

A&M Beats 'Varsity 14-8

The Game That Cinched For A&M The 1910 Texas Football Championship

Beasley Crashes Opposing Line To Cross Goal And Win Game

Two special trains bearing Aggies one thousand strong arrived in Houston shortly after 10 o'clock on the morning of Nov. 14, 1919 for A&M's annual football rivalry with the University of Texas.

At 2:15 the regiment of cadets left town en route for the field. By 2:30 it was evident that all records for attendance at a football game in Texas would be broken and that over 10,000 people would witness the game.

The University team appeared on the field at 3 o'clock and received a warm welcome from the east side of the field. It was 3:15 when Captain G. W. Barnes leaped the fence to lead the Aggie squad of 46 men on the field.

First Quarter
De Bona kicked off to 'Varsity's 15-yard line but no return was made. Kirkpatrick kicked out of bounds at the 40-yard line. Whyte, on a fake kick, went 5 yards around left end. C. E. Ward was called back from his position and kicked a field goal from the 30-yard line. Score, A&M 3, 'Varsity 0, after two minutes of play. Using the forward pass to advantage 'Varsity quickly tied the score. At the end of the first quarter the score stood A&M 9, 'Varsity 3 on a recovered fumble behind 'Varsity's goal line.

Second Quarter
'Varsity took a brace and outplayed A&M. Brown, Moore and Wolfe made consistent gains and Moore went over for a touchdown. Spoons failed on the goal attempt. Score, A&M 9, 'Varsity 8.

Third Quarter
This quarter was practically an even break. It was the lull before the fierce last quarter. Kicking featured. No scoring.

Fourth Quarter
'Varsity kicked to the 52-yard line and now began an onward march of the Farmers that will never be forgotten. With the exception of a two-yard gain by C. Hohn and a one-yard gain by A. R. Bateman, it was all W. G. Beasley. The ball was now on 'Varsity's five-yard line. The mighty Beasley received the ball and crashed into the line with an impact that was terrific. The opposing line wavered and then crumbled before the onslaught. Beasley crossed the goal line, and the game was won.

Regimental Commissioned Staff, 1911
Members of the 1911 "Corps Staff" were, from left to right, Harry J. Kelly, adjutant; George W. Robinson, ordnance officer; H. M. Pool, colonel; Charles E. Sandford, lieutenant-colonel, and W. Scott Moore, quartermaster.

The Class Of 1911

A Poem By Mr. Clarence Britten. Addressed To The Seniors.

For this the patient prairie sacrificed
Her lonely lover and the serenade
Of song and silver spurs: for this
the bayed
And mist Gulf-land, mossed and
tropic-spiced,
Released her devotee; where youth
is priced
Above all else, the eager tread of trade
Postpones recruiting till Her hand
be laid
On you to bless, whose hands—as
of a Christ—
Now speed you forth into the lives
of Men
To show Her truth that makes Her
people free;
Yet here, henceforth, your spirits'
home shall be,
Twin-towered and uplifted, where
again
Your eyes shall find, serene above
your goals,
Your Foster-mother, Mother of your souls.
Clarence Britten

Class Of '11 History

Class Commands A&M's First Regiment. Sees Corps Reach 1,000

Corps Enrollment Makes A&M World's Largest Military School

At last, after four years of hard work and determined effort, the Class of '11 is nearing that goal toward which they have been so earnestly striving—Graduation.

Looking back to the date of our entrance, it seems barely possible that it has been four years since the Fall of 1907, when we, as Freshmen, two hundred and sixty strong, made our advent into College life. Our membership was drawn from extensive fields and as would be expected, consisted of boys of varied sizes, talents, dispositions, etc., but all in that one great category—"Fish." Some were willing, others stubborn, but all were "green."

Through the able tutoring and instruction of the lordly Sophomores, and after many a hard knock and sad experience, the greenness began to wear off.

After the first vacation we returned for our Sophomore year, greatly feeling our importance. We were now "Old Boys" and it was our duty to rule the "fish" and to safely guide them through their days of ignorance. This duty we realized in all its seriousness, and, although greatly hampered by Faculty rule, we labored industriously in teaching them the value of humbleness and instructing them in their various duties.

At the opening of the following session we found ourselves back in harness for Junior year, that period of transition from youth to manhood. This was indeed a very successful year in every respect. The Class of '11 contributed three of the best members to the football team that won the championship of the Southwest. This year A&M was named as one of the ten distinguished military institutions of the United States, which distinction entitled them to appoint one member of the graduating class as a second lieutenant in the United States Army without examination.

We returned in the fall of 1910, somewhat depleted in numbers, but still over one hundred strong and the largest Senior Class A&M ever had. We returned to find a new military organization in the form of a regiment of three battalions and upon our class was conferred the honor of commanding A&M's first regiment. The enrollment this year passed the thousand mark, making A&M the largest military school in the world.

During the many years to come our thoughts will often revert to our many classmates who have become so dear to our memory, and let not any member of the Class of '11 forget the ties of brotherhood that bind us together. And, above all, let us work and strive to make a mark in this world of which the Class of '11 will be proud.

General Order

New Dress Regulations Adopted For Use By The Cadet Corps

For the benefit of those cadets to whom the uniforms prescribed in the Blue Book are objectionable, the Committee on Uniforms has adopted an additional uniform, and all cadets are cautioned to take cognizance of same. This uniform shall consist of various combinations of uniforms Nos. 1, 2 and 3 and all citizens' clothes in possession of the individual cadets.

1. For the Artillery Corps, uniform No. 4 shall consist of regulation trousers, either tan or black shoes; campaign hat or forage cap; the cap to be worn when company hats are worn by the Corps and vice versa; turn-down collars with purple ties like Puckett wears are permissible when the blouse is worn; when the blouse is not worn, the Cannoneers may wear shirts with sleeves cut off, as per Don Lee; or sleeves rolled up, as per grateful Wood; the blouse may be omitted at Chapel formation as per Thalman.

2. For athletes and "would be" athletes, uniform No. 4 shall consist of any trousers non-regulation, either yellow corduroys or other citizen's trousers; sweaters and soft shirts; no collars; if collar is used, it must be turned down. The blouse must not be worn; athletes must not wear either hats or caps; go bare-headed—follow Ned Merriam.

These rules are to be strictly enforced and commissioned officers shall govern themselves accordingly.
