Grants Totaling $41,110 Presented To College

COTTON BALL

The King's Court and the crowning of King Cotton. The King is John D. O'Connor of Petty and he will be crowned by Roy B. Davis, general manager of the Plains Cooperative Oil Mill, Lubbock.
The King's Court includes Geo. Alston, Anton Coy, Allen Swoboda, Vernon Yanta, James Hill, Zane Richburg, William Stuhrenberg and Wesley Robinson.
Master of ceremonies for the event will be George Roesner, Farm Director of KPRC and KPRC-TV in Houston. He is also president of the National Association of Television and Radio Farm Directors.
After the crowning of Queen Cotton, the Ball will be held in Sbisba Hall beginning with the Grand March at 9:30 p.m.
Tickets for the Pageant and Ball may be purchased at the YMCA, the cashiers window of the MSC or at the Agronomy Department Office. Ducats for the pageant are $1.25 for main floor seats and $1 for balcony seats. Admission to the ball is $2.50 stag or drag.
The programs will last from five to six weeks.

Grants totaling $41,110, including one renewal of an old grant, have been awarded the college, according to an announcement by President Earl Rudder.
Of this total, $39,110 has been received by the college from the National Science Foundation.
The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station has received the remaining $2,000 from the U. S. Golf Association, Green Section, Southwestern District. This is a grant-in-aid renewal.
The grants received from the National Science Foundation are to be used to support five programs for high ability high school students during the summer of 1961. One hundred and forty high school boys will participate in the programs to be held at the college.
They will be held in the fields of astronomy and astronautics under the direction of J. T. Kent of the Department of Mathematics; biology, under the direction of Dr. J. T. Sperry; geology, under the direction of F. E. Smith; mathematics, under the direction of Dr. W. S. McCully and physics under the direction of Dr. Melvin Eisner.

Lutheran Pastor Named National Production Head

The Rev. Melton W. Bulgerin of the College Station Lutheran Church has been named one of two assistant directors appointed to the staff of the American Lutheran Church Department of Stewardship.
A regional director for South Central states and a resident counselor also have been added, said Dr. Raymond M. Olson of Minneapolis, director of stewardship.
Major task of the department this year will be the gathering of a $16,102,254 budget to finance national and worldwide efforts of the newly created church.
Olson said Mr. Bulgerin, 39, has been named assistant director for production and the Rev. Eugene J. Leschensky, 44, Menomonie, Wis., has been named assistant director for special services. Both will have headquarters in Minneapolis.
Mr. Bulgerin's duties will include preparation of general stewardship education materials for the department and other church agencies at the Minneapolis headquarters, and liaison for other communication or audio-visual projects. The department anticipates, on the basis of previous experience, mailing some 12 million pieces of educational literature this year in response to orders from the church's 5,000 congregations.
Olson announced appointment of the Rev. James A. Siefkes, 32, Anamosa, Iowa, as South Central Regional Director. Mr. Siefkes will represent the national stewardship programs in the states of Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado.
Mr. Leschensky will work closely with the Division of American Missions in giving stewardship counseling to young mission congregations, of which 75 are to be Counseling Service, which provides staff members on a fee basis established this year. He will supervise the department's Resident to congregations for specific stewardship or fund-raising purposes. In addition he will coordinate the Sector Plan, a program of assessing and lifting congregation's stewardship potential through layman volunteers.

LUCKY STRIKE PRESENTS:
DEAR DR. FROOD:
DR. FROOD'S THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: In college, it isn't who you know that counts—it's whom.

Dear Dr. Frood: I just can't seem to get in step with the rest of the students here. They enjoy parties, dancing, folk singing and dating. None of these things interest me at all. Am I behind the times or what?
Left Out
DEAR LEFT: You're in the right times; you're just one of our squares.

Dear Dr. Frood: I have a confession. All my life I have been trying to learn how to whistle. I just can't. Please, will you tell me how to whistle?
Puckered
DEAR PUCKERED: Watch the birds. Notice how they gather a pocket of air deep within the breast, then push thin jets of this air into the throat, through the larynx, up and around the curled tongue, and then bounce the air from the roof of the mouth out through the teeth (which act like the keyboard on a piano). Practice this. In no time your friends will be amazed at the beautiful, warbly trills that flow from your beak.

Dear Dr. Frood: Hamlet killed Polonius. Macbeth stabbed Duncan. Richard murdered his little nephews. Othello strangled Desdemona, and Titus served Tamora her two sons in a pie before killing her. Don't you think this obsession with violence would make an excellent subject for a term paper?
English Major
DEAR ENGLISH: No, I don't, and my advice to you is to stop running around with that crowd.

Dear Dr. Frood: My coach is writing this letter for me because I am illiterate. We want to know if I got to learn how to read to get into college. I am the best football player in the state.
X
DEAR X: Every college today will insist that you meet certain basic entrance requirements. I'm afraid you're just out of luck, X, unless you learn how to read diagrams and count to eleven.

ARE YOU READY FOR THE FLOOD? Most students today live a carefree, devil-may-care existence—buying their Luckies day to day. Only a handful have had the good sense to set aside an emergency cache of three or four Lucky cartons, wrapped in oilskin. When the dam breaks—they'll be ready. Will you?
