Publications Editor Filings Close Today

Today at 5 p.m. is the deadline set for filing for editorships for the 1960-61 school year for the six publications of the Department of Student Publications.

Applications for the editorships for next year of The Battalion, The AggieLand, The Texas A&M Review, The Engineer, The Agriculturist and The Southwestern Vet may be turned in to A. Duewall, director of Student Publications.

Nominations for the 1960-61 editors will be approved by the Student Publications Board at the April 5 meeting and the board's recommendations will be forwarded to the Deans of the four degree-granting schools and to President Earl Rudder for approval, according to Duewall.

Minimum requirements for being named to an editorship include:

- Junior or senior academic classification.
- Freedom from academic and disciplinary probation.
- Must have clearly demonstrated above average achievement and ability.
- A minimum of one year's experience on the staff of any publication and proven ability to carry on the work of publication in a manner creditable by the Student Publications Board.

Goal of 400 Pints

Blood Donations Slated Thursday

Donation of blood by students will be conducted Thursday in G. Rollie White Coliseum under the auspices of the Student Senate and in coordination with the College Station Lion's Club.

Requested 600

Requests were made for 600 registrants to meet the goal of 400 pints this year, and an estimated 500 students have already registered.

A&S Cancels Faculty Meet

The spring meeting of the faculty of the School of Arts and Sciences scheduled for Wednesday night in the Memorial Student Center Ballroom has been postponed due to the illness of the speaker, Dr. Harry Ransom, vice president of the University of Texas.

The meeting will be rescheduled at a later date.

tered to donate blood, according to Marvin Schneider, chairman of the drive. Some of the students will have to be turned away at the Thursday donation due to minor ills and other causes.

Schneider said postcards would be sent to students registering to inform them of the time they are to donate blood. Each registrant was asked to fill out a card, denoting the free hours blood can be taken. Donations will be scheduled as early in the off-periods as possible, said Schneider, to allow students ample time to attend classes and other activities.

To Wadley Foundation

This year the blood will go to the Wadley Foundation in support of the Texas Children's Research Foundation. Donated blood will be used in research against leukemia and hemophilia.

Over the past years numerous lives have been saved with blood donated by Aggies, according to Schneider. In 1958, 14 lives were saved and last year 396 pints of blood were collected for research in leukemia and hemophilia. The 400 pints set as a goal this year are valued from $10,000 to $12,000, said Schneider.

Fitch Coordinator

Dr. David R. Fitch, professor in the Division of Business Administration, is the College Station Lion's Club coordinator. Last year the Lions sponsored the Bloodmobile's trip from Dallas to A&M. Jake Sekerka, president of Student Senate, emphasized all students interested in donating blood may go to G. Rollie White Coliseum and donate blood without registering Thursday.

Harold Henk
... King Cotton

Henk Named King Cotton

Harold Henk of Seguin, 22-year-old senior agronomy major, has been named King Cotton of the 26th annual Cotton Pageant and Ball scheduled April 8.

The pageant and ball is sponsored by the student Agronomy Society in honor of King Cotton and is one of the top annual events of its kind in the nation.

King Cotton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert P. Henk of Seguin and was chosen for the honor by the Agronomy Society in recognition of his outstanding student activity record.

Henk is a distinguished military student, cadet captain, commanding officer of Company E-2, on the school's Agriculture Council, past president of the Agronomy Society and is a member of the Newman Club and Centex Hometown Club.

The student attended Seguin high school and graduated in 1956. He was on the student council and received the DeKalb Award for his activities in the Seguin Future Farmers of America Chapter.

Moore Explains Street Plans

By BOB SAILE
Battalion Staff Writer

William (Mike) Moore, instructor in the Department of Civil Engineering, explained the program now in operation for improvement of College Station streets to members of the College Station Lions' Club at their meeting Monday.

Moore was the main speaker at the luncheon meeting held at noon in Rooms 2-C and 2-D of the Memorial Student Center.

Two Types of Streets

Early in his talk, Moore explained that there are two types of possible streets which will be constructed, according to the desires of the property owners along the streets. The two types of streets will be constructed by order of petition submitted by the property owners to the City Council, said Moore.

"The first type," he said, "is what is called a curb and gutter section, which will cost the property owner $3 per linear foot. This is a 27-foot wide street.

"The other type is a ditch and pavement section, which will not be graded," said Moore. "This type will cost the property owner 75 cents or more per linear foot."

Moore said the city would pay the remaining costs. He explained, however, any costs of tearing up driveways further than five feet back from the curb will have to be paid by the property owner.

The speaker then outlined the legal procedures which were followed in order to pave Walton and Kyle streets, and which will be followed in future paving of streets. The procedure, said Moore, involves the following:

A petition is submitted to the city manager, who gives the petition to the city council. The city council then declares an ordinance to pave that section. The plans prepared by the engineer for that section are then submitted to the council, which approves the plan and subsequently takes a poll of property owners in regard to payment per linear foot.

Before advertising for bids can begin, Moore explained, 70 per cent of the money from property owners must be in. A public hearing is then held and the contractor is notified. A contract is awarded, a work order is issued and work is then begun, Moore said.

"The weather has hurt the Kyle and Walton Street projects badly," he said, "as well as other delays such as the public hearing."

Prior to Moore's talk, Dave Fitch announced 500 blood donors have signed up to donate blood Thursday. Fitch, in behalf of the College Station Lions' Club, congratulated Aggies for their fine participation in the blood drive.
