

Audience Contact With Cast Close During 'Rivals' Drama

By TOMMY HOLBEIN

Last night's audience, like previous audiences of the Aggie Players' "The Rivals," sensed a feeling of closeness to those on stage which is not achieved in normal theater presentations.

The five female and nine male thespians made their entrances and exits between the five scenes through aisles dividing sections of the audience surrounding the set.

Cause for this was the style of production, "theater in the round." The stage of Guion Hall has been converted into a circular theater with a seating capacity of slightly over 100, with a round set in the center.

Emphasis of the play is upon light, witty comedy which mimicks the chains of pompous mannerisms so common in 18th Century English society.

The play was written by Richard Brinsley Sheridan and first went on stage in Covent Gardens, London, England; even with 200 years' span, the farce upon these mannerisms and the rampant misusage of words is entertaining to an audience of today just as it was to drama fans of the Romantic period.

"This style of subtle, witty humor is sometimes difficult to get across to a modern audience; but basically, our social customs and mores are the same as their were, then," said C. K. Esten, producer of the play.

Apparently, the Players had no difficulty getting the humor of Sheridan's lines across; the appreciative audience revealed their delight in more than occasional bursts of laughter.

Exercising a uniqueness in presentation, the Players linked various elements to give the production consistent treatment throughout.

This continuity was seen in the actors' remaining in character throughout the five scenes, with costumes corresponding with each person's character.

Campus Chest drive. Still no reports have been submitted from the West cadet area or from civilians.

It was then reported to the Senate that the date for the 12th Man Bowl football game has been tentatively changed to May 12 at 7:30 p.m., subject to approval by the Athletic Office.

Roger Ratliff, chairman of the Issues Committee and head of the planning committee for the game, said another change has been made in the eligibility of prospective players.

"Anyone who has not played college football and has worked out this week may be eligible for the actual game," he said.

The telephone situation on campus was discussed and relegated to a committee for extensive study. Jim Crouch will head the committee.

IT'S FOR YOU

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

When someone says, "It's for you," our minds begin to buzz with questions. Who is it? What do they want? Good news? Bad News? Work? Pleasure?

It's for you! Commanding words that summon our immediate attention. And those words apply as well to the Church as they do to a telephone call.

The Church is for you! Its services of worship, its program of religious education, its comforting ministrations in time of spiritual crisis... all for you!

And the Church has a vital message—good news for a discouraged world. It has a glorious work before it—a happy fellowship for men, women, and children of noble purpose.

The Church deserves your support. It's for you!
