

Shepard Is Cool; Washington Panics

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON—Up in outer space or down on solid earth Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr. is a cool customer.
 The first American to look down on his country from outer space had his chance Monday to look in on President Kennedy, Congress, a mammoth, cheering crowd, and a mammoth news conference.
 He turned out to be the calmest man in town.
 Curiously, the day's goofs—and there were quite a few of them—were all made by someone else.
 First Kennedy dropped the special medal he was about to present to the astronaut. Then he just handed it to Shepard and Mrs. Kennedy had to remind her husband that on such occasions it was just as well the scientists and not the politicians were in charge last Friday, or we might still be tumbling around Cape Canaveral.

 At the Capitol Shepard was presented to congressmen, and more showed up than one usually sees on the floor of the House or Senate.
 But the Senate droned on as usual. Neither time nor tide nor wind ever disturbs our beloved legislators.
 The reception room was packed.
 "It's tighter in here," said Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va., "than the capsule he was in."

Sound Off

(Editor's note: The following letters were sent to The Battalion office by candidates seeking election in the Student Senate School election Wednesday.

Editor,
 The Battalion:

Are you a sophomore in the School of Arts and Sciences? If so, you should be concerned enough about your school to read this letter, and if you are not a sophomore or a member of our fine school, you should read it to be well informed.

It is election time! Time to elect your student senator for next year's school term. You should want a man who is likable, who is willing to work, who will stand up for his own opinions and fight for what is best for his fellow students and his school.

You want your senator to know and understand the workings of the Senate, you want to be able to depend on him to attend each and every meeting all through the year and you want to be able to say that he is capable of handling the responsibilities of the job.

With a year's experience behind me as the sophomore senator of the School of Arts and Sciences, I know first hand of all the activities of the Senate. I realize the responsibilities of representing my classmates in important issues that come up before the Senate, the responsibilities of working on a Senate committee and any other duty that a student senator is called upon to do.

It is my wish that you as a sophomore and a member of the School of Arts and Sciences consider me once again in my bid for my second term as your senator. I am anxious to represent you to the best of my ability on next year's Senate.

 Editor,
 The Battalion:

Tomorrow the Class of '62 will, in order to break a tie, vote once again for the class representative to the MSC Council.

For three years I have been interested and active in the Memorial Student Center program. My freshman year I was a member of Great Issues, last year I served on the MSC Directorate as a Directorate Assistant and was chairman of a special committee on awards set up by the Council and this year I'm serving as vice-chairman of the Film Society.

These experiences have given me a desire to work more closely with the overall student program next year. It is through these experiences also that I have gained an insight into the administration of MSC activities that I believe can be put to good use on the Council.

Jeff Wentworth, '62
 Candidate for Class Representative, MSC Council

 (Editor's note: The college regulation referred to in this letter is contained in paragraph 63-f of the 1960 College Regulations, which reads:

"An academically classified senior, an academically classified junior and an academically classified sophomore, to be elected by their respective classes in the schools of Agriculture, Arts and Sciences, Engineering and Veterinary Medicine" . . . Will compose part of the governing body of the Student Senate.)

Editor,
 The Battalion:

As a candidate for senior representative to the Student Senate from the School of Agriculture, I would like to discuss with you the qualifications for this important responsibility.

As stated in the college regulations, the holder of this position which I am seeking must be an academically classified senior with a minimum grade point ratio of 1.25.

I believe that a member of the Student Senate should be vitally interested in student affairs and democratic government. He should be willing to work and to try to represent to the best of his ability the body which elects him.

In order for him to represent his school well, the representative should exert every effort to obtain the ideas of the group he represents. This responsibility, however, lies just as much on the shoulders of the student as it does on the student senator.

I feel that I meet the necessary qualifications, and, if elected, I will strive to represent the School of Agriculture to the fullest extent of my ability.

Remember, however, that the important thing is to get out and vote!
