Aviators to Study Distribution Types

Agricultural chemicals, airplanes and chemical distributing systems will be emphasized at the ninth annual Texas Agricultural Aviation Conference and Short Course on Pest Control Feb. 21-23 here.

Wayne G. McCully, associate professor in the A&M Department of Range and Forestry and conference chairman, said the program this year will feature demonstrations of mixing and loading techniques, agricultural airplanes and dispersing equipment.

McCully said ground transportation from Easterwood Airport near College Station will be available for those persons who fly to the meeting.

Conference sponsors are the A&M College System, Texas Aeronautics Commission, Texas Aerial Applicators Assn. and the Texas Flying Farmers and Ranchers Assn.

The Presbyterian Church in Montreal, Canada, has Sunday evening services for motorists at a shopping center. It is called "Drive-In" sermons.

National Champs

The trophies won by the A&M judging team at the various meets this year are on display in the promenade of the MSC. The groups have won several places in national competition.

Texas To Play Large Part In Civil War Centennial

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Texas will play a considerable part in the many Civil War Centennial commemorations planned throughout the nation in 1961 and 1965.

In naming a Texas Civil War Centennial Commission recently, Gov. Price Daniel noted that 58 military battles and events took place in Texas during the Civil War.

Daniel named the 18 members of the State Historical Survey Committee and 15 members at large to make up the Centennial commission. Walter Long, Austin, was made state chairman, and George W. Hill executive director of the State Historical Committee, was made director of the commission.

Hill said Historical Survey Committees in 220 counties will work on the Confederate commemorations in cooperation with the Daughters of the Confederacy and other Confederate groups, including the Children of the Confederacy, Sons of Confederate Veterans, and Civil War Round Tables.

The Daughters of the Confederacy plan annual observances beginning in 1961 and continuing

U.S. Opens Door To China For Disarmament Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is holding the door open for Red China to participate in a global disarmament program — if negotiations ever reach that point.

Officials acknowledge that inspection stations on Red Chinese territory would be essential to make any arms control plans effective. This need, in turn, could some day force this country to take a new look at its policy of nonrecognition of Communist China.

Unofficial Negotiations

This country has negotiated informally with Red China on other matters without recognizing the Communist regime, and officials said their present stand has no bearing on recognition. But the issue could be raised either by the Red Chinese or on their behalf by the Soviets in connection with working out any disarmament agreement. Recognition might be presented as the price of Red China's participation.

Capitols Make Statements

The link between Red China and disarmament was brought to the fore Thursday by statements in Peiping and Washington.

In the Chinese capital, Foreign Minister Chen Yi declared that his country would not be bound by any disarmament agreement reached without its formal participation or without the signature of its delegates.

In Washington State Department Press Officer Lincoln White said that if substantial progress is made toward controlled disarmament during the forthcoming negotiations at Geneva "then it would be logical to consider participation in such a disarmament program by other countries including Red China."

Geneva Talks Reopen

Negotiations reopen in Geneva March 15. Ten nations will take part—five Allies and five Communist countries. They include the Big Four—the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union—but Red China is not among them.

COOLER, STILL

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—George Dexter petitioned district court to annul his "marriage" to a girl named Rose. Dexter, a bachelor, said in 1919 he and Rose filled out an application for a marriage license. However, he didn't have the cash and he returned to his Army camp. Then Rose's love cooled and the marriage was called off.

Already under way at Geneva are negotiations among the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union looking toward a ban on the testing of atomic weapons. Such a ban, assuming it included underground tests, would have to be supervised by worldwide network of stations equipped to detect sneak explosions of atomic weapons.

Experts have decided that at least 180 stations would be required just to police an agreement to prohibit atomic test explosions. Of the total possibly a score would have to be set up on Red Chinese territory to make the prohibition effective.

Thus, if the nuclear talks are successful, the issue of Red China's participation might arise well in advance of any more extensive agreement concerned with arms reduction and control. In that event, officials said, the same policy would apply as far as the United States is concerned. That is, as some advanced point Red China would be invited to adhere to the agreement.

Officials said the Red Chinese issue would not necessarily arise if the Geneva negotiations produced only a partial ban on test explosions above ground or in the water. Such blasts of atomic devices create widespread radioactivity which could be detected with relatively few stations, even in the interior of Communist China.

Will We Run Out Of College Teachers?

Possibly not. Chances are, there will always be someone around to fill classroom vacancies. But, unless drastic improvements are made in faculty salary scales, quality is bound to drop.

How can it be otherwise?

As one young Ph.D. sums it up, "We want to teach and we want to do basic research. But industry offers us twice the salary we can get as teachers. We talk it over with our wives, but it's pretty hard to turn down $10,000 to work for less than half that amount."

Would you?

Small wonder, then, that more and more qualified teachers, dedicated but discouraged, are leaving the campus each year for better paying jobs in business and industry. And, in the face of this alarming trend, college applications are expected to double within ten years.

Just where will the teachers come from?

According to a report of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, "This great flood of youngsters will be taught—taught well or badly. And the demand for teachers will somehow be at least partly met—if not with well-prepared teachers then with ill-prepared, if not with superior teachers then with inferior ones."

Not a very rosy picture, is it?

As a nation whose destiny depends on the maximum development of our human resources, we must put a stop to this nonsense. You can and must help. Support the college of your choice so that it can pay fair, competitive salaries to its teachers. Then encourage talented young people to pursue teaching careers.
