TWU Coeds Get Weekend Underway

The appearance of six coeds from Texas Woman's University, headed by Aggie Sweetheart Louise Kuehn, highlighted yell practice last night in the Grove as Aggies warmed up for the coming weekend in Dallas at the first Corps Trip.

Miss Kuehn was introduced by last year's sweetheart, Rose Anne Ammarato, following the intro-

Senate Discusses Dress, Editorials

Discussions on the dress of civilian students on campus and two recent editorials in the Skiff, the official college newspaper at TCU, headed a regular bi-monthly meeting of the Student Senate last night.

The Senate agreed to submit an official letter to college officials concerning civilian dress after a report from the Civilian Student Council listed six proposals drawn up and approved by the group.

These proposals were 1) no t-shirts or old football jerseys will be worn, 2) no shower shoes, 3) no tattered trousers, 4) socks at all times, 5) a neat over-all appearance will be required and 6) the rulings will be enforced by faculty and staff members.

The incident over the TCU editorials concerned the cannon incident following the Aggie-Frog clash here Oct. 15. Two different editorials were read degrading the conduct of the Corps of Cadets during the incident.

The senators unanimously agreed to write a letter of explanation to the officials of the TCU publications, explaining the causes for the incident.

In other business the group discussed the AggieLand '61 and heard several dislikes discussed over the AggieLand '60. These included the civilian individual pictures, pin-ups, old pictures of seniors and the availability of miscellaneous snapshots.

It was also brought out that the proposed trip of the band to Washington is still pending, with no decision yet issued by the college executive committee.

Also the Senate executive committee was named to serve as the group's constitutional committee and revealed that several changes in the constitution are being contemplated.

The senators then discussed the proposed Twelfth Man Bowl and the group's participation in the Memorial Fund.

The Twelfth Man Bowl was turned over to the Issues Committee, which participation in the Mem-

A&M Graduate Receives Nod In Competition

R. L. (Bob) Hunt, Jr., a graduate of A&M, has been nominated to the Freedoms Foundation Gold Medal Award Competition. The Foundation gives awards to any person or group who has made a contribution to a better understanding of the American way of life.

Hunt, who graduated in 1950, is now with the Agricultural Extension Service in Nacogdoches. Before joining the A&M System he was vice president of Oklahoma Christian College.

Hunt's nomination was based on an address given to more than 20,000 people in over 300 civic and religious meetings in a two-year period. The address was entitled "Pursuit of Godliness, Our National Purpose?"

Spiritual Dedication
He said in his address the successful solutions to grace international and domestic problems facing the United States today will be determined by the degree of spiritual dedication of American citizens.

It was estimated that Hunt traveled over 90,000 miles throughout the southwest in presenting his address.

Hunt is the son of Dr. and Mrs. R. L. Hunt, of 300 Montclair St. in College Station. Dr. Hunt is a professor in the Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology.

The Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa., was organized in 1949 as a non-profit, non-sectarian, non-political, patriotic group. According to the foundation's charter, it exists "to create and build an understanding of the spirit and philosophy of the Constitution and Bill of Rights and of our 'bundle' of indivisible political and economic freedoms inherent in them. To inspire love of freedom and to support the spiritual unity born of the belief that man is a dignified human being, created in the image of his Maker, and by that fact possessor of certain inalienable rights."

Battle For SWC Cellar Rages Tomorrow In Dallas

A&M-SMU Grid Clash
... battle of the cellar dwellers

Cadets Favored By 6 Points

By JOE CALLICOATTE

The battle of the bottom rungs on the Southwest Conference ladder will be staged tomorrow in Dallas' Cotton Bowl as the A&M Cadets meet the winless Southern Methodist University Mustangs.

Bottom may ring a bell in some people's mind as just another cellar battle, but it will be far from that since the Cadets have become known by some sports writers as the "near miss" champions and there's no doubt that the ponies are on the upgrade.

In last week's game with Texas University, the Mustangs showed a definite improvement as they fell, 17-7. With a few breaks going their way, the score may have been better for SMU.

Must Be Watched
SMU certainly can't be taken with a grain of salt with men like Frank Jackson, Jerry Mays and newly discovered Gene (Tank) Sherman. Jackson is "Mr. Everything" in the Pony backfield while Mays is a stalwart tackle in the SMU line.

Sherman had played fullback during his freshman year, but was moved to guard last year. The week preceding the Texas game, Sherman went back to his old fullback position and from his performance last Saturday may have found a home.

Both Mays and Jackson were honorable mention on the Dallas Morning News Back and Lineman of the week for their play against Texas.

Aggies Favored
The Aggies are picked to win Saturday's game by a slim margin of 5½ points, but Arkansas left its mark in the Aggie injury column as Russell Hill nursed an ankle injury; Bobby Huntington hurt a knee; Babe Craig, who missed last week's game, is still doubtful; and Jack Estes' playing status is indefinite.

On the ground, the Cadets are still a big threat to any team as they rank third in the conference. This point was well illustrated in last week's game with Arkansas.

Carrying the brunt of the offensive load is Sam Byer with 341 yards; Lee Roy Caffey with 166 and Jim Murphy with 151 yards.

One thing for sure, no matter how many statistics and records are quoted, the fate of any SWC game won't be determined until the final gun has sounded. With this year's closely matched teams, this philosophy is more valid than ever before.

Chemistry Research Pact Renewed

A research contract from the Office of Ordnance Research, U. S. Army, to the Department of Chemistry, has been renewed for two more years. It is now in effect.

Since June 1, 1959, the Department of Chemistry has had a research contract from the OOR, U. S. Army, amounting to about $19,000 for research on a new type of compounds called boroxazolidines. The renewed contract, like the old one, will be administered through the A&M Research Foundation and is directed by Dr. H. K. Zimmerman of the department, as chief investigator.

The renewed contract for $35,440 also provides for research assistantships for two graduate students in the department, currently occupied by George N. Chremos of College Station and Yecheskal Rasiel of Israel.

"Very little was known about the practical applications of boroxazolidines when our research on them began about two years ago," Zimmerman says. "Partly as a result of our studies, some interest has now developed in their investigation in connection with the fields of pharmacology, of agriculture (as possible plant-growth regulators) and more recently in electronics (as potential semi-conductors). The potential applications in these areas are still highly speculative, but they deserve further examination."

Soil Judgers Win Top Place At Littlefield

Top honors went to the A&M Soil Judging Team recently at Littlefield when the Aggies took first place in a regional soil judging contest.

Leading the team were Sim Reeves of Fort Stockton and George Alston of Temple, who tied for second place in the individual awards. Other members of the team were John O'Comer of Petty and Allen Swoboda of Victoria.

J. F. Mills, associate professor of agronomy and A&M's team coach, was named the contest's outstanding coach.

Candidates Cross Paths in Ft. Worth

By The Associated Press

Flaming political war continued over Texas Friday with Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the GOP presidential choice, and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, the Democratic vice presidential candidate, beginning the day in Fort Worth.

It was one of the few times during the 1960 campaign that two of the principal opponents crossed paths in the same city.

Johnson landed at 7:10 p. m. Thursday night, stepping jauntily from his plane, "The LBJ Victory Special," behind his smiling wife, Lady Bird.

He got off the plane waving a ten-gallon hat to the cheers of the crowd, estimated unofficially at 2,000.

Largest Crowd Ever

Nixon arrived at 10:57 p. m. and was greeted by the largest airport crowd yet to meet a candidate in Texas—estimated by police at from 12,000 to 15,000.

Ham-Hock and Beans

Johnson moved from the airport reception to a fund-raising ham-hock and beans dinner attended by 3,800 persons.

He planned to stay in the Dallas-Fort Worth area most of the day with appearances at Arlington, Grand Prairie and at the Wynewood shopping center in the Oak Cliff section of Dallas. He flies to Houston Friday night.

Nixon spoke Friday at 8 a. m. at Fort Worth's Burk Burnett Park.

Labor Backing

Nixon, in Texas appearances Thursday hit hard at what he called the Kennedy-Johnson ticket's labor backing.

"I can think of nothing more detrimental to this nation than for any president to owe his election to, and thereby be a captive of, a political boss like Walter Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers Union."

Sen. John Kennedy turned to a discussion of farm problems in Amarillo.

"It is precisely because his own program does not meet the farmer's needs that Mr. Nixon has fallen back on the blackmailer's tactics of distorted threats—of threats to the consumer and threats to the farmer," he said.

RESULT DUE TOMORROW

United Chest Money Flowing

United Chest contributions have begun flowing in this week as ambitious workers push the drive in Bryan, College Station and on the A&M Campus.

Results of the first week of effort will be determined this afternoon at a meeting in the Memorial Student Center, when workers gather to report their collections.

Many working on the drive report the people's overall response to the program has been very encouraging so far, although they have had opportunity to see only a few samples of the general public here.

The United Chest Committee is working under the theme, "One day's pay: The United Way!" Chairmen have said this is only a yardstick to the program, and any contributions will be welcome.

Cuba Expects US Attack

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa said Thursday night it was logical to expect a U. S. invasion of Cuba by next Tuesday to put Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the White House.

Roa said Nixon's election depends on "another 'glorious victory' of North American imperialism in Cuba."

He added that "it is logical to presume that this aggression must take place before Nov. 8."

New Nuclear Weapon Hinted

NEW YORK—A former Atomic Energy Commissioner spoke guardedly Thursday night of a revolutionary new type of nuclear weapon—"a third generation weapon, as radically different from the H-bomb as the H-bomb was from the Hiroshima-type A-bomb."

Thomas E. Murray, who served on the AEC from 1950 until 1957, discussed the new weapon in an open letter to presidential candidates Richard M. Nixon and John F. Kennedy, in which he again urged resumption of nuclear tests.

"I take it for granted that the Soviet Union is actively developing nuclear technology along this revolutionary line. I must assume that they have done some preliminary tests of the new 'fantastic' weapon. Such tests could easily have been carried on without detection," he said.
