

Royal May Have His Best Team

By The Associated Press
AUSTIN—Coach Darrell Royal is constructing what could be his greatest team at the University of Texas when spring football workouts begin Feb. 13. Twenty-five lettermen from the 1960 team return plus a bumper crop from the unbeaten-untied freshman team.

Many sports observers have tagged this wealth of material as the best Coach Royal has whistled together for a spring session drill since he arrived at Texas four years ago.

The 25 lettermen, composed of 10 seniors and 15 juniors, include such prominent backs as James Saxton and Jack Collins.

Other top performers include quarterback Duke Carlisle of Athens, halfback Tommy Ford of San Angelo, tackles Robert Young of Brownwood and Scott Appleton of Brady and guards Bobby Gamblin of Stamford and George Brucks of Hondo.

Royal's biggest problem is filling the gaps left by departing seniors, guard Monte Lee and end Larry Cooper. He will have 20 days to start fashioning his 1961 production.

The four-week drills will be climaxed Mar. 11 by the annual intra-squad game.

Texas had a regular season 7-3 record and finished in a tie for second in the Southwest Conference. They tied Alabama, 3-3 in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

A&M-Texas Grid Guess Wins $75

An A&M junior and four Texas University students have won cash prizes in the A&M-TU "score the Game" contest sponsored by the Leggett and Myers Tobacco Co.

The A&M winner is William Steve Taylor, a junior accounting major from Dallas, who won $75 with a tie for second place.

Taylor correctly guessed the score at 21-14 in favor of Texas but was lowered to second place on the weight of missing the half-time score.

The winner of first prize and $300 was Bob Schneider. Clifton Holmes tied for second with Taylor, while Arvid B. Peterson and Terry Milne tied for third place.

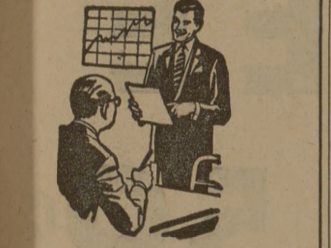

Contestants in the company's contest series were from over 100 United States colleges and numbered into the thousands.

The visitors from Owensboro sailed from the early moments it were still very much in the game with nine minutes to play. Then in the next four minutes Louisville guard Jodie Frazier sank three vital field goals that at the game beyond the Panthers' reach.

Louisville's halftime lead was 2-35. Bud Olsen led the Cardinals with 20 points.

FROM THE Sidelines

By Joe Callicoate

Southwest Conference fathers have reportedly been negotiating with Big 10 officials for a post-season bowl game but reports indicate very little chance of a definite agreement being made.

The Bluebonnet Bowl has already issued an emphatic "no" to any such agreement, even though it is probable such an agreement could possibly enable the Houston classic to virtually remove the Cotton Bowl.

The Associated Press has said such a proposal was made at a recent Big 10 trustees meeting and several of the representatives thought highly of the idea.

The Big 10 has been on shaky terms with Pacific Coast officials for some time over the Rose Bowl set-up that pits the Big 10 champ against the king-pin of the newly-formed Big 5.

A Southwest Conference official has been quoted as saying, "Any agreement of the type being proposed would mean the end of the Cotton Bowl and I don't think there's any sentiment toward doing that at this time."

It has also been said the chances of the Big 10 and Southwest Conference agreeing on a date other than Jan. 1 and a city other than Dallas are unlikely.

A rule instigated in the early 1930's has caused the suspension from school of TCU basketball star Jerry Cobb.

Cobb, along with his wife, has been suspended from the Fort Worth school for being secretly married, Dean of Students Laurence C. Smith has announced.

Cobb, a 6-3, 210 pounder, married in November. His wife was also a TCU student.

The senior from Dallas was the conference's leading rebounder with an average of 13 per game and also ranked in the top five in overall scoring.

He is a two-year letterman and has long been considered one of the loop's most consistent and dependable performers.

His loss by the ancient rule will undoubtedly hurt the chances of Buster Brannon's charges considerably.

The Aggie football staff has now been completed for next fall's campaign and Coach Jim Myers' crew is pointing toward the beginning of spring drills Feb. 18.

Jack Thomas from Mississippi Southern has been named to fill the last vacated post after Ty Bain moved to the local campus from Kilgore High School.

The two new mentors replace Willie Zapalac and Matt Lair, both going to Texas Tech.

Broussard Ranks High In Virtually All Phases

A&M's prolific Carroll Broussard, the Southwest Conference's leading scorer in both conference and season action, ranks high in practically every department of the official conference statistics released yesterday by the conference office in Dallas.

Broussard in season play has counted for 111 field goals and 99 charity tosses for a total of 321 points. In conference action the Port Arthur junior has scored 146 points.

Percentage figures show Broussard with a 46.6 overall season field goal mark and a 81.1 free throw mark. In conference play he has percentages of 54.3 and 81.5, respectively.

The figures showed Broussard eighth in season rebounds with 119 for a 8.5 average per game.

Other members of Coach Bob Rogers' crew to show up highly in the statistics were Pat Stanley, sixth in conference field goal totals with 25 and a 53.2 percentage; and Stanley and Wayne Annett, second and third respectively in conference free toss statistics.

Stanley has made 14 of 17 gratis shots for an 82.4 mark, while Annett has an 81.8 mark on 18 of 22 shots.

Unheralded youngsters previously relegated to secondline roles are crowding into the limelight in most of the statistical departments.

Three of the six departmental leaders to date are performers whose about-face play has marked the early phase of the conference campaign. And still others who started the season virtually incognito are high among the pace-setters in the other three departments.

SMU's Jim Hammond, who failed to log enough time to letter as a sophomore, is leading the league in field goal percentage for conference competition, while Olle Shipley of Rice heads the accuracy listing for the full season.

Shipley averaged only 2.6 points per game in 1960, but currently ranks ninth in the conference for the year with a 13.7 mark. Hammond ranks third behind Shipley and Arkansas' Jerry Carlton in full season field goal percentages.

Mac Percival, Texas Tech junior, is the leading rebounder in conference play, with a 13.0 average, and ranks third for the season to TCU's Jerry Cobb and teammate Harold Hudgens with a 9.8 average.

Percival also has climbed to the ninth spot in field goal percentage in league play and to the thirteenth position in full season scoring after 34th a year ago.
