

CADET SLOUCH by Jim Earle

... and then this Aggie started a countdown ...

(Editor's note: Following are the last of several letters sent to The Battalion by candidates for various posts in the Student Senate. The election was held today in the Memorial Student Center. Letters were published as they arrived at The Battalion office; these letters arrived after the deadline for Wednesday's Battalion.)

...representation

Editor,
The Battalion:
"The Student Senate is the governing body of the students."
This statement is quoted from the college Regulations on student government defining our student senate. Today does this organization reflect the opinions of students by its constituted powers?

To many freshmen the name was first mentioned last Friday at the Muster. With their interest and knowledge of student government how can the Student Senate maintain true representation of the students?

The only remedy is to create an interest and knowledge of happenings in our college. Mainly I propose the class officers be admitted to the Student Senate and charged with the responsibility to inform the class through meetings, etc. This will create the class officer as a true representative of his classmates.

In Tuesday's Battalion Hugh McDaniel and Bill Sneed proposed certain policies which I am in support of. Only with this suggested action I believe the Student Senate can reach its potential.

The caliber and accomplishments of office holders would increase, creating a stronger and more effective student governing body.

I am seeking the office of recording secretary and if I am elected will represent the student body. With this in mind I believe it is my duty to express my position to enable the voters to better choose candidates of his choice.

In conclusion consider your candidates for what they have done and said for they are interested in your student government.

...work diligently

Editor,
The Battalion:
Aggies, it is a pleasure to be given the opportunity to give you a little information about the role of the Student Senate Student Life Committee, the chairmanship for which I am running. Information on what the senate has done and will do is lacking, but I believe the interest shown by candidates this year shows that something is being done to promote this, our student government body—the voice of the A&M students.

The Student Life Committee handles such problems as policies concerning Aggie traditions, staff-student relationships and policies of student life. It provides liaison between faculty and administration and the students, as well as working with the other three standing committees—Issues, Welfare and Public Relations—in the investigations and making of recommendations on academic and social problems, health and recreation issues and the housing situation to college governing bodies. There briefly are the powers and responsibilities of the office I am seeking—Student Life Committee Chairman.

I pledge myself to work diligently to see that every matter brought before the Senate receives adequate appraisal and pursuit to insure that the wishes of the student body are carried out for the benefit of A&M.
