Research Students at A&M

These three A&M students, participating in a special summer research program sponsored by the National Science Foundation, are studying the cranial anatomy of a certain tropical frog. The students are John Brooks of Bagwell, seated, Ernest Tanzer of College Station left, and Joe Toole of Longview. Their research is the first of its kind and will serve as an important reference work for future studies of evolution. Dr. Richard J. Baldauf, associate professor in the Department of Wildlife Management, is supervising the trio.

Three Students Doing Research On Anatomy

Research is proving to be a full-time job for three A&M summer students participating in a special program sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

The students are John Brooks of Bagwell, Ernest Tanzer of College Station and Joe Toole of Longview.

Working under the direction of Dr. Richard J. Baldauf, associate professor in the Department of Wildlife Management, the trio is studying the cranial anatomy of a certain tropical frog.

Baldauf said the research being carried out by the students is the first of its kind and will serve as an important reference work for future studies of evolution.

The National Science Foundation program is designed to help students build an interest in scientific research, understand scientific methods and to employ investigative procedures.

Baldauf said the program at A&M is one of more than 300 undergraduate research training projects now in operation at universities throughout the nation.

Wee Aggies

We Aggies like to read about Wee Aggies. When a wee one arrives, call VI 6-610 and ask for the Wee Aggie Editor.

A future Aggie sweetheart, Deborah Lynn, was born June 18 at St. Joseph Hospital in Bryan to Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Ames Jr., '60, of B-15-X, College View. Deborah Lynn weighed 7 lbs., 3 oz.

NRA Awards Rating to CS Girl

Special to The Battalion
WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Expert Rifleman Medal, second highest award in American Junior shooting has been won by Joan Loveless of 206 Lee Ave., the National Rifle Assn. announced here today.

Shooting several hundred targets in the last few months the new expert marksman fired her way through 13 lower NRA qualifications to achieve her new high rating. With one more set of targets to fire the new expert will up her rating to Distinguished Rifleman, the select top rating for the junior shooters of the nation.

LOGICAL CHOICE
DURANGO, Colo. (CP)—A young couple stood in the postoffice debating whether to pay the doctor bill or the electric bill.
The girl finally came up with this solution: "Pay the power bill. Doc's not liable to shut off your blood."
