It's a shame that the A&M-Tech game wasn't played in College Station or even just a little closer to Aggieworld. After the smoke had settled in Lubbock, the fighting Aggie footballers had scored 11 times for 38 points. That was the most points scored by an A&M team since 1955. All of the Ags hope that the football squad will score that many points again whether they have dates or not.

There were several interesting things that happened against the Red Raiders and the reason for them was because the Ags had the best "teamwork night" of the year. Some of the interesting points were:

Jerry Hopkins, the 215-pound center, intercepted his second pass of the season and leads the team in that department. Hopkins picked off a Raider pass with all the agility of a back and actually looked like an end in snagging the ball.

After a Bake Turner punt, Travis Reagan, the little halfback from Wichita Falls, was standing around the pile. Out of nowhere came two big Tech linemen and flattened the stumpy back. It didn't hurt Reagan as much as the double block surprised him. He jumped right up.

★ ★ ★

The Raiders committed what is probably the cardinal sin in football when a Tech player killed another Turner punt inside the A&M 20-yard line. When he touched the ball, it was automatically brought out to the 20. If the excited man had not touched the football, it would have died on the A&M 2-yard line which would have put the Aggies in quite a hole.

Texas Tech's power plays around each end were pretty tough as ends Russell Hill and Daryle Keeling, and center-linebacker Jerry Jenkins will admit. In the third quarter Tech ran this series time and time again with as many as five leading the play. This undoubtedly puts a strain on the first men trying to break up this power sweep.

★ ★ ★

Babe Craig and Mike Clark were getting off booming punts and kickoffs, respectively, in the game. Craig, who led the SWC in punting last season, kicked four times for a 46-yard average. Clark blasted almost all his kickoffs out of the end zone. Not only did he kickoff, but he notched a 36-yard field goal in the second period.

★ ★ ★

The two starting Aggie guards, Wayne Freiling and Bill Phillips, were very effective in leading the Ags' power end sweeps. They are the men who make this play go.

★ ★ ★

Passing isn't the only thing Ronnie Brice can do as the Aggie fans in Lubbock found out. In the one time he kicked off, the ball went completely out of the end zone.

Bryan Car Races Saturday, Sunday

Ten events will be presented during the running of the Bryan Divisional Sports Car Races next Saturday and Sunday at Bryan Air Force Base, race chairman Alfred C. Stokes announced.

The divisional races, staged by the San Jacinto Region, SCCA, is expected to draw over 100 sports cars, Stokes said. First cars will face starter Bob Green in the novice event beginning at 2:30 p.m. Saturday. One other novice race and two production car events will complete the Saturday racing.

Sunday's events will begin at 12:05 p.m. and will be climaxed by the running of the 52.20 mile feature at 4:30 p.m.

As several divisional championships will be decided at the Bryan events, racing fans can expect to see a continued assault on the course record of 87 m.p.h. set last spring by Leon Duncan of Dallas around the huge 3.48 mile course.

Favored entries to take top awards so far are G. Mason O'Keiff of Houston in his Kurtiss-

Korvette and Lionel Jeanmard of Baton Rouge, La., in a Ferrari Testa-Rosa.

In the production classes, Bill Steele, Russ Simon, Mel Anderson and Dr. W. A. Williamson are expected to bring in top points.

A late entry is a new Merlyn Mark III and this is its first time to run in the United States. This car weighs 875 pounds and has a 400 hp. engine. It is expected to top 180 m.p.h. on the back stretch. You can see this car on display tonight at the Townshire Shopping Center.

This sports car racing event is being sponsored by the Bryan Jaycees.

The Bryan Air Force Base is located eight miles west of Bryan on State Highway 21.

An impossible and amazing feat was performed Monday by Rusty Rose, an above average league, in the highest average league, the AGGIE ALL-STARS (formerly the HOT SHOTS). He bowled 15 splits out of a possible 30 shots. The odds against this occurrence is about one million to one.

The men in the league were perhaps a little nervous on their first outings of the year because there weren't too many high scores bowled. The high series was 572 bowled by Chuck Haines, the former president of the league. His games were 190, 176 and 206. Second high honors went to Taylor Wong with 569.
