

Full Docket On Tab For Military Weekend

THE BATTALION

Plans for Various Events Completed

By TOMMY HOLBEIN
Battalion Staff Writer

Plans have been completed for the annual Spring Military Day Weekend, with scheduled events including the ninth annual Intercollegiate Talent Show, the Combat Ball, Cafe Rue Pinalle and the Military Ball.

ITS will feature 10 acts selected from more than 150 acts auditioned at 18 colleges and universities in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi. Master of ceremonies will be Pat Tallman, disc jockey from radio station KTSA in San Antonio. The show will begin at 7:30 p. m. tonight in G. Rollie White Coliseum and will last until 9 p. m., when the Combat Ball and Cafe Rue Pinalle open.

Acts for ITS

The Jokers, a Dixieland jazz band from Louisiana State University; the Suvans, a quartet from Texas Tech singing Kingston Trio fashion; Karol Goin, a torch singer from Oklahoma State University; Lynne Bryant from the University of Texas, doing modern jazz dances; a marimba act performed by Linda Woods from North Texas State College; and the Charles Sisters, a duet from Southwestern Louisiana Institute.

Also included in the ITS acts are a Brazilian song and dance routine performed by Suzanne van de Putte of Southern Methodist University; the Tyler Junior College Apache Belles, who will open and close the show; A&M's Western singer, Bobby Phillips; and Tabby and Hamp Dickens, a brother and sister dance team from the University of Arkansas.

South Seas Theme

Featuring a "South Seas" theme, the Combat Ball will be held from 9 to 12 p. m. in Sbsa Dining Hall. Highlight of the dance will be the naming of the Combat Cutie to be chosen from five finalists by a committee of special guests.

The five finalists for Combat Cutie are Diane Trahan of Shreveport, La.; Pat Doran of Houston; Susie Seidel of Brenham; Marlene Skelton of Dallas; and Sharon Roark of Nacogdoches.

Byron Blaschke, Combat Cutie Committee Chairman, has pointed out girls wearing fatigues or flight suits would not be admitted to the dance.

Combat Dress

Combat boots will be optional for cadets to wear with their fatigues, but those not wearing fatigues must wear military shoes and socks. Sophomores, juniors and seniors will wear rank on their collars and Air Force seniors may wear flight suits. Seniors who have received their branch assignment may wear branch brass.

Cafe Rue Pinalle will feature three acts from the ITS, along with the Jerry Brown Band tonight in their special dance lasting from 10 p. m. until 4 a. m. in the lower level of the Memorial Student Center.

Floor Show . . .

The floor show will begin at 11:30 p. m., featuring Miss Woods, Miss Goin and Tabby and Hamp Dickens.

Breakfast will be served to those at the dance at approximately 1 a. m., according to Frank Callahan, chairman of the MSC Dance Committee. (See WEEKEND on Page 3)

Nominations Urged

CSC Talks Plans For Faculty Award

By BOB SAILE
Battalion Staff Writer

The Civilian Student Council, in a meeting Thursday night, discussed plans for the recommendation of a recipient for the Faculty Achievement Award and planned for a Civilian Leadership Retreat to be held this summer.

The meeting, presided over by President Charles Graham, was held at 7:30 p. m. in the Student Senate Chamber of the Memorial Student Center.

Three-Man Committee

Graham appointed a three-man committee to select a faculty member they feel would be deserving of the $1,000 Faculty Achievement Award to be presented by the Executive Committee of the Association of Former Students. Graham appointed James Manley chairman of the committee with Ken Cox and Jim Lively to assist him.

Nominations Urged

The members of the council were urged by Graham to submit nominations for this award to the committee so they can send their recommendation to the Executive Committee.

Graham then appointed Paul Corder chairman of a three-man committee to formulate plans for a civilian Leadership Retreat sometime this summer. Graham pointed out the first such retreat was held last summer at Bastrop with 24 civilian students attending.

Promote Leadership

The purpose of the retreat is to promote leadership qualities and better understanding of problems among civilian leaders on the campus.

Graham called upon council members Ben Havard and James Crouch to organize plans for the Civilian Banquet scheduled for April 29.

Outstanding Member

The Council president also reminded the members of the Council that March 24 is the date set for the election of the outstanding CSC member. The voting, he said, will be by secret ballot in the Senate Chamber and the winner will be announced at the April 29 Banquet.

Poultry Class To Be Held Saturday

The Department of Poultry Science teacher-researchers and students will set up market and breeding classes of eggs and poultry at the College Poultry Farm March 12 to aid vocational agriculture teachers and county agricultural agents in training their judging teams for spring and summer contests.

C. B. Ryan, assistant professor in the Department of Poultry Science, said more than 100 students from 30 to 40 counties and schools are expected to participate.

He said the classes also will be used to train members of his Junior Judging Team, which will compete April 21-22 in a contest at Knoxville, Tenn.

Dr. Bird To Attend Pecos Cotton Meet

Dr. Luther Bird, associate professor in the Department of Plant Physiology and Pathology, will present a paper at the Trans-Pecos Cotton Production Conference to be held March 17 at Pecos.

Bird will discuss disease control in cotton crops.

Playboy Pillow Party To Offer Late Evening Entertainment

A Playboy Pillow Party, sponsored by fourth-year students in the Division of Architecture, will offer late evening entertainment for architecture students and their guests Saturday night.

The party will be held at the Bryan Country Club at 10 p. m. and is the first dance of its type sponsored by the architects.

A dance and a floor show will highlight the party, with music to be furnished by the Dallas Combo.

Playboy Magazine has cooperated in recent years with student groups at other campuses in promoting similar parties.

Tickets for the dance are $3, stag or drag, if purchased before Saturday night from any architecture major. Tickets at the door will be $4. Included in this price will be refreshments for the evening.

Those attending the dance should bring pillows with them, according to Gordon Barker, senior architecture major and master of ceremonies, since couples will be required to sit on the floor.
