batted .302, hit 19 homers and drove in 74 runs.

Steer Coach Lauds Ag Fans

Coach Harold Bradley of University praised the treatment his basketball team received at Texas A&M Friday night and said he thought the capacity crowd of 8,500 "reacted in a wholesome well-behaved way."

"I heard about the bad things that would happen at your place," Bradley wrote Coach Jim Myers, "and I imagine in the past these things did come to pass."

But Bradley went on to say that he and the Longhorn basketball team were well treated on their trip to A&M Friday. I gers, who received a copy of Bradley's letter, said he wanted to take this occasion to thank the fans for their "support and behavior" at Aggie games.

"We think it is a good thing when fans can appreciate a good athlete or a good play regardless of the team he's on," Rogers said.

Rogers pointed out a spectacular play made by SMU's Max Williams last Tuesday night which the Cadet Corps cheered.

"There is one thing I would like to suggest further," Rogers said. "We should be able to hear a pin drop in the coliseum when either team is shooting free throws."

"We still want our fans to holler as loud as ever during the game but remain quiet when a player is shooting free ones," he added.

If we could say a prayer with pictures...

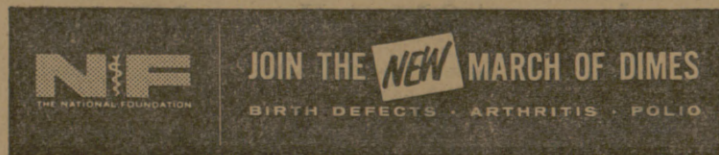

no words could say our prayer as well as the small face of two-year-old Mary Beth Pyron.

This lovely child - shown here with her mother - was born with a crippling defect of the spine. She is one of the 250,000 American babies born each year with congenital malformations. Think of it! - one out of every 16 American babies!

Through the March of Dimes, you helped science find the way to stop crippling by polio.

Now the NEW March of Dimes will help science find the way to stop crippling birth defects - the tragedy no one has wanted to face!

By giving to the NEW March of Dimes you can help save America's children from birth defects, just as they are being saved today from crippling by polio.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

Mark C. Dollard (center) discusses an impending customer service problem with two of his supervisors.

There's a message for you in Mark Dollard's progress story

Mark C. Dollard earned his B.A. degree in English from Yale University in June, 1955. He joined the New York Telephone Company the following July 18th. Three and a half years later, he became a District Manager for the company in New York City—with a staff of 37 people reporting to him and responsibility for 49,000 customer accounts.

Mark's choice of a telephone career came after numerous job interviews in a variety of business fields. "What sold me," he says, "was the telephone company's reputation for solid managerial training, stability and growth. And I was impressed by the high caliber of people I met during my visit to the company."

And those are the things to which Mark credits his rapid advancement. His training during his first two years covered a wide range of activities... including the handling of customer contacts in the business office, selling communications services to businessmen and supervising a business office.

"It was the company's vigorous growth that created the opportunity for me to become District Manager in January, 1959," Mark points out.

"What I like most about my present position is the variety of managerial responsibilities I have," he says. "It's interesting, stimulating work. I deal with sales and marketing programs, handle personnel problems and make a lot of public relations contacts."
