

One Item Skipped: A&M Kicking Game

You've heard much this fall about A&M's sophomores, full-backs and defense but there's one item you may have overlooked about Coach Jim Myers' Cadets.

That's the kicking game. Punts, kickoffs and extra points. The kicking has been real good after three games.

There was much speculation after Charley Milstead finished his college playing last fall, about the Aggie kicking game. Who's gonna replace Milstead, one of A&M's all-time great kickers, passers and overall field generals?

So far Babe Craig, junior transfer from Knoxville, Tenn., has been doing the punting. And a good job, too. He carries a 39.4 average good for third place in the Southwest conference, in spite of getting off a 20-yarder after a bad pass from center against LSU.

Mike Clark, a Longview sophomore who is listed as an Aggie end but who does nothing but kickoff, has been getting the ball deep every time, usually into the end zone.

Then there's the matter of extra points. A&M has scored four touchdowns this fall and has booted four out of four placements. Randy Sims, Houston senior, kicked both extra points against Texas Tech and with Handy Randy sidelined last Saturday with an injury, QB Daryle Keeling, Tyler junior, booted two perfect placements in A&M's 14-0 win.

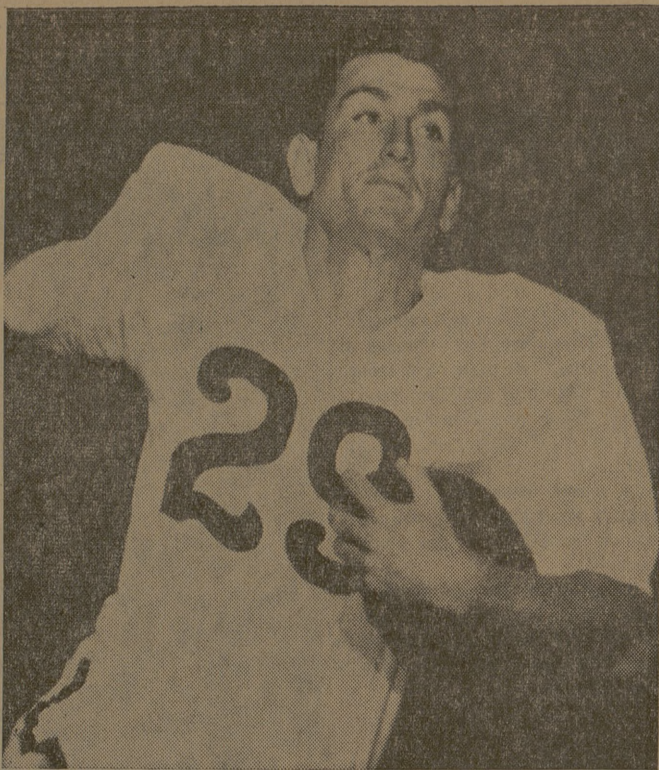

Here's a run-down on A&M's kicking against Trinity:

Craig, a halfback-quarterback, punted four times to the four, five, 10 and 23-yard lines for an average of 41 yards per kick.

Clark kicked off three times—to the end zone, the two and the 7-yard line.

And Keeling hit two for two on PATs.

Who said the foot has gone out of football?

San Antonio Scamperer

Eddie Van Dyke from San Antonio's Edison High School was right "in his own back yard" Saturday night as he picked up 50 yards against the Trinity Tigers. Coach Jim Myers lauded his performance as "top notch."

The "slick-headed" Aggie Fish kick off their football season tonight in Fort Worth against TCU's Wogs in the first college game for both teams.

The Fish will be seeking revenge from last year when the Wogs edged the Fish in a thriller, 14-13. Coach Travis (Shorty) Hughes said, "Since this is the first game for us, and the Wogs, you just can't tell how the contest will come out."

The hard-hitting Fish have "held up good against the varsity the last couple of weeks and their attitude has been great," Hughes added.

Backs Shine

During the past week, quarterback Jim Linnstaedter, high school All-Stater from Brenham, has shown up well from the man under position. Other backs that have looked good include Travis Reagan, 166-pound speed merchant from Wichita Falls; Phil Peter, 196-pound right halfback from Houston (Austin); and Jerry Rogers, a 210-pound bruising fullback from Corpus Christi (Ray). Two second team backs have also been inspiring in practice. They are Eddie Hall, quarterback from Dickinson, and George Hargett, halfback from Linden.

Coach Hughes has located several rugged linemen in his crop of football players. They include guard Terry McLeod, 195-pounder from Jasper; center Ray Kubala, 6-4, 230-pounder from West; guard Mike Swan, a 206-pounder from Athens; end Larry Crutsinger, 6-1, 185-pounder from Brownwood; and end Kenneth Bode, who played in 58 high school football games for Brady High.

Coach Hughes, his four student assistants—Buddy Payne, Robert Sanders, Gale Oliver and Joe Munson, along with forty-one football players left this morning at 7:30 for Fort Worth and will return about 12 tomorrow.

The next game for the Fish will be with the Baylor Cubs in Waco on Oct. 13.

The A&M Bowling Committee will organize its leagues for the coming year next Monday night at 7:30 in the Memorial Student Center. Due to the increase in membership, the Committee plans to have four leagues this season, two occurring on Monday at 7 and 9, with the others on Tuesday and Thursday at 7. We urge anyone interested in bowling to attend this meeting and join one of the Committee leagues.

This week-end marks the beginning of match play for the Aggie team. They will act as host to the unique Texas Intercollegiate Bowling Conference which was organized last year through the efforts of the Bowling Committee. This is the only intercollegiate bowling league which is sanctioned by the American Bowling Congress. This year the conference is expecting to consist of SMU, San Antonio College, North Texas State, Arlington State, Baylor, Texas University, Stephen F. Austin, and A&M. Bowling will start at 9:00 a.m. Saturday and will continue throughout the day until about 6.

During the past years, the Aggie Match team has proved to be one of the best collegiate teams in the nation. For the past two years the Aggies have won the A&M Intercollegiate Tournament held here each year, as well as the Region IX Championship of the Association of College Unions Tourney. The year before the organization of the Conference they were undefeated in match competition. Last year, in the Conference, the team swept the league by winning nine of the 11 awards given. Certainly this team needs your support Saturday in the start of the new season. We'll be looking for you.

back in the No. 1 spot in The Associated Press' football poll Tuesday with several potent Big Ten teams in threatening positions.

The Orangemen's 14-7 victory over then fifth-ranked Kansas and Mississippi's narrow 31-20 margin over lowly Memphis State resulted in the switch of the first two places in the weekly balloting. Ole Miss fell to second behind Syracuse.

Syracuse and Mississippi should not have any difficulty against easy foes this week. Syracuse plays Holy Cross and Mississippi meets Vanderbilt but there are storms brewing in the Big Ten.

Iowa, which knocked out Northwestern 42-0, journeys to East Lansing, Mich., to oppose unbeaten Michigan State; Ohio State and Illinois collide at Champaign, Ill., in the battle of the week, and Purdue faces unbeaten, high-scoring Wisconsin at Madison.

Arkansas faces trouble in unbeaten Baylor and Kansas has a battle on its hands against fast-striking Iowa State. Navy takes on winless Southern Methodist in the Oyster Bowl at Norfolk, Va., and Clemson has a breather in Virginia.

The top teams with first place votes and season records in parenthesis and points on 1-10 basis are:

1. Syracuse (28) (2-0) .....428
2. Mississippi (14) (3-0) .....402
3. Iowa (5) (2-0) .....358
4. Illinois (2-0) .....295

7. Purdue (1-0-1) .....127
8. Clemson (2-0) .....101
9. Arkansas (3-0) .....81
10. Kansas (2-1) .....65
