

Hometown Clubs Draw Many Aggies

Of the many extra-curricular activities on the A&M campus, one of the most important to freshmen is the hometown and area clubs. These clubs are the largest single student activity on the campus. Approximately 90 per cent of the student body participates in some way in a hometown club. The clubs offer the student an opportunity to widen his contacts and experiences. Through participation in his hometown club, the student gains the value of leadership and cooperation. Some of the purposes of the various clubs are to encourage high school graduates to attend

A&M, provide social activities for the club members on campus and at home, to help one another be better Aggies and to be of service to students in getting rides home and back to school.

High Tribute Paid Fireman

High tribute was paid yesterday to Cled Warren, who has been with the B&CU Department since 1922 and a member of the College's volunteer fire department since that time. At a ceremony at the Fire Station, attended by members of the Department and Pres. Earl Rudder of the College, Mr. Warren was presented a gift and lauded as one of the College's outstanding members ever since the day he joined A&M. Mr. Warren was due to retire in September, this year, but his birthday date was such that he will finish out this school year, retiring September, 1961. He was appointed fire chief in 1943 and in September, 1960, turned over the duties to V. P. Phipps, because of the need of a full time fire chief and fire marshal at that time. In April, 1941, Mr. Warren was custodian for a short time. When he came to A&M in 1922 he was labor foreman and has held that post with the B&C.U. ever since. Talks were made by President Rudder and Raymond Rogers, head of the B&C.U. Department.

Unique Sessions Of Ecumenical Study Planned

More than fifty campus pastors and officers of Protestant student associations from A&M will begin sessions in a unique experiment in ecumenical study when they meet at Camp Hus, near Caldwell, Wednesday through Friday noon. As far as is known this is the first co-operative planning camp of this type in the southwest. Purpose of the camp is to engage campus religious leaders in a serious study of the task of the church in the university, and to study materials concerning this task that have been issued by the World Student Christian Federation. In addition, the constituent student groups will spend two sessions planning fall semester programs for their associations. Chief items of study at the camp will include a Bible study led by the Rev. M. W. Bulgerin of the Lutheran Student Association; group discussions on the WSCF pamphlet, "A Missionary People"; a discussion led by the Rev. Arlen Fowler, Presbyterian Student Fellowship, on a paper, "The Work of the Church in the University"; and a review of the official WSCF study guide for the year, "Faith and Learning," led by the Rev. Alfred Johnson of the Canterbury Fellowship. Dave Wallace, who attended the World Student Christian Fellowship meeting in Strassbourg, France, this summer will give a report on the meeting. Pastors and student groups will lead matins and vespers devotional periods each day.

Shriner, Conniff Head List Of Five Town Hall Showings

Five Town Hall performances have been booked for the 1960-61 school year by the office of Robert L. Boone, Music Coordinator. The lead-off presentation is set Oct. 20 with Herb Shriner and "Pops Americana." This production is mounted within the setting of a top-flight concert orchestra and sparked by the delightful wit and humor of Shriner, a long-time television personality. The second and last first semester presentation Nov. 17 brings Ray Conniff's "Concert in Stereo" to G. Rollie White Coliseum. The program will present the Conniff singers and orchestra in a presentation of hits from his long string of recordings. The American Ballet Theater will kick-off the second semester presentations Mar. 2. The group, known as "the dancing diplomats of the Cultural Exchange program," will be here following a successful international tour with a company of 100 and a symphony orchestra. Two weeks later, Mar. 16, the National Symphony Orchestra of Washington, D.C., will appear. The group, under the leadership of Howard Mitchell, is reputedly one of the handful of really great symphonic ensembles in the world. The U. S. Air Force Band and the Singing Sergeants will bring the curtain down on Town Hall performances Apr. 10. The service band and glee club has been featured on "Serenade in Blue" radio programs on national networks and has won the acclaim of persons in five continents. Students who pay their student activity fee, Boone reminded, will receive general admission tickets to all five performances. An additional $2 will enable students to get reserved seats.
