

Danforth Awards Presented

Melvin C. Young, junior agricultural major from Lockhart, is presented two awards by Dr. G. M. Watkins, director of agricultural instruction. The student, who has already won many honors during his college career, is the recipient of the Pfizer National 4-H Scholarship Award of $250, and the William H. Danforth Fellowship Award for juniors.

Kenneth A. Radde of Meridian, right, is well on his way toward becoming one of A&M's all-time outstanding agricultural students. Here he receives congratulations from Dr. G. M. Watkins, director of agricultural instruction, for winning the William H. Danforth Leadership Training Scholarship for freshmen.
