

Calhoun Again Elected Prexy Of United Chest

At its final meeting the 1960 committee for the College Station United Chest elected Dr. John C. Calhoun general chairman for the coming year. Dr. Calhoun served as chairman of the campus drive in the 1960 campaign and was responsible for a major segment of the total effort. He is Vice Chancellor for Development of the A&M College System.

In the 1960 campaign the final treasurer's report presented by Michael Krenitsky showed that a total of $15,365.20 had been raised. This exceeds the goal sought by $215.20. As a result, the committee voted to award to each of the participating agencies the full amount originally budgeted to it in the campaign.

KHRUSHCHEV SPEECH SAYS World Communist Movement Supports Liberation Wars

By The Associated Press
MOSCOW — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev says the world Communist movement fully supports wars of national liberation.

The Soviet leader in a 20,000-word speech published Tuesday in the magazine Kommunist called such conflicts a third class of war as distinguished from total thermonuclear and limited "brush fire" wars.

Khrushchev declared that war is not necessary for a victory by world communism, which he said "is not far off."

But he warned in his speech, a report delivered Jan. 6 to a general meeting of party organizations in Moscow, that war will come if capitalist nations try to resist communism's victory — a victory he said is "inevitable by the laws of historical development."

Third Class
Khrushchev cited the present Algerian conflict as an example of the third class of war.

Khrushchev said of Algeria: "It is a sacred war. We recognize such wars. We have helped and shall go on helping people fighting for their freedom."

As another example he mentioned the revolution in Cuba and said that "led by Fidel Castro the people of Cuba won." Khrushchev noted that the United States "did not directly intervene in that war."

His samples of the second class of war, local war which might develop into big ones, were the Indochina fighting of 1953-54 and British-French action in Suez in 1956. He made no mention of the fighting in Laos.

He said it was to communism's advantage to avoid annihilating thermonuclear and "brush fire" wars.

Khrushchev also declared the Soviet Union was sincerely for disarmament which he called "the most important factor in preventing war," and also an important factor in the fight against imperialism.

Fertile Field

The Soviet premier saw a fertile field for communism in the awakening of the nations of Asia, Africa and Latin America which he said was second only to the emergence of the world socialist system in historic impact.

He predicted that "fascist dungeons in the Union of South Africa will crumble to dust. Rhodesia, Uganda and other parts of Africa will be free."

"The working class, which today governs a vast area of the world and in time will rule the whole world," Khrushchev said, "cannot allow the doomed forces of imperialism to drag hundreds of millions of people into the grave with them."

One of the means for preventing a new war is the development of "peace fronts" throughout the world, including pacifists of all political beliefs, he said.

Another is the policy of peaceful coexistence.

He said the policy of peaceful coexistence "facilitates the activities of the Communist party and other progressive organizations of the working class in the capitalist countries, makes it easier for the peoples to combat aggressive war blocs and foreign military bases and contribute to the success of the national liberation movement."

Two A&M Biologists Author Book

"A Manual of Common Beetles of Eastern North America" is the title of a new book by two A&M biologists.

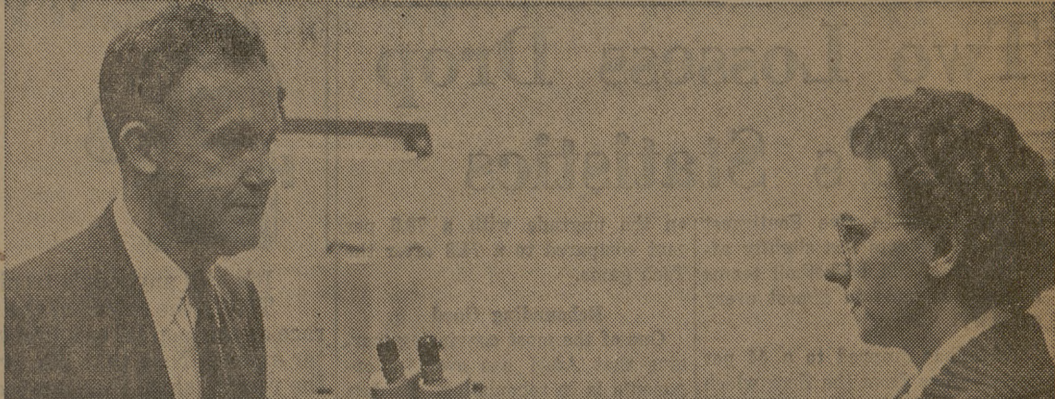

The authors are Dr. Lawrence S. Dillon, associate professor in the Department of Biology, and his wife, Elizabeth.

The 896-page book was published Jan. 1 by Row Peterson and Co. Pictures include 17 full color figures by Dr. Dillon and 1,800 black and white illustrations. The book is expected to be widely used by amateur collectors and experts.

Work on the manual was begun in 1934 and continued with brief interruptions until its publication this year.

Dr. Dillon came to A&M in 1948 and has since had 30 research papers published in the fields of systematic zoology and evolution. A second book of his, "A Manual of General Biology," is being published by the Macmillan Co.

Mrs. Dillon received her degree in biology at the University of Pittsburgh. She is a member of the A&M Department of Poultry Science and is conducting research in experimental embryology.

'DEAD WEEK' VIEWS

oring in economics, said, "Finals are next week and I haven't had any review whatsoever in any of my courses. A student can review much more effectively with help from his professors."

Voris Riley, senior from Odessa majoring in journalism, said, "An ideal situation for the week before finals would be that all labs were completed before the week ever started, and all major quizzes were already given."

"As it is, I have major quizzes like everyone else, and many of us are beginning to wonder just what happened to dead week as it used to be known."

"Several years ago, the week before finals was truly a time dedicated to studying for the finals, with no obstructions. Now, it is just a week where the pros try to cram what's left in the course that they haven't taught, into their students' notes, so they can be held responsible for this on the final."

Mickey Metcalf, junior industrial distribution major from Dalhart, said, "The only thing dead about dead week is the students, after it is over."

"This week, supposedly set aside for everyone to review for finals, or complete their preparations for finals, by no means allows anyone time to do this."

"The professors do have an argument, in that many of them feel it would be impossible to arrange their courses where everything is finished two weeks before final exams."
