FROM CANADA TO MEXICO

A 'Delegates - Eye - View' Of SCONA Impressions

By TOMMY HOLBEIN

Various impressions of the Sixth Student Conference on National Affairs have been seen by delegates representing a large geographic area, extending from Canada through the United States, to Mexico and abroad.

Some of these impressions are as follows:

Miss Simmie Gibson of the University of New Mexico said,

"All of the students representing the various schools seem extremely well-versed in international affairs, and this has contributed tremendously to the success of the roundtable discussions. The interchange of ideas has been thought-provoking, and I have greatly enjoyed hearing these different views on such important subjects as we have discussed so far."

Doug Smith of the Air Force Academy said,

"Ahmed's talk was the best I have heard in a long time; his topic was one which captured my interest from the start, and his presentation was terrific! I feel that it is a real tribute that SCONA VI was able to bring the ambassador from Pakistan to speak on such a topic, and I believe he spoke with true insight and understanding."

"The round-table discussions appeared to involve too many ramblings off on tangents to the general topics to be discussed, but it was interesting to hear the impressions of other students on these issues. I feel I've gained a wealth of knowledge from them, although I believe they could be slightly more organized," he added.

Miss Gale Moore of Trinity University had this to say:

"The round-table discussions have been steadily improving, as the students become better acquainted with their respective groups, and people are beginning to express themselves more freely in these discussions."

"I believe this is good, and hope this improvement will continue, as the students begin to participate more fully in the expression of different viewpoints on the issues at hand."

John Farrell, delegate from the University of Colorado, said, "The idea of this conference is great, and I think it is commendable that we can get together to discuss these issues. However, the element of conflict seems to be lacking in the conference."

"It seems that controversy has been lacking among the speakers, and all have followed a general pattern of enlightenment but without any dispute or adverse ideas to the stand of the United States in foreign affairs."

"Also, it seems to me the entire conference is militarily dominated; the outstanding military leaders we have here to talk with and hear, are experts in their field, but I have the impression the side of the military has been too greatly emphasized."

Miss Susan Wood of the University of Houston said,

"The significant thing about these discussions is that the delegates will have so much to carry back home to their own schools and to tell their fellow students. A wealth of knowledge has already come forth from the discussions, and I am sure every student present has profited immensely from them. I know I have!"

"I am also very impressed with A&M, and the gracious courtesy shown by everyone from the college that I've met. I really love it here," she added.

As a distinguished lecturer, he will participate in a program of the nation's top petroleum engineering organization designed to provide professional-level, in-service training for members of the Society of Petroleum Engineers. Enrollment in the national group includes some 14,000 professional petroleum engineers.

Calhoun Named To Engineering National Post

Dr. John C. Calhoun, Jr., vice chancellor for development of the A&M College System, has been named one of three distinguished lecturers for the National Society of Petroleum Engineers for 1961.

As a distinguished lecturer, he will participate in a program of the nation's top petroleum engineering organization designed to provide professional-level, in-service training for members of the Society of Petroleum Engineers. Enrollment in the national group includes some 14,000 professional petroleum engineers.

Calhoun's lectures will be on "Petroleum Engineering in Perspective" and will deal with petroleum engineering in relation to other engineering disciplines, relationships with the basic sciences, the history of petroleum engineering and its potential for worldwide service.

Calhoun joined the A&M College System as Dean of Engineering in 1955, after four years as head of petroleum engineering at the University of Oklahoma and five years as head of petroleum engineering at Pennsylvania State.

LIFT A CHILD

...and hold him above you.

You don't expect a child to stand toe to toe with a man. You lift a child . . . and hold him above you.

You don't expect a child to understand fully what is right and wrong.

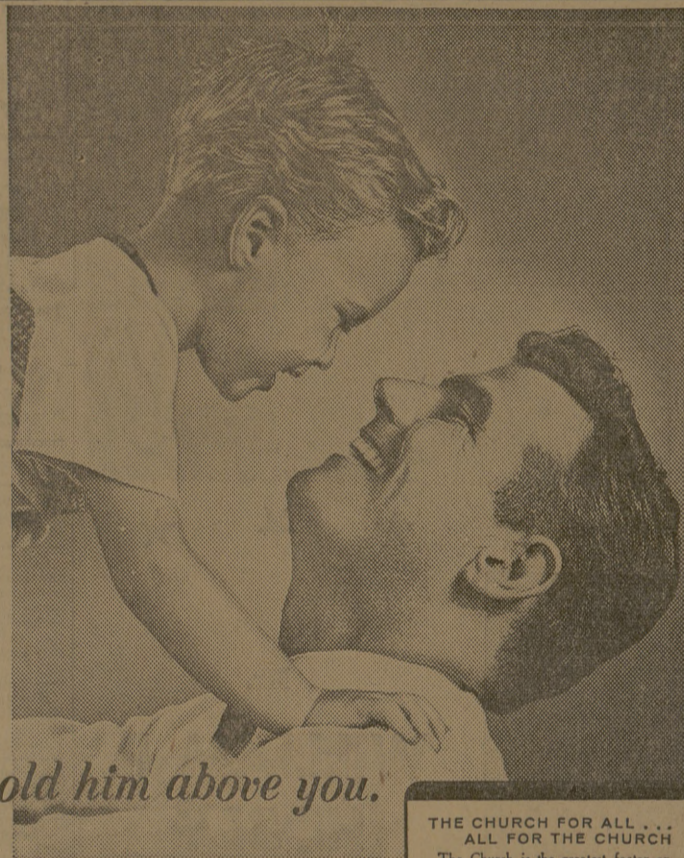

You don't expect a child to comprehend every spiritual ideal.

You don't expect a child to sense instinctively the constant concern of God in his life.

You lift a child . . . you give him the opportunity in his Church and in his Christian home to gain moral and religious insights.

And you hold him above you . . . dedicating your own time and strength to your Church so that you and your child can find together the spiritual foundation on which men should build their lives.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
