

Church Plans Weekend Meet

Three members of the faculty at the Perkins School of Theology in Dallas will be speakers and discussion leaders for a three-day colloquy sponsored by the A&M Methodist Church on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, March 18-20.

Jack Kent, chairman of the Commission on Education of the local church, announced the Rev. Dr. Fred Gealy, the Rev. Dr. Van Harvey and the Rev. Dr. Lamar Cooper will be leaders in this new approach to the study of the "Nature and Authority of the Bible," and "Christian Insights and Moral Problems Today" and "Theology in a Post Christian World."

Lectures and discussion groups are being provided for ministers, laymen and college students. Kent pointed out a general invitation is being given to members of all faiths to attend all sessions of the study conference. The sessions will be held at the A&M Methodist Church in College Station.

"People are searching for deeper meanings and wider dimensions in their religious faith," stated the Rev. James Argue, pastor of the church, "and this colloquy offers an unusual opportunity to those who are seeking."

Ministers meet beginning at 2:30 p.m. Friday, March 18, with the Rev. Dr. Gealy; at 5:30 p.m. the same day students meet with the Rev. Dr. Harvey; and at 7:30 p.m. Dr. Cooper leads the laymen group.

Saturday from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m.

Corps Wires Invitations

Two telegrams of 2,657 words each, and signed by 1,180 members of the Corps of Cadets have been sent to Lt. Gen. Otto P. Weyland, '23, and Maj. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, '31, inviting them to inaugurate ceremonies for President Earl Rudder March 26.

Brantley Laycock, Corps Staff junior, said the telegrams were part of the plans to invite the four ranking A&M general officers to the ceremonies.

Lt. Gen. Andrew D. Bruce, '16, and Lt. Gen. Robert W. Colglazier, '25, have already accepted invitations to be present for ceremonies honoring President Rudder, the second A&M graduate to become president and first to be a major general and president....

Advice, Assistance

Electric School Set March 21-23

The fifth annual Municipal Electric Short School, a technical clinic designed to provide advice and assistance to operators of municipal electric systems, is set March 21-23 in the Memorial Student Center.

John S. Denison, associate professor in the Department of Electrical Engineering, a member of the program planning committee, said some of the topics will be of particular interest to power plant superintendents, operating superintendents and other municipal employees.

He said the school is generally slanted toward small municipal electric systems.

The program on the first day starts at 8 a.m. with registration and the first class at 9:30 a.m.

Speakers and their subjects at the first session are William A. Olson of Austin, legal counsel for the Texas Municipal League, "Legal Rights and Obligations of Municipal Employees On Private Property;" James L. Grahl, Washington, D.C., assistant manager, American Public Power Assn.,

INAUGURATION

H. B. Zachry of San Antonio, president of the A&M College System Board of Directors, will preside. President Rudder will give his response following the talks.

More than 1,000 persons are due to attend the inaugural dinner to be held in Sbsia Hall.

Name Given Geriatrics Center

BULLETIN

The name of the Bryan geriatric center was changed to "Crestview" at a special meeting of the Bryan Chamber of Commerce Geriatrics Center Project Committee this morning.

The name Pleasant Acres was changed because a conflict with a youth recreation area in College Station.

The rest of the name, "a community for senior citizens" will be incorporated in the name after the change.

"Pleasant Acres, a Community for Senior Citizens" was the name selected yesterday by the Geriatrics Center Project Committee for a proposed home for the aged to be located in the Bryan-College Station area under the auspices of the Methodist Church of the Texas Conference.

A special selection committee of the Bryan Chamber of Commerce looked over a list of 100 names submitted over the weekend from several sources before selecting the final name, said Lewis Newman, member of the steering committee for the project.

Most Frequent Suggestion
The name "Pleasant Acres" was suggested by several people, according to Newman. He said it was the most frequent entry.

The "Community for Senior Citizens" sub-title came from another source, Newman said.

"The name 'Pleasant Acres' is the best name we could find for the home," said Newman. "It is inclusive enough for the center to grow into."

"On Sizable Tract . . ."
The center will be located on a sizable tract of land, and if at a later date it were expanded to include other geriatric services, the name would still fit," he said.

Col. D. R. Alfante, chairman for the selection of the site, announced 120-day options have been picked up on both 25-acre tracts which are under consideration as possible sites for the center.

The sites are located at the northeast corner of 29th Street and Villa Maria Road, Bryan, and the corner of 29th Street and Briarcrest Road, according to Newman.

"Pleasant Acres" is to be the initial geriatrics center for the Texas Conference of the Methodist Church. The Texas Conference comprises a triangle with Texas, Galveston and Orange as points. As yet, no Methodist old-age home exists in this area, said Newman.

Purpose Defined . . .
Henry Clay, president of the First State Bank and Trust Co., Bryan, and chairman of the Geriatrics Center Project Committee, defined the purpose of the committee as being "to earn the opportunity of building a $1 million geriatrics center, through the efforts of the entire community."

An initial drive to raise $100,000, a goal set by the committee, has been scheduled for May 9-23, said Newman. The initial money will be used to start work on the project before the Texas Conference of the Methodist Church comes in and starts work, said Newman.

Chart Organization
At a meeting held Feb. 29 at the Bryan Chamber of Commerce the main purposes and the structural organization of the committee was explained to all members. Organization was presented on a chart with the names of all members on all sub-divisions listed.

On the head committee, the steering committee, are Clay, John Naylor, Col. D. R. Alfante, Newman, Jack Springer, the Rev. Mr. Karl Bayer and Alice Brogdon.

Steering Committee
Under the steering committee is the publicity committee headed by Joe E. Vincent. Madge Wallace is in charge of letters and handling news releases are Bob Stewart, Troy Dunagon, David Haines, West Ninemire and Lee Duewall.

Chairman of the speakers committee is H. G. Kenagy. Members of the committee include Dr. R. L. Skrabanek and the Rev. Mr. Roy D. Holt.

Mrs. Travis Bryan is in charge of volunteer aid.
"The success of this drive will depend upon our organization," said Clay. "The committees are going to need a lot of help."

Office Located
The Campaign Office has been set up in the building located at 25th and Washington Streets, said Newman. The building was loaned to the committee by Henry Mochlman of 1416 Beck Street.

Anyone wishing information about "Pleasant Acres" or desiring to make a contribution can contact the campaign office or Dr. Karl Bayer, district superintendent of the Methodist Church, at TA 2-1321.

Adenauer To Make Plea to Ike Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Konrad Adenauer takes to President Eisenhower personally today his plea against concessions on Berlin at the forthcoming summit conference.

The visiting West German chancellor had an extended date at the White House, lasting from mid-morning through lunch, then appointments with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and other State Department officials in the afternoon.

Adenauer was reported ready to advise Eisenhower to avoid the Berlin issue at the summit and place priority instead on progress toward disarmament.

Both Germany-Berlin and disarmament are on the agenda for Eisenhower's mid-May summit talks in Paris with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and the British and French chiefs.

Adenauer was known to feel that no good can come from a temporary deal on West Berlin, the Red-encircled city from which Khrushchev wants all Allied troops withdrawn.

Eisenhower and Herter in turn were reported prepared to promise not to sell out the West Berliners. But U.S. officials said they also intended to retain freedom to offer some concessions if Khrushchev gives guarantees improving the Allies' shaky hold on the city.

Adenauer, on a two-week tour of the United States, publicly voiced his suspicions of Moscow's aims Monday while receiving an honorary doctor's degree at Princeton University.

The 84-year-old German leader declared Soviet claims of good intentions cannot be believed as long as Moscow opposes self-determination for East Germany and Eastern Europe.

"Fifteen years after the war the same people who demand most loudly the right of self-determination for every nation in Africa and Asia refuse it to the German people," he said.

SHULTON

Right down the alley

of America's second largest telephone system

Never before has America known such sustained growth and expansion. New industries, new plants, new additions to old plants — each day reveals dramatic changes on the industrial horizon.

And to help provide the new and greater communications systems for this building boom is our daily work at General Telephone.

You'll find a good example of what we mean in Muskegon, Michigan. Here Brunswick-Balke-Collender has just completed huge new facilities to keep up with the demand for its world-famous automatic pinsetters. In the same area, foundries, oil refineries and three new chemical plants are going round the clock.

And as Muskegon grows and prospers, its communications requirements become more complex and compelling. That's why Gen Tel, in the past three years, has spent more than $36 million in its Michigan operating areas alone — improving, increasing, expanding its telephone services.

This is a typical example of how we strive — not only to meet today's communication needs, but to answer the needs of tomorrow, too.
