Tennessee Prexy Named Commencement Speaker

923 Scheduled To Get Degrees

Dr. A. D. Holt, president of the University of Tennessee, will deliver the commencement address here May 27 when 923 A&M students are scheduled to receive degrees.

The graduation ceremonies are to be held at 9 a. m. in G. Rollie White Coliseum.

Holt has served in virtually every capacity of the educational profession. He is an internationally known educator. He holds a bachelor's degree from Emory University and master's and doctor's degrees from Columbia University.

He joined the University of Tennessee staff in 1950 and has served as president since 1959. He was president of the National Education Association 1949-50. He was chairman of the U. S. delegation to the World Organization of the Teaching Profession at Berne, Switzerland, in 1949. He has received many international, national, regional and state honors.

Carl Tishler, head of the Department of Health and Physical Education, is chairman of the convocations committee.

Tishler announced the commencement program as follows:

Eugene Darby of Pharr, president of the board of directors of the A&M College System, will extend greetings from the board and Dr. M. T. Harrington, chancellor of the System, will give greetings from the System.

President Earl Rudder will introduce the speaker and confer the degrees.

Development Fund Gift
James W. Aston, of Dallas, president of the Association of Former Students, will make a presentation of a Development Fund gift to the College.

Mrs. W. L. Guthrie of College Station, will be at the organ. Barney A. Stumbo, civilian chaplain, will give the invocation and Robert J. Laird, corps chaplain, will give the benediction.

Edward A. Todd, head yell leader, will lead in the singing of "The Spirit of Aggieland."

In addition to professional activities, Holt is prominent in many civic, fraternal and religious organizations.

He is a member of the Advisory Committee of the Great Smoky Mountains Historical Association; the Executive Committee of the East Tennessee Hearing and Speech Center; the Executive Board of the East Smoky Mountains Council of the Boy Scouts of America; the Board of Directors of the Tennessee Division of the American Cancer Society, and the Board of Directors of the Knoxville YMCA.

He is a member of the Rotary Club, the Scottish Rite, the Shrine, the American Legion, Delta Tau Delta and the Amateur Chefs of America.

Holt is active in church work and is a member of the Board of Stewards of the Church Street Methodist Church of Knoxville.

CSC Names Carlo 'Best' At Banquet

Civilian Student Council President Mike Carlo was named the outstanding CSC member at the Council's annual awards banquet Monday night at the Memorial Student Center.

Carlo, a senior chemistry major from Alamo, was presented the award, a walnut plaque, on the basis of a secret vote made at a meeting of the Council in April.

In presenting the award to Carlo and service keys to other members of the Civilian Student Council, Advisor R. O. Murray praised the work of the CSC.

Murray cited the get-out-the-vote campaign the Council waged in September, the work of football seating and better dress committee, the Council-led leadership conference and the highly successful Civilian Student Weekend held in April.

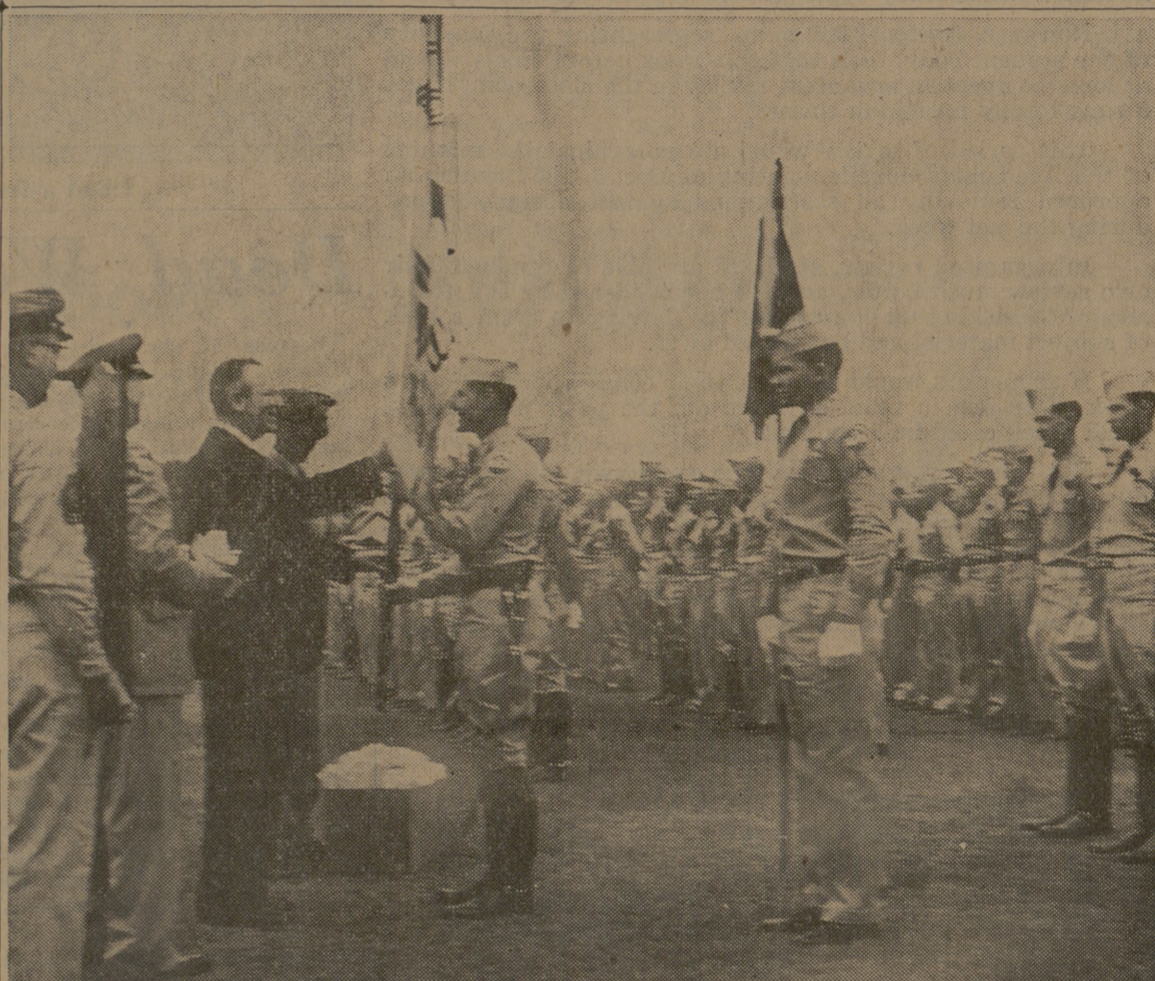

Both Law Hall and the Civilian Apartment Council were presented plaques as co-winners of the outstanding housing unit award. Barry Philipp was named the outstanding Apartment Council Member.

Twenty-one Council members received service keys for their work on the 1960-61 CSC.

Guest speaker at the banquet was A&M System Chancellor M. T. Harrington. Harrington commended the Council for its work in building the prestige of the civilian student body.

"Civilian students comprise about one-half of the A&M student body," he said. "Therefore, it is imperative that the two student groups—civilian and Corps—work together for the betterment of the college."

"Rivalry is good. There is rivalry between units in the Corps and Cadets and there is rivalry between the Corps and civilian students. This is good as long as it is constructive rivalry for the betterment of A&M," he added.

Dr. Hall Named Aspirations Head

Dr. Wayne C. Hall, Dean of the Graduate School, has been named chairman of the Faculty-Staff Study Committee on Aspirations.

The announcement was made by President Earl Rudder.

The Faculty-Staff Study Committee on Aspirations will develop plans for faculty-staff participation in the school's new Century Study project, a long range planning study for A&M.

Bob Hunt, Jr., formerly with Texas Agricultural Extension Service, is director of Century Study.

Go-operating with the faculty-staff group will be a lay-citizen Century Council committee. Hunt said the College board of directors will appoint 100 persons to the council. Members will represent a cross section of Texas interests.

The goal of the study is to evolve recommendations for the board of directors' consideration in guiding the college through the next 15 years of its first century of service to Texas, the nation and the world.

The overall objective of the College Board of Directors is the development of A&M to the fullest, in line with needs of the state, between now (its 85th year) and its 100th anniversary in 1976, Hunt said. About two years will be devoted to making the long range plans.

Hunt said the Board of Directors will accept nominations for membership on the Century Council from now until July 1. Nominations should be submitted in care of the Director of the Century Study, A&M College.

Callicoatte To Head Batt Summer Staff

President Earl Rudder yesterday appointed Joe Callicoatte, senior from Atlanta, editor of The Battalion for the summer of 1961.

Callicoatte's journalism experience includes services on the Opelousas Daily World, Opelousas, La. He has worked on the Battalion for four years, starting off as a staff writer in his freshman year and working up to sports editor his senior year.

He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, the national journalism society, and the Society of A&M Journalists.

His appointment followed the unanimous recommendations of the Student Publication Board headed by L. A. DUEWALL, director of Student Publications. Other members are Dr. A. L. Bennett, School of Arts and Sciences; Dr. R. J. Koenig, School of Engineering; Otto R. Kunze, School of Agriculture, and Dr. E. D. McMurry, School of Veterinary Medicine.

FOR GRADUATE STUDENTS

Fulbright Competition Opens

The annual competition for Fulbright Scholarships is now open. J. M. Nance, Head of the Department of History and Government, announced yesterday.

The Fulbright program offers an opportunity for graduate study abroad to students who have shown ability in their undergraduate work to do more advanced study.

Two types of award are available: a complete award for travel and tuition and an award for travel expenses only. The award is paid in the currency of the participating country over the period of one year. During this time, grantees are required to be enrolled in an approved educational institution abroad.

Under the Smith-Mundt Act, a limited number of grants are available for study abroad from the U.S. government. Grants will be available for graduate study in some Latin American countries; these awards provide travel, maintenance and tuition.

The Committee of International Exchange of Persons has announced the opening of competition for Fulbright Awards for graduate study in all 32 participating countries, and Inter-American Cultural Convention Awards are available for study in 20 Latin American countries. In addition, travel grants have been established for 10 countries, and grants have been set up for four new countries which have just joined the program.

Information concerning countries to which grants are offered, recommended fields of study, application blanks and procedures for making application may be obtained from Nance, Room 203, Nagle Hall. Competition for the 1962-63 school year must be in by Nov. 1, 1961. Students must apply through Nance, and the deadline for submitting applications to him is Oct. 20, 1961.

Anyone not enrolled at the time of application should apply in the at-large category and file their application direct to the Institute of International Education, 1 East 67th St., New York 21, N.Y.

Regardless of the classification into which the applicant may fall, Nance urges all those who would like to learn more about the program to come by and discuss it with him in room 203, Nagle Hall.
