

Ag Communications Meet Set Friday in MSC Ballroom

The second annual Agricultural Communications Conference, featuring outstanding farm and ranch reporters, will be held Feb. 12 in the Memorial Student Center.

The session is presented each year by the A&M Department of Journalism and College Information and Publications Department in co-operation with the School of Agriculture, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

First speaker on the program, which starts at 9 a. m., is L. O. Tiedt, assistant radio farm director of KTRH in Houston. Tiedt will discuss radio agricultural communications.

Charlie Rankin, radio and television farm director of Station KRGV at Weslaco, will bring in aspects of farm coverage in the television field. Next speaker will be Bill Durham, farm editor of the Houston Post, who will outline agricultural reporting methods on a large daily metropolitan newspaper.

In the afternoon, agricultural communications in the trade publications is the subject of H. Lee Schwanz of Massey - Ferguson Profit Magazine at Milwaukee, Wis. He will be followed by Henry Biederman of Fort Worth, editor of The Cattleman magazine, who will talk on livestock news coverage.

Writing for a large farm magazine will be outlined by Ed Wilborn of Dallas, associate editor of the Progressive Farmer. The next speaker is Joe Dan Boyd of Washington, D. C., associate editor of the National Future Farmers of America magazine, who will give pointers on communicating with farm youth.

The final speaker will be Jack Sloan of College Station, photo and visual aids specialist with the Extension Service.

C. G. Scruggs of Dallas, associate editor of the Progressive Farmer, is master of ceremonies of the meeting.

Ag-Ex Named Grand Master

John T. Bean of El Paso was recently installed Grand Master of the Masonic Lodge of Texas. For anyone to reach this high fraternal post is a signal honor—but for John Bean it was more.

Bean could look back to his college career at A&M—as far back as 1931, when he received his bachelor's degree in agriculture—or back to 1941 when he received his master's degree in agricultural education.

At A&M he worked as an assistant herdsman at the horse barns to earn his way through college.

Bean was a member of the Livestock Judging Team, the Saddle and Sirlon Club and the A&M Debating Teams of 1932-1935.

He had come to A&M from the Masonic Home and School which he entered in 1920 at the age of six. His father, James B. Bean, was a Texas ranger and United States mounted customs inspector. His mother was Isabel McGovern Bean, prominent church and civic worker at Esperanza, Texas.

While in the A&M Corps of Cadets he was assigned to Company H, Infantry, commanded by President Earl Rudder.

Today, Bean serves his fellow Astronomers once thought there were oceans on the moon. Now they know, says the National Geographic Society, that there are none.

man as superintendent of schools, El Paso county, while also engaging in farming and ranching in El Paso, Hudspeth and Culberson counties.

Bean's career between graduation from A&M and his present positions of honor and responsibilities is as interesting as it is varied.

He served as vocational agriculture teacher in Whitewright, Sherman, El Paso, Ysleta and Bowie (El Paso) high schools. He was elected El Paso county superintendent in 1951.

The top Texas Mason is past director of the following organizations: Marfa Production Credit Assn., Esperanza Co-op Gin Assn., Buford Cooperative Gin and Southwestern Irrigated Cotton Growers Assn.

Bean is a member of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Assn., New Mexico Cattle Growers Assn., El Paso Valley Cotton Growers Assn., Trans-Pecos and the Texas State Teachers' Assn., Ysleta Lions Club and the First Presbyterian Church of El Paso.

This Texas Aggie was twice elected president of the El Paso A&M Club.

In the Masonic Order Bean's record of membership and achievements begins in 1935 and includes almost all the honors which the lodge can bestow. He holds membership in most of the higher Masonic Orders.

Bean, who lays no claim to being related to Judge Roy Bean of "Law West of the Pecos" fame, has a brother, Woodrow Bean who is El Paso county judge. Another brother, J. B., is a Hudspeth county rancher and farmer. Mrs. Elizabeth Cowan, a sister, is a member of the school board at Sierra Blanca, Tex.

Bean and wife, Mabel Mantoosh

Bean, formerly of McKinney, have one daughter, Annabelle, who is a student at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School in Dallas.

It has been a spectacular career which saw Bean come from the Masonic Orphans' Home to go on to work his way through A&M and then rise to his present position of leadership in Texas.

Warden School Under Way Here

The annual Game Warden School, boasting the largest class in its 12-year history, is now under way at A & M.

John R. Brown of Brownwood, a captain in the Texas Game and Fish Commission, said 35 men have been signed up for the four-month-long course. In past years, the usual number has been about 20 students.

The students are employees of the Game and Fish commission and will receive certificates as qualified game wardens when the course is completed. Courses are being taught in the A&M Department of Wildlife Management.

Brown and Frank Etheredge, coordinator of the Houston office of the commission, are in charge of the school and also are instructors.

He said general age levels of the group range from young single men and young married men on up to one grandfather.

Class members are Bobby Barnes and William D. Howell of Odessa; Hardin Bradley, Mason; C. C. Becker, Texas City; Sammy Brown, Denison; Edwin Lee Brown, San Saba; William H. Burch, Rockdale; Carl Carter, Mobeetie; Donald J. Caudle, Fort Worth; Walter Carpenter, Ozona, and James Dowell of Electra.

Also, Billy W. Daniel, Beaumont; Billy J. Drehr, Cuero; Walter Garland, Angleton; David B. Hancock, Graham; Michael Hutchison, Sweetwater; Curtis Jenkins and Carl Webb, Port Lavaca; Billy Lindeman, Edna; James K. Maynard, San Angelo; William S. McDonough, Matador, and Bibby Moses of Coldspring.

Others are Randy Osburn, Houston; George D. Passmore, Port Isabel; Richard Pinckney, Buchanan Dam; Harold Robinson, Groveton; Gene Cary Samford, Hemphill; Donald Sewell, San Antonio; Clifton Shafer, Bishop; Wilbur Smith, Marble Falls; King Taylor, Burkeville; Cliff Wilson, Fort Stockton; Billy Joe Works, Eldorado; Allen Woolley, Crockett, and Roy J. Holstein of Floresville.
