Lesser Sports Seek College Sanction, Aid

A Student Committee for the Recognition of Minor Sports was organized Monday evening in a meeting called by Russel K. Weider, wrestling and fencing coach.

Each of the nine lesser sports, including wrestling, weight lifting, soccer, pistol team, rifle team, gymnastics, fencing, bowling and badminton were represented, and from the group a chairman, assistant chairman and secretary were elected to the Committee.

Chairman is Nicky McDonald, vice-chairman is Butch Alcorn, and secretary is Johnny Herrin.

Purpose

The purpose of the Committee is to get the college to aid and sanction the lesser sports, or if not aid, just sanction them that they might participate in national meets.

Other advantages would be obtaining a regular sports sweater instead of a club letter. Present club aid is obtained from the Memorial Student Center, and amounts to $500, according to Herrin, secretary of the Committee.

Fugitive Nabbed at Laredo

LAREDO, Tex.—Fugitive ex-convict Curtis Lee Jones, accused of murder, rape and kidnapping, gave up without a struggle Tuesday after a state patrolman fired a shotgun charge over his head.

Four officers seized Jones, 38, a paroled Arkansas lifer, as a horse stumbled and threw him as he tried to flee on the Callahan ranch. The ranch is 20 miles north of here and near the Mexican border.

Ranch manager John Arndt summoned posseman hunting Jones after a woman slipped away from the armed fugitive and told of being forced at gunpoint to feed him at her home five miles distant.

State patrolman Jack Carpenter fired the shotgun blast which brought Jones to a halt in a brushy, cactus-studded pasture. He quickly gave up, making no efforts to draw the loaded .22 caliber pistol he was carrying.

FAA Reveals Rating Cancellation

WASHINGTON—The Federal Aviation Agency said Tuesday that last July 15 it issued an order revoking the airline pilot rating of the pilot of the Arctic-Pacific airliner which crashed at Toledo, Ohio, Saturday.

The FFA order was stayed, however, by the appeal of the pilot, Donald L. J. Chesher, to the Civil Aeronautics Board. He was able to continue flying pending action on the appeal.

Chesher was one of 22 persons killed in the Toledo crash. There were 48 persons aboard the plane.

Baptists Caution Members

LUBBOCK, Tex.—Texas Baptist leaders Tuesday urged their church members "to examine the position on separation of church and state" of every candidate for public office.

A Baptist spokesman said it applied to all candidates.

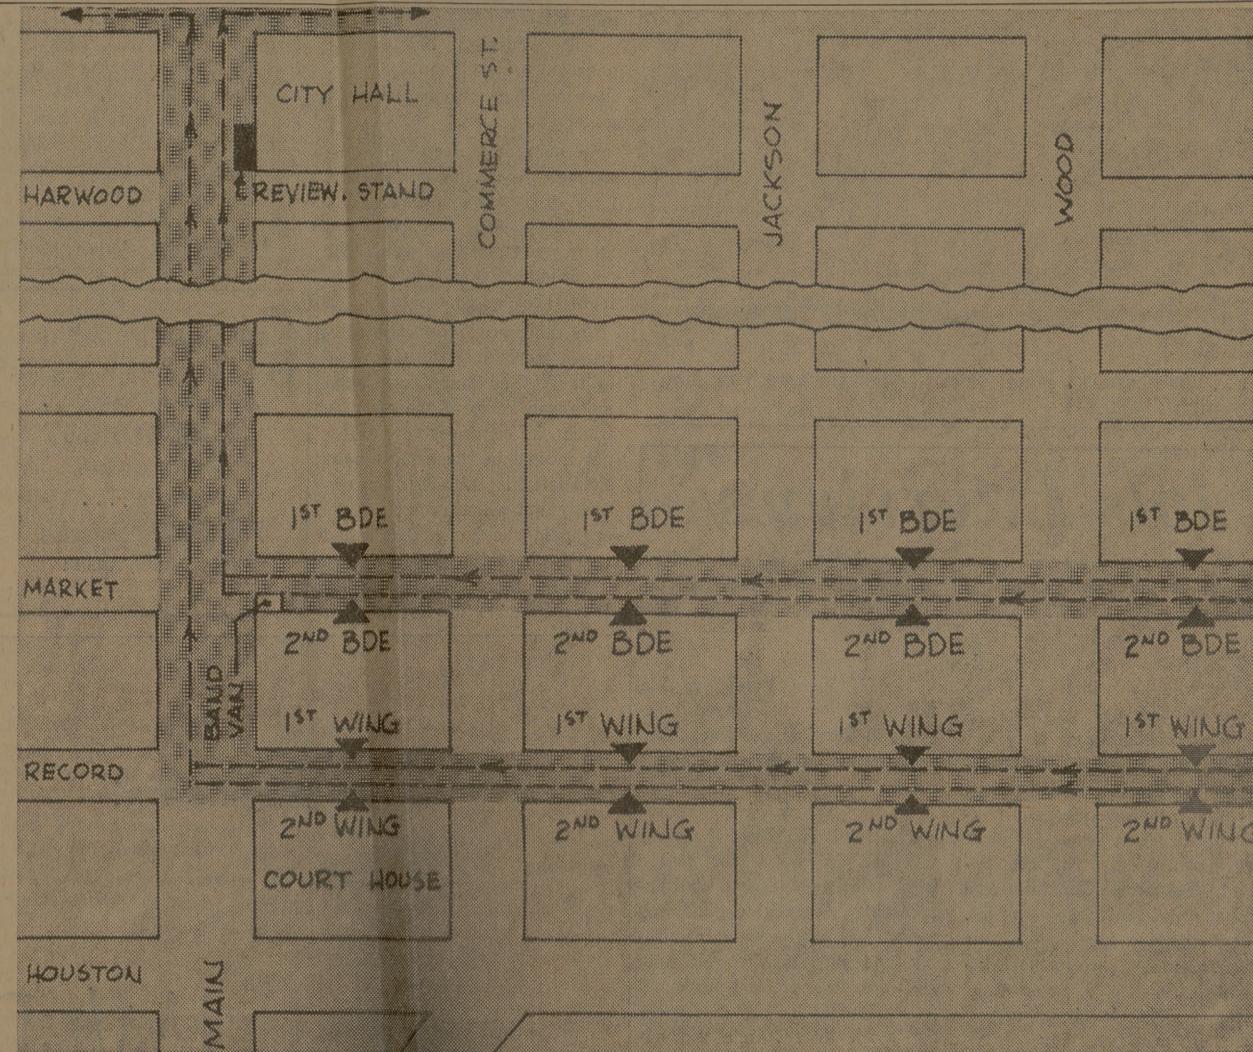

The admonition came in recommendations of the Christian Life Commission of the Baptist General Convention of Texas. The recommendation was among others approved Tuesday by the convention's executive board. It must go before the convention for final action Wednesday.

United Chest Drive In Progress

Corps Trip Route of March

This is the route of march to be taken by the Corps of Cadets at the Saturday morning review preceding the A&M-SMU football game in Dallas. Units will begin forming along both sides of Market and Record Streets at 8:30 a.m. as pictured above. The 11-block parade will go up Main St. and end just past the reviewing stand at the corner of Harwood and Main Streets near the City Hall. The broken line across the center of the drawing signifies that some eight or nine streets have been left out of the drawing which will be covered in the parade.

Research Book Wins Prize In Contest

An "Industrial Facts Book on Perryton and Ochiltree County, Texas," prepared by A&M researchers, placed second in a 17-state competition of industrial development literature recently at Little Rock, Ark. The contest was conducted by the Southern Industrial Development Council at its 15th annual conference and judged by Stuart Perry Walsh, director of Industrial Planning Associates, San Francisco, Calif.

The A&M publication placed in the category for cities or areas under 25,000 population. It contained survey data involving living conditions, business and industry, utilities and communications, transportation, taxation and indebtedness, laws and regulations, markets, labor, raw materials and industrial sites.

College Station Citizen To Organize Radio Group

Chester A. O'Donnell, 315 Lee Ave., South, College Station, has been selected to set up an organization of College Station amateur radio operators prepared to furnish organized emergency communications in time of disaster, it was announced today by Communications Manager F. E. Handy of the American Radio Relay League, national association of radio amateurs.

O'Donnell's assignment, which carries the title of Emergency Coordinator, is to band together members of the amateur radio service in his community to perfect arrangements for emergency radio communication by hams in the event of natural disasters or other emergencies.

In addition to use of normal station equipment working from commercial power, amateur stations use self-powered radio transmitting and receiving equipment as needed.

O'Donnell, as ARRL Emergency Coordinator, will call local meetings of amateurs, establish common operating procedures and arrange regular drill periods when the hams' personal stations will be mobilized under simulated emergency conditions. His duties also include liaison planning with the local chapter of the American Red Cross and other relief agencies, as suggested in the working understanding the ARRL Emergency Corps has with the national headquarters of the American Red Cross and other agencies. Liaison will be established also with local protective services, such as fire and police departments and civil defense communications will receive much attention.

In announcing the appointment,

Handy pointed out that radio amateurs have traditionally had the responsibility of being in constant readiness to offer assistance in time of need with ham-acquired skill, emergency-powered transmitters and a wealth of communty spirit. "When sleet storms disrupt telephone and telegraph service, or floods isolate whole communities," the League's Communications Manager said, "it is amateur radio that comes to the rescue with operators and self-powered equipment, often as the sole agency able to transmit messages calling on the outside world for aid for the stricken community."

SALOON GIRLS?

Costumes Causing Major Problems

How would anyone ever possibly guess that saloon girls could cause a modern day brawl. Just two weeks ago when Mrs. Ermine Worrell, director of the A&M Consolidated Speech Department, announced the cast for the upcoming play, "Aaron Slick from Punkin Crick," two of the cast helpers, Wallace Ann Chamberlain and Mary Ann Franklin, had no earthly idea where they might find some 1850-1800 saloon costumes.

Endless hours were spent telephoning local residents and rummaging through musty trunks for a lead, but alas, no costumes were to be found. One of the boys at Consolidated even volunteered his grandmother, an ex-saloon dancer, to help the girls dress matter.

However, after writing her, she replied that the saloon gowns were now the property of her home town museum.

One week to the deadline and the girls were beginning to think about getting last summer's bikini's and sewing feathers on them. Calling C. K. Esten for a suggestion, he quickly replied when asked if he knew where any saloon girls' costumes could be located—"I don't know any saloon girls. If I did I might be able to steal their costumes."

Last week out of a muddy horizon, Barbara Cook and Lila Wells, Bryanites, were contacted and volunteered their costumes that they used last summer for the production of Oklahoma.

You can well imagine the surprise Mary Anne and Wallace Ann felt when they could barely squeeze into their costumes. But with the help of miracle reducing pills, several thousand push-ups and meals of dried raisins—victory.

The play will be held in the school cafeteria tomorrow and Friday at 8 p.m. Tickets sold in advance will go for 50 cents, while ducats at the door will sell for 75 cents.
