Spring Practice Opens; Hustle Pleases Myers

The Aggie football staff was greeted by 83 eager charges Tuesday afternoon as they opened spring drills for 1960.

From the 83 candidates 12 were lettermen on last year's squad. In addition to last year's lettermen was Jon Few, who dropped from the squad last season, and Don McClelland, a letterman on the 1956-57 squad, returned to complete their eligibility.

At the first practice Coach Jim Myers again stressed the Cadets' weakness at the quarterback position. Tuesday, Powell Berry and Daryl Keeling were working at the one-two quarterback slot under the direction of Billy Wade, professional from the Los Angeles Rams.

In regard to the interior line prospects Myers stated that the complete line would have to be rebuilt. This problem was one of the major ones that faced the Farmers last spring.

The only position change was the switching of Jack Estes from end to halfback.

Myers is going to depend largely on the freshmen who will move up to the Varsity next year.

Keith Huggins, George Hogan and James Walton are the top freshman candidates for interior line spots.

Huggins is a 249 pounder and plays the guard position. Hogan and Walton are tackles and weigh in at 220 plus.

The top freshman backfield prospects are Ronnie Brice at quarterback and Lee Roy Caffey, fullback; Ronnie Ledbetter and Jon Mason at halfbacks.

Before the season Myers said the Aggies will continue to be a multiple offense team, but spring drills are being devoted to the T rather than the single wing.

As the Ags went through a relatively light workout with no injuries, Myers said the boys looked snappy and the spirit was high.

The Aggies plan to work out 18 days with intersquad games on March 5 and 12.

Dallas Gets Share Of Football Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS (AP)—The die is cast and Dallas will have so much football next season the fans may have to see the games in relays.

There will be two professional teams—the Dallas Texans of the American Football League and the Dallas Rangers of the National Football League. They will take up all the Sundays in the Cotton Bowl from September until December.

Southern Methodist University will play its home games in the Cotton Bowl on Saturdays.

New Football League

The American Football League, organized by Lamar Hunt, the wealthy young oil man of Dallas, will be making its start next season. The National Football League has been operating some 40 years but it has had a club in Texas only once—in 1952 when Dallas lasted only half a season before giving up the franchise.

When the NFL put a club in Dallas last weekend the AFL hollered sabotage and an attempt to monopolize professional football. But there are strong indications that it will get nowhere, although it is quite difficult to predict what a court will do.

Strong Backing for Both Clubs

The best bet is that there will be two professional teams in Dallas next fall, each trying to get enough of the entertainment dollar to make it worthwhile. Each of the clubs is backed by millions of dollars and can stay indefinitely but it is doubtful that they will if they run into a losing proposition.

There is no such thing as sentiment in sports. Because the fans may favor this or that club won't materially affect the attendance—the fan usually goes out to see the winning team. Now, which of the Dallas pro teams will be a winner?

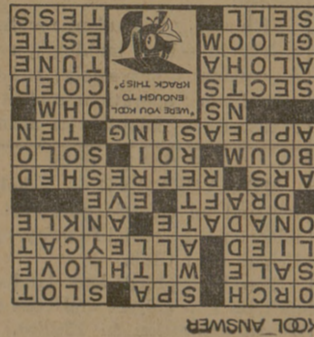

Ag's No. 2 Keglers To Match Brenham

The Aggies' No. 2 bowling team will engage Blinn College of Brenham in a match on Feb. 23.

The match will mark the first meeting of the two teams this year and will be the first match for the Cadet seconds.

Blinn will return the match by a visit to Aggieland sometime in March.

Members are Ronny Hogan, John Pociña, Parks Mahaney, Roger Bose and Jerry Reynolds, captain.

SWC Maps Schedule

The Southwest Conference football schedule for 1960 has been mapped and it's one of the strongest intersectional that has been arranged to date.

Mississippi, Louisiana State, Georgia Tech, Ohio State and Oklahoma feature the card and only Syracuse is needed to make it tops in the nation.

Michigan State, Clemson and Duke are missing for change but Wyoming has been added.

Last year the conference had a 14-11-1 record in inter-sectional football but didn't register victories against top teams like Louisiana State, Mississippi and Clemson. The best it could do was whip Oklahoma and Georgia Tech.

Southern Methodist has the toughest intersectional schedule, playing Ohio State, Missouri and Navy. Texas meets Nebraska, Maryland and Oklahoma, dropping California. A&M plays only Louisiana State, Arkansas meet Oklahoma State, Tulsa and Mississippi. Baylor takes on Colorado, Louisiana State and Southern California. Rice has Georgia Tech, Tulane and Florida. Texas Christian meet Kansas, Southern California and Pittsburg.

Texas Tech, which makes its start in championship play meets only Wyoming and Tulane in the intersectional schedule.

Texas' Minor Leagues Decrease

Texas will have only nine professional baseball club this year and it's the lowest the state ever sunk in minor league ball.

Last year there were 13 but four have been dropped. In one case two clubs have been combined—Dallas and Fort Worth will operate jointly in the American Association.

Texas had five clubs—Odessa, San Antonio, Midland, Plainview and Alpine—in the Sophomore League last year. This year there will be only Odessa and Alpine.

Last season Dallas, Fort Worth and Houston were in the American Association. This year it will be Dallas-Fort Worth and Houston.

The Texas League is the only circuit that failed to lose a member. One franchise was transferred—Corpus Christi went to Harlingen—but there still will be five clubs. The are Victoria, Austin, Amarillo, San Antonio and Harlingen.
