

THOSE LAST 15 SECONDS Kilgore Falls, 66 - 65, To Late-Striking Fish

The Aggie Fish basketball team scored their third win of the season in Kilgore last night as they defeated the Kilgore College Rangers, 66-65.

Kilgore got the jump on the Fish in the opening minutes of play and were ahead by eight points midway through the first half. However, the Fish came back to make up the difference, and a little extra, as the half time score was 40-36.

Even Second Half
The game went nip and tuck all during the second period of play and with only 15 seconds left, Kilgore was ahead, 65-64. This is when the Fish's Bill Robnett stepped in to steal the ball from the Rangers and dribbled the length of the court and missed a layup while heavily guarded. But Bennie Lennox was at the right place at the right time to tip in the winning two points.

boosted Lennox's scoring to 27 for the night and made him high point man for the game.

Gerald Woodward of the Rangers netted 24 points for second place honors while teammate Bennie Johnson had 16.

Burgess Leads All With 31.4 Average

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK—Frank Burgess of Gonzaga, who lifted his average to 31.4 points, is the nation's major-college basketball scoring leader for the fourth straight week, the latest NCAA Service Bureau statistics showed Thursday.

Burgess scored 32 points in a losing cause against Washington State last Thursday, giving him 408 points in 13 games. Tom Chilton of East Tennessee State is second with a 30.3 average on 303 points in 10 outings. He is followed by Tom Stith of St. Bonaventure, 29.5; Terry Dischinger of Purdue, 28.4; Bill McCall of Utah, 27.3, and All-America Jerry Lucas of Ohio State, 26.3. The records include games of Tuesday, Jan. 10.

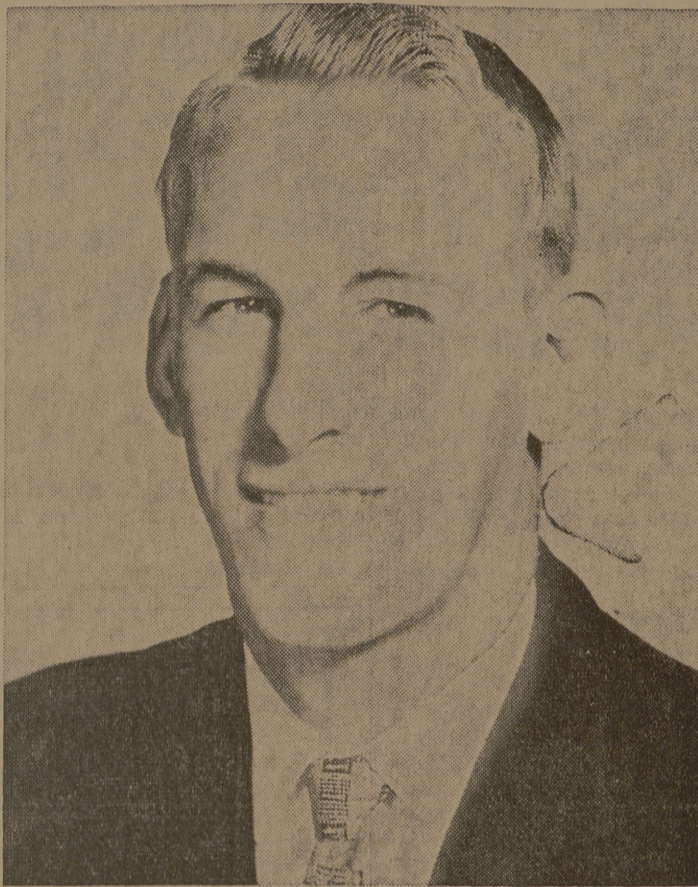

St. Bonaventure's 103-71 triumph over Gannon enabled the Upstate New York team to regain the team offense lead from Memphis State. The once-beaten Bonnies are averaging exactly 90 points a game. Memphis State is the runner-up with 89.7. Then come Ohio State, top-ranked in the Associated Press poll, 87.6 and West Virginia, 86.1. The Mountaineers leaped from 15th to fourth place.

St. Bonaventure also is the top club in field goal accuracy with a .507 mark and Ohio State has the best percentage from the free throw line, .781. Bradley's Braves are the rebound leaders, having controlled 61.9 per cent of the rebounds in their games.

Santa Clara is the defense pacesetter, having yielded only 655 points in 14 games for a 46.8 average. San Jose State is next with 49.1.

Lucas, the Buckeyes' big gun, is the individual leader in field goal marksmanship with a .619 percentage and in rebounds with .207. Pete Chudy of Syracuse heads the free throw list with .932 on 30 conversions in 32 tries.

2nd-Ranked Bradley Stunned By U of H

HOUSTON, Tex.—A free throw by Jim Lemmon, senior from Wood River, Ill., with 35 seconds to play gave the University of Houston a 60-59 upset victory Thursday night over the Bradley Braves, the nation's No. 2 ranked basketball team.

It was the first defeat of the season for Bradley after 12 victories. The upset snapped an 18-game winning streak in the game last February.

With Tim Robinson, sophomore from Chicago, hitting 22 points the first 20 minutes, Bradley took a 39-29 halftime lead, only to see Tommy Thomson lead Houston's quick comeback in the second half.

Thomson hit three quick baskets as Houston reduced the Bradley lead to 42-41 after five minutes of the second half. It was not until Ted Luckenbill sank a free throw with seven minutes to play that Houston tied the score at 58-58.

Foreign Students Told To Secure Immigration Forms

All foreign nationals residing in the United States as of Jan. 1 are required to report their address to the Immigration and Nationalization Service during January, Robert L. Melcher, foreign student advisor, said yesterday.

The forms may be secured at any post office.

Melcher said the procedure is required even if a student has not changed addresses in the past year. He urged anyone having any questions or difficulties to see him in Room 27 of Milner Hall.

FROM THE Sidelines By Joe Callicoate

Today is Friday, the Thirteenth. The ancient adage of misfortune surrounding this day could be disproved by the Cadet cagers tonight in Lubbock. Or it could weave disaster for the Ags.

A&M tangles with Texas Tech, currently tied with the University of Texas and Rice University for the second place in the loop chase, at 8 p.m. in the wilds of West Texas.

The Aggies could take a gigantic step toward the elusive SWC title between tonight and Monday night. During that brief span of 72 hours, A&M will have met Tech and Texas and could put both behind the proverbial 'eight ball' with victories.

Carting home triumphs in both encounters, the Cadets could leave the two runner-up aggregations with two lishes on their slate, while keeping theirs intact.

True, none of the schools are out of the title picture, but the Red Raiders and the Steers currently pose the most formidable threats. Both Tech and Texas have had the troubles over the season, each looking erratic at times, while playing superb basketball at other times.

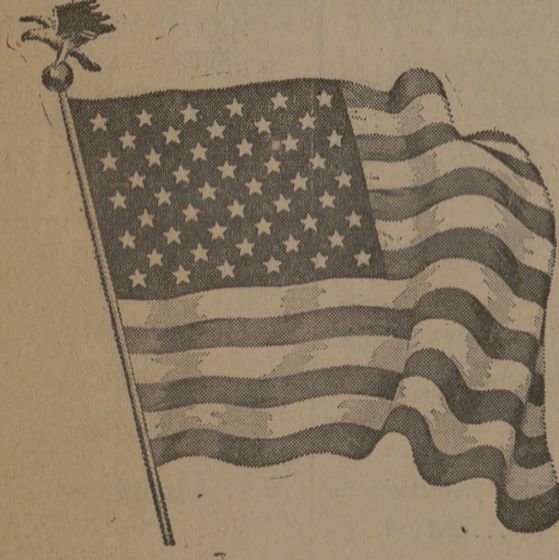

On the other hand, the Aggies boast the most impressive record in the Conference. And, what's more, their losses have come from nationally ranked Kansas State University, Oklahoma State University and the University of Oklahoma.

But before we get carried away with the attributes of the Aggie basketball fortunes, let's look back at the fortunes of last year. A similar situation existed at the stage as the Cadets wearing two hats. Not only were they riding at the top of the SWC, but they were holding the No. 7 post in the national rankings.

Still, the Aggies slowed down. They cooled off. They died. And when the smoke had cleared, the SWC cage was resting in the cases at the University of Texas.

Evidently, A&M is striving to elude a repeat of last year as Bob Rogers' demands for perfection are being satisfied, as seen last Tuesday when the Aggies swamped Kansas. There is still a long way to go, but the first step in a short cut would be victories against Tech and Texas.

Incidentally, gentlemen, the game tonight is broadcast over Radio Station KORA. See you 'round the radio.
