Conversion To Start on Medical Ship

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Conversion of the mothballed Navy hospital ship Consolation into a floating medical center for a unique type of health service in Southeast Asia and elsewhere is finally about to get under way.

"Project Hope" will cost around $2 million for modification of the white-hulled, 15,000-ton vessel, and the first year of operation in Asian waters will run about 3 1/2 million dollars more.

The Consolation, laid-up in San Francisco Bay Naval Yards since her return from 20 months of war service during the Korean conflict, will be renamed the Hope — taken from the initials of the project's concept of "Health Opportunity for People Everywhere."

"Project Hope" is sponsored by Handel, composer of "The Messiah," wrote this best-known oratorio in only 24 days. Reason: he was bankrupt and needed money in a hurry.

the People-to-People Health Foundation—a private program initiated at suggestion of President Eisenhower to promote world peace through increased understanding between peoples.

The Hope will be staffed with both fulltime and rotating medical personnel. She will have a permanent staff of 15 physicians, two dentists, 20 nurses and 20 auxiliary personnel.

A rotating group of 35 physicians will be flown to the ship periodically for four-month tours of duty and a virtual post graduate training course.

The Hope's first port of call will be Jakarta, Indonesia. Other countries that have invited her to call include Viet-Nam, Korea, Pakistan, Okinawa and Morocco.

The approximately $2 million conversion job will be paid for by the government but funds for the Hope's operation overseas are being raised through a national campaign.
