

Sharpshooters Cop Conference Crown

The Southwest Conference small-bore rifle championship went to the A&M Rifle Team when the Aggies defeated the defending champion Texas University team 1,423 to 1395.

The rifle match, which was held in Austin, was the climax of a perfect season for the A&M team at they finished the conference undefeated.

High point man in the match with a score of 292 out of a possible 300 was J. M. Wilkerson, Aggie senior from De Leon.

Other members of the team were Franklin Loudermilk, senior from De Leon; Mack Hodges, freshman from Arlington, Va.; James Elder, sophomore from College Station, and Gary Lee Byrd, freshman from Dallas.

Coaches for the team are Capt. William D. Old and M/Sgt. Coy M. McCollum.

The remainder of the school year will be devoted to rifle matches with colleges and universities from throughout the United States.

The next match will be at Fort Hood Saturday against all colleges and universities in the Fourth Army area.

Aggieland Club Pics Due Dec. 16

All club pictures for The Aggie-land '61 must be scheduled by Dec. 16, according to a release from Charles Moore, Club Section Editor.

A representative of each club should come by the Student Publications Office on the ground floor of the YMCA Building as soon as possible for scheduling, Moore declared.

Needed for the page will be a write-up of the club's activities (less than 200 words), a list of officers and the president's or sweetheart's picture. If the club purchases a full page, both pictures may be used.

The release continued, "The write-ups should be very well written: remember, this will reflect upon your whole organization. Try to start the paragraphs without 'The.'"

"To add variety to the club section of this year's Aggie-land, we suggest the pictures be taken in a place which indicates the nature of the club. For example, the Geology Club should have its pictures taken in front of the Geology Building."

Pictures and write-ups must be turned in to the Office of Student Publications. Prices are $50 for a full page and $30 for a half page.

'LOOKS GREAT!'

Grandpa Kennedy Thrilled With Nineteenth Grandchild

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON—Grandpa Kennedy got his first peek Tuesday at his new grandson, John F. Kennedy Jr.

And Joseph P. Kennedy's reaction after seeing his 19th grandchild was what you'd expect a proud grandfather to say:

Reporters asked whether, as the father of nine children, he had any advice for John Jr.'s dad, the president-elect.

"No, I think he's done all right, don't you?" said Kennedy.

The elder Kennedy's visit livened the day for reporters keeping vigil at Georgetown University Hospital, where the newest Kennedy was born last Friday.

The boy's doctor, Dr. Edward B. Brooks, said the child will be kept in an incubator another 24 to 48 hours. John Jr. was placed in the incubator immediately after his caesarian section birth, a precaution normal with premature babies.

Dr. Brooks said the oxygen in the incubator was shut off Tuesday morning, but may be used again for a while to rest the baby. He is being left in the incubator for warmth, the doctor explained adding:

"He's not comfortable if we have to put covers on him."

Mrs. Kennedy goes each afternoon to look at the baby in the incubator in a nursery across the hall from her room. She has not yet held the child.

Debaters Off To Good Start, Plan Two Trips For Year

By ROBERT DENNEY
The Aggie Debate and Discussion Club, which sponsors the A&M Debate Teams, is running like a ball of fire.

The A&M Debate Tournament, which the club runs each year, was a great success this year, and the debate teams are going great guns with a trip to Arkansas this weekend and one to Austin next week.

The question under study in inter-collegiate debate this year is compulsory medical insurance and the club has been busy digging up material for the various tournaments which will be held throughout the rest of the year.

Williamson and Dennis Shepps, will be on the stage doing the actual debating; however, the Junior Team will have an important part in the debate. It will be part of their job to ask the opposing team embarrassing questions to point out weak parts of their arguments. All the colleges in the state will be invited to send a Junior and a Senior Team.

Soviets Want UN To Stop Congo Moves

By The Associated Press
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—The Soviet Union demanded an end to the vast U. N. operation in the Congo Tuesday on grounds that Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold had bankrupted the United Nations in order to pay for it.

The demand came in the U. N. General Assembly's Budgetary Committee after the United States announced it will contribute about $14 million more than its normal share of the Congo operation, and appealed to all U. N. members to help shoulder the financial burden involved.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., announced the voluntary contribution.

Aiken, a member of the U. S. delegation, said the U. N. Congo operation is the collective responsibility of all members of this organization and we must all contribute—and make our contributions commensurate with our ability to pay."

Will Not Pay
But Soviet Delegate A. A. Roschin replied that his country would not pay any part of an operation he asserted was dictated by the United States and other Western Powers.

He said the Western powers had brought about chaos in the Congo and asked: "Why should we pay good money for it?"

He unleashed a blistering attack on Hammarskjold, accusing him of illegally bringing the United Nations into bankruptcy by carrying out the Congo operation on behalf of the United States and its allies.

Hammarskjold has warned the United Nations that its treasury will be empty by the end of the year unless members pay up their regular assessments and an estimated $66 million needed to carry the Congo operation through the end of this year. Hammarskjold has said that unless this was done the United Nations would have to withdraw the 20,000-man force now in the Congo.

Roschin said the United States dictated U. N. policy in the Congo and that Belgium, the United States and its allies should therefore underwrite the cost.

College Debate is not just two or more people standing up and arguing with one another; in fact, debate is extremely formal and rigid rules must be observed. The personal feelings of the debaters should not enter into his debating, because the teams must be able to argue both sides of a question.

Try Two Trips

The Debate Teams try to make at least two trips each year before the Southwest Conference Competition. This year, the teams chose to go to Arkansas and our own tournament here at A&M. These trips are paid for from the profits of the Exchange Store. Last year the debaters brought back two trophies, one from the Southwest Conference and one from the University of Houston.

The debaters have been invited to Dallas to appear on nation-wide television by the Sinclair Oil Company this spring. A series of debates leading to the Championship of the State will be televised. A&M's first debate will be against Lamar Technological College on the subject of federal aid to education.

The winner of the first round will receive $1,000 for the school's scholarship fund and the losers will get $500 for their school. Because of time limitations, each speaker will be allowed only three minutes for his opening comment.

Army Restores Calm After Caracas Riots

CARACAS, Venezuela—The army restored relative calm to shak- en Caracas Tuesday after a night of bloody rioting by leftists accused of trying to impose a Cuban-style revolution in Venezuela.

But as the death toll rose to six from five days of disorders, the government sent guardsmen into the big oil fields to protect the vital industry from sabotage. President Romulo Betancourt ordered the guardsmen to patrol pumping installations and refineries in both eastern and western Venezuela.

Leftists still were active in Caracas, outlying districts despite strict bans on demonstrations, the vigilance of the army and a heavy rain that discouraged trouble-makers in the heart of this capital.

Fire Arriest
Demonstrators tried to burn a bus in the southern suburb of Chaguanos despite orders to shoot such firebrands on sight. Firemen saved the bus.

Social Christian party students supporting Betancourt fought their way into classrooms at Caracas University past Communists trying to force a student strike. Police and soldiers did not try to enter the grounds, respecting the university's autonomy.

A leftist demonstration at Miguel Caro High School in the western part of the city also was reported.

After the guns fell silent, police announced two more rioters had been killed, bringing the toll to six dead in the disorders that began Friday night. Another 102 persons have been wounded by bullets or injured by flying rocks, police said.

Soldiers used automatic weapons at some points as the night rioting spread from the densely populated working-class districts of western Caracas to the fashionable eastern end, where most foreigners live.

Shots rang through the night as mobs burned buses, hurled gasoline bombs at business houses and attacked the U. S.-owned General Tire Co. factory.

Noted Lecturer To Discuss American Relations

Frank Gibler, noted news writer and lecturer, will speak on "Relations Between the Countries of the Americas", in the Ballroom of the Memorial Student Center Friday at 8 p. m.

Gibler, a native of Kentucky, has been interested in this subject for many years. Starting as a staff writer for the Houston Chronicle in 1913, he covered the Mexican Revolution with Pancho Villa's troops. Later, he was appointed Consul in Guadalajara where he served from 1920-1922.

The speech is presented by the A&M Pan American Club.

Kiwanians Induct John E. Oliver, Retired Colonel

The College Station Kiwanis Club formally inducted Col. John E. Oliver into its ranks yesterday. Oliver, a professor in the Division of Business Administration, recently retired from the Army.

He was sponsored into the civic group by Walter Manning.

Oliver obtained his MA at A&M in 1937.

He lives at 1207 Winding Rd. in College Station.
