Dag Is Candidate for Noble Peace Prize

OSLO, Norway—U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold was mentioned in speculation Tuesday as a likely candidate to win this year's Nobel Peace Prize.

A committee appointed by the Norwegian Parliament every year picks the man who in the words of Alfred Nobel's testament "has done the most or best to further brotherhood amongst the peoples, to abolish or cut down the standing armies and to create or further the work of peace congresses."

Some contended Hammarskjold—a Swede—could qualify for the prize along these lines for his work in the Congo.

Officials Still Seeking Leads On Sniping Incident Here

College officials Wednesday were still seeking leads concerning an unidentified sniper who wounded an Army cadet Monday night.

According to Bennie Zinn, director of Student Personnel Services, no new information had been turned up Wednesday concerning the identity of the sniper.

The cadet, Jerry Gilliland, a senior from Liberty, was wounded in the hand as he was returning to his dormitory from Sbisá Mess Hall. Gilliland said that he was on his way back to the dorm when he heard a shot which sounded like a report from an air rifle and a second later felt a bullet hit his hand.

Examination at the College Hospital showed that the wound wasn't too large and that the bullet had apparently hit a bone and been knocked back out.

They also guided two different high school student bodies totaling over 500 students around the college physical plant.

Another great service performed last year was handing out literature on the college to many different groups at various conferences and gatherings on the campus.

The conferences included Junior College Day, High Schools Careers Day, and the High School Industrial Science Fair. Whenever there was someone on the campus to be reached with literature, it was certain the Chamber would be on the spot to furnish the
