Why Keep Plugging Ike - Nikky Meet?

By J. M. Roberts
Associated Press News Analyst

If it is a foregone conclusion that President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Khrushchev could not get anywhere if they did meet, why do the neutrals keep plugging on the point?

A good many people seem to think that they are just trying to emphasize their new importance in the U. N. General Assembly because of their increased numbers. It's a good issue around which to rally a bloc. It's pious.

But there are greater factors, more serious factors, involved.

The neutrals realize, as others have realized, that there is an inherent danger in a situation in which the leaders of the world's two most powerful nations are not speaking.

They want to put the leaders of these two nations on full notice that this situation has created widespread fear, widespread disapproval, and that the world demand for a renewal of contacts is a serious one.

They have been shocked by many things since the assembly opened.

One is the Khrushchev attempt to draw solid lines for the cold war within the United Nations through a confrontation of neutral, Western and Eastern interests in a new secretariat system, with its sure threat to the future of the organization itself.

One is a suspected tendency of the United States to tab nationalism in Africa as communisticly inclined unless it is actively anti-Communist. The United States has been trying to deny this tendency but has made some slips.

There has been an awakening of African leaders to the real bitterness of the cold war, since many of them have been too submerged in preparation of new governments to give world issues much study.

"We are meeting not to pray . . . but for action," said Nehru.

Editor,

The Battalion,
I would like to lend my support to those persons who have already written to your paper regarding the cost of the football tickets for the Southwest Conference.

May I say as an Aggie wife and ardent fan of the Texas A&M football team, that I also follow the Aggies via the radio and television media, unwillingly, because of the $4 price tag. I believe that there are many students and exes alike who simply cannot afford the pleasure of sitting in the stadium when the Aggies come on the field and be there to cheer them.

Although there are many expenses incurred in presenting these football games, it does not seem feasible that the $4 ticket is a necessity—even to offset these expenses.

The game of football should be for the enjoyment of fans and players—not a profit-making endeavor.

Editor,

The Battalion,
It is about time someone defined a Texas Aggie.

In my book a Texas Aggie is not one that wears a T-shirt, blue jeans and shower clogs to class. Nor is he one that watches a Silver Taps ceremony for a departed student from his room or ramp, or sacks out in his room while the Muster is in progress.

From my observations this year, as well as in the past three years, it appears that some of the so-called civilian Texas Aggies find it too much of a burden to return a "Howdy," or take a cigarette out of his mouth when he meets someone, much less go to a Yell Practice or a football game.

To me the above-mentioned people are not Texas Aggies, but merely students at Texas A&M.

I am not saying you have to wear a uniform to be a Texas Aggie, but I am saying that to be called a Texas Aggie, you should at least act like one.

LUCKY STRIKE PRESENTS:
DEAR DR. FROOD!
DR. FROOD'S THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: 'Tis better to have loved and lost than to have spent the whole weekend studying.

Dear Dr. Frood: My roommate is a good guy, but there's one thing about him I can't stand. He wears button-down collars but never buttons the little lapel buttons. Why is this?
Clothes Conscious
DEAR CLOTHES: Don't let this worry you. It's just that his thumbs are too big.

Dear Dr. Frood: The other day my roommate and I had an argument about the difference between traditional art and modern art. What, in your opinion, is the basic difference between these two forms?
Art Major
DEAR ART: The examples above should settle your argument. The portrait at left is traditional. The artist has drawn Lincoln as he actually appeared. The portrait at right is modern. As you can see, the modern artist has drawn Lincoln's great-great-grandson.

Dear Dr. Frood: Once and for all—is it right or wrong for a man to marry a girl for her money?
Righteous
DEAR RIGHTEOUS: Nowadays this isn't simply a matter of right or wrong. There are the tax angles to consider.

Dear Dr. Frood: I don't understand my boy friend. When we are all alone and the moon is full, he tells me he worships me. But during the day, he crosses the street when he sees me coming. What is wrong?
LoveLorn
DEAR LOVELORN: Did it ever occur to you that he may be a werewolf?

Dear Dr. Frood: My favorite brand is Lucky Strike. But unfortunately I am left-handed. Why doesn't Lucky Strike come out with cigarettes for left-handed people?
Lefty
DEAR LEFTY: Left-handed Luckies are available. Simply ask for "Left-handed Luckies." They come in a white pack with a red bull's-eye. The only difference between these and ordinary Luckies is that you must always smoke them while facing a mirror.

"LUCKIES ARE BETTER THAN MONEY," says Dr. Frood (who gets paid in Luckies). It's a fact that college students smoke more Luckies than any other regular. This cigarette is all cigarette—the cigarette that still tastes great. Try a pack today—it's the only thing you and Dr. Frood will ever have in common.

CHANGE TO LUCKIES and get some taste for a change!
