Directors accepted the gift of a $30,000 LaCosta and Rombert underwater gravity meter and control box which is to be used by A&M's Department of Oceanography and Geophysics in basic research relating to studies of the earth's surface.

Dr. Hugh McLellan of the Department of Oceanography and Meteorology says the device will be used on the floor of the Gulf of Mexico in conjunction with surface gravity meters on the research ship "Hidalgo" to measure acceleration of gravity on the

Contest Prizes Go To Milton, Ned H. Sandlin

Senior aeronautical engineering students Ned H. Sandlin, Fort Worth, and Daniel E. Milton, Houston, have been announced as the winners of the student paper contest of the A&M branch of the Institute of Aerospace Sciences.

These winning papers will be entered in the ninth annual Southwestern Student Paper Competition of the Institute of Aerospace Sciences at Fort Worth, Apr. 27-29; where they will compete against students from twenty-four other universities for prizes totaling $1,200.

Honorable mention was awarded to Capt. David K. Keeler, a January graduate, who is now stationed at Patrick Air Force Base, Fla.; C. R. Wimberly, Dallas, and Clyde H. Young, Jr., Eastland, both senior Aeronautical Engineering students.

Twenty-four papers were entered by students of the Department of Aeronautical Engineering in the competition here with a wide range of subject matter.

ocean's floor. Information will be used in studies to determine the most accurate possible picture of the true shape of the earth's surface, he added.

Directors also approved appropriation of $20,490 for construction of a neutron diffractometer in the Department of Physics, to be installed in the Nuclear Science Center and to be operated in conjunction with the large nuclear reactor now being constructed at College Station. The appropriation was made with the understanding that any matching funds received from outside sponsors would be applied to costs of construction.

'Art Of Living' Talk Closes RE Week

The Religious Emphasis Week at A&M ended Friday. Dr. Gaston Foote, the convocation speaker, delivered the last of the series of sermons in Guion Hall at 9 a. m.

Said Dr. Foote, pastor, First Methodist Church, Ft. Worth: "He who is master of the art of living lives in three tenses—the past in terms of appreciation—the present in terms of advantage—and the future in terms of aspiration."

"Time does not simply pass," Dr. Foote said. "It is part of eternity. Each day puts in or takes out something of eternal worth. If life is eternal we now live eternally."

"Studdert-Kennedy said there would be only one question asked in final judgement—'what did you do with your life?'"

"We observe three mottoes written over the doors of the Cathedral of Milan. This may clarify our thinking concerning eternal values. Over one door is this motto: 'All that pleases is but for the moment.' We spend so much energy dealing with things which are at best only temporary. Wealth—Jesus never denounced it. He did say we must lay up treasures in Heaven. Give money eternal values."

"Over another door: 'All that troubles is but for the moment.' Trouble is real—it can destroy us but it can be the means of our growth. It depends on how you take it. All trouble ultimately passes."

"That only is important which is eternal. Character is eternal. Time's passing does not change it. It alone endures."

EIGHT DIFFERENT UNIVERSITIES

ITS Performers Announced

By ALAN PAYNE
A list of ten acts from eight different universities has been announced for the Mar. 10 Intercollegiate Talent Show in G. Rollie White Coliseum.

The Kilgore Rangerettes have already been chosen as the opening and closing performers for the tenth annual performance, with the remaining ten acts being chosen after extensive tours of a five-state area by the ITS Talent Committee.

The acts contracted for the performance are:

The Calvert Quartet from LSU, a group of four men from the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity; Sandra Chuddy, also of LSU, a vocalist and multi-winner in beauty contests;

The Jokers of LSU, a variety music group that will be appearing for the third consecutive year; Johnny Knowles, a guitarist from TCU;

Clyde Bateman, a vocalist from Texas Tech;

The Trio Columbia of Texas University, a vocal group specializing in Latin numbers;

Dorothy Nelson of Arkansas, a blues singer;

Lollie Kremier, a vocalist from the North Texas Lab Band;

Charlie Marshall of A&M, a comedian who won first place in this fall's Aggie Talent Show, and The Dance Trio of SMU, two girls and a boy who perform popular dancing routines.

For the first time in the ten-year history of the show, there will be a non-professional emcee—the comedy team of Schwartz and Bledsoe of Oklahoma State.

The team will perform between acts and also displace the usual professionals who ordinarily handle the emcee chores. They performed on the show in 1959.

ITS Publicity Director John Betts cited Miss Chuddy from LSU as the performer with the most impressive background.

She has been named Miss New Jersey, Miss Centennial of LSU, the LSU Homecoming queen, Miss Somerset County (N.J.), Miss Wildwood Beach (N.J.) and the LSU Gumbo Beauty for the past three years.

The Aggeland Orchestra, under the direction of Robert L. Boone, will provide background music for the show. Boone has said the orchestra will be using a special stereo set-up similar to the one used here by the Ray Conniff orchestra.

Two of the show's ten acts will appear on the Town Talk television program in Bryan the morning of Mar. 10, Betts said. He

City To Determine Underpass Costs

By BOB SLOAN

The certainty of a four-lane railroad underpass in College Station advanced another step Monday night at a meeting of the College Station City Council.

At the meeting, attended by representatives of the Texas Highway Department and the Bryan-College Station Chamber of Commerce, the Council voted to "immediately" determine the cost to the city of furnishing the right of way for the project.

In the motion, Councilman Bill Smith proposed the City hire a professional property appraiser to determine the value of the property the city would have to buy for the right of way. The city will also determine the cost of changes in any city-owned utilities.

After the approximate price of the underpass to the city has been determined, the City Council will meet with the Brazos County Commissioner's Court "in an attempt to arrive at proportionate costs of this right of way procurement."

The Council said the work of appraising the property and meet-

Broussard Tops Scoring Record

The Texas Aggie Cagers ended their home season in G. Rollie White last night as they handed the Baylor Bears a 90-69 defeat.

Carroll Broussard paced the Cadet win with his 27 points and copped his eleventh A&M scoring record. He now has 564 points in 13 games, which broke the old record of 540 set by Neil Swisher in 1959.

Don Stanley was second high for the Aggies with his 22 points followed by brother Pat with 16.

Baylor led in the opening minutes of play as they scored the first goal, but Pat Stanley quickly put A&M out front with a jump shot and a free

Ballet Group To Perform In Town Hall

Town Hall will present the famed American Ballet Theater Thursday. As a national company of international prestige the American Ballet Theater will be coming to A&M for the second time.

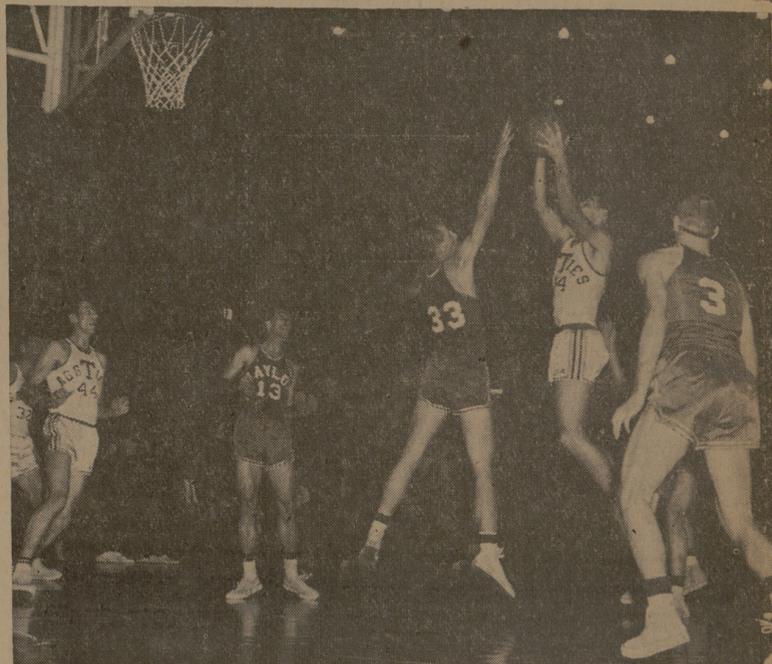

The company recently returned from a six-week tour of Russia during which it gave 35 performances before an estimated 118,000 Russians. This total excluded television audiences.

The Russian tour was the fourth tour that the American Ballet Company has made under the auspices of the U.S. State Department. In these four tours the company has given 412 performances in 37 countries before over a million persons.

In their 1961 repertory the American Ballet Company is offering 18 classical and contemporary ballets. These will include one world premiere and three new ballets. Being presented in its world premiere in this year's tour is the jazz ballet entitled "Points on Jazz". The music for this Ballet was written by Dave Brubeck and is the realization of a 20-year-old ambition.

The three ballets which the company is presenting for the first time on tour are the "Lady From the Sea," "Miss Julie" and "Glazunov Variation," a pas de dix.

Conducting the American Ballet Theatre will be Kenneth De Witt Schermerhorn.

Degree Filing Deadline Set Tomorrow

Tomorrow is the deadline for any student completing requirements for a degree at the end of this semester to make application for the degree. This includes both graduate and undergraduate degrees.

Applications should be made in the Registrar's Office. H. L. Heaton, registrar and director of admissions, emphasized in a letter to department heads that all students are required to make application for degrees. He said that this was in addition to any procedure that may be expected of them by the Graduate Dean's Office.

Heaton said that in the past, graduate students have not understood that they too are required to make application for degrees.
