

Hughes Turning Frosh Into Hard-Nose Team

By LARRY SMITH
Assistant Sports Editor

After going into the second week of workouts, Coach Travis Hughes is turning his Fish into hard-hitting college football players. Hughes said, "The team is showing good hustle, after the first week. They are starting to hit a lot better and are getting more fire."

Coach Hughes continued to say that one of the biggest strong points of the young team is at fullback where two former high school All-Staters, Jerry Rogers of Corpus Christi and Bobby Evans of Thorndale, have been shining.

Starting quarterback Jim Linnstaedter of Brenham has been looking good, according to Hughes. In the punting department, Eddie Hall of Dickinson has been getting off some fine kicks.

At the halfback spots, Phil Peter of Houston and George Hargett of Linden have been improving daily and are expected to be at top form for the TCU game Oct. 5.

Big Ray Kubala of West, at center, seems to be the top lineman. Other linemen who have shown up good during the past week of workouts include end Larry Crutsinger of Brownwood, tackle Johnny Kolacek of George West, and guard Terry McLeod of Jasper.

One oddity in the first two teams is the appearance of Mike Pizzotola of Houston at guard.

Pizzotola is the first Corps member to make good since varsity tackle Joe Eilers came out in 1957. Last week Eilers started at right tackle against Texas Tech.

Coach Hughes said, "We will not rely just on running or just on passing, but will have a well-balanced attack with both."

Although this year's Fish team isn't as big in number as the teams in the past, it is still blessed with eleven all-staters, which could mean a lot.

Fall Training Now In Session Daily

The Aggie soccer team has begun its fall training under the direction of their captain, Guillermo Guerra and the co-captain, Orlando Cossani. They are practicing every afternoon from 5 to 6.

The team is getting ready to play in the Houston Soccer League and their opening game with Houston United on Oct. 9 at Memorial Park Stadium in Houston.

A & M Hasn't Met Trinity Since 1951

Back in 1951 the Aggies went to a surging victory over Trinity University by a score of 53-13, and that was the last time the two teams have met.

This year the Aggies have added Trinity to their pre-conference slate, as well as returning for another bout next year.

After the 1951 contest in which the Aggies' All-American Bob Smith was at his peak, a new coach was hired—W. A. McElreath.

Since McElreath started his coaching duties at Trinity he has won 43 games, lost 28 and tied one. He employs the "Trinity T" formation, which call for unorthodox line spacing, flankers, and is noted for bringing "a rabbit out of the hat" at most anytime.

McElreath and Cadet Coach Jim Myers have one thing in common, however, since Myers played college football at Tennessee University and McElreath was at Vanderbilt University.

The last time Trinity competed against a Southwest Conference school was in 1952 when they were beaten 47-0.

Although Trinity hasn't participated in SWC activity for the past few years they are certainly no newcomer as pre-conference foes.

In Trinity's first season of football during 1900, their first and only game was played with the Baylor Bears.

No games were staged for Trinity in 1901, but in 1902 their whole schedule was made up from the SWC. During that year the Tigers played Baylor twice, A&M and Texas University. And so on through the years, many of Trin-

'Upset Special' May Run According to Schedule

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK—The "upset special" is highballing it toward Lawrence, Kan., this week, but look out for those 225-pound behemoths blocking the rails.

We still think the Syracuse line is too tough for the likes of Bert Coan and Curtis McClinton and should rack up a 21-7 victory.

Last week we stabbed 35 of 45 winners for .777. The second go-around:

Notre Dame 27, Purdue 21; Vengeance swells in the proud breasts of the Fighting Irish.

Northwestern 13, Iowa 7; Even without Dick Thornton, the Wildcats can do it.

Washington 20, Navy 14; The Midshipmen's Joe Bellino is a tough cookie, but the cookie crumbles under husky gang tackling.

Arkansas 14, Texas Christian 12; TCU's advantage of playing at home 'not enough to offset improving Razorbacks.

Army 23, California 13; Air arm built around Dick Eckert and Tom Blanda add to Golden Bears' woes.

Mississippi 34, Memphis State 0; If Ole Miss is tops, as the polls say, who is Memphis State to question it?

Clemson 22, Virginia Tech 8; Grit and grits are a potent combination.

Ohio State 20, Southern California 7; The Buckeyes are fancier with passes this year, but still tough.

The others:

EAST—Princeton 14, Columbia 13; Penn 20, Dartmouth 8; Yale 21, Brown 6; Penn State 18, Missouri 13.

MIDWEST—Michigan State 25, Michigan 20; Pittsburgh 14, Oklahoma 7; Illinois 28, West Virginia

Minnesota 18, Indiana 12; Colorado 14, Kansas State 7.

SOUTH—Alabama 21, Vanderbilt 7; LSU 19, Baylor 16; Wake Forest 19, Florida State 14; Georgia Tech 24, Florida 14; Tennessee 14, Mississippi State 0; Duke 14, Maryland 0; Georgia 28, South Carolina 14.

SOUTHWEST—Tulane 13, Rice 8; Texas 28, Texas Tech 14; Texas A&M 25, Trinity 0.

FAR WEST—Air Force 20, Stanford 7; Montana 14; Idaho 7; Oregon 19, Utah 14; Colorado State 17, Brigham Young 7; Wyoming 23, Arizona 13; Oregon State 21, Houston 7; Washington State 13, Arizona State 12.

Oklahoma Sooners May Start Complaining About Texans

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Oklahoma lost its opening game of the season to Northwestern 19-3 and any day now you might expect the Sooners to start complaining about the quality of the Texas schoolboy football players.

Oklahoma depends on Texas to build its team each year and when the team doesn't do well, it is only natural that Texas be blamed.

Even those fellows Coach Bud Wilkinson and cohorts have been taking away from Southwest Conference schools, where they had signed letters of intent, haven't materially helped the situation.

This season's Oklahoma varsity shows 24 Texans, which is only 14 fewer than there are Oklahomans. Seven of the Texans are starters, 13 are lettermen.

Most Texas boys have been going to Oklahoma presumably because of its great winning tradition. But the past two years have seen Oklahoma fortunes fall. Last year the Sooners lost three games—45-13 to Northwestern, 19-12 to Texas, 25-21 to Nebraska. Yet the flow of schoolboy stars across the Red River continues. There just must be something besides winning that's attracting them.
