"WE ARE ACROSS FROM THE LaSALLE HOTEL"

A&M POLITICAL CLUBS

Brazos Young Democrats Are Unofficial Study Group

By RONNIE BOOKMAN
Battalion News Editor

One of the primary criticisms of today's college students, and especially those on the A&M campus, is the lack of interest in national and international affairs. The Brazos County Young Democrats Club is not an official organization of A&M students, but about half of its 40 members are Aggies. And 10 more are members of the faculty here.

George Fix, '62, from Dallas, is vice-president of the group and heads the student faction. "We are not officially a campus group," Fix explained, "and we can't be since we have non-student members including Negroes. We are the county Young Democrats organization and are open to county residents for membership."

The club, while of a primary political nature, seeks to act as a study group, and is pledged to support only the Democratic candidate for president, said Fix. "Up until now we have been mainly a study group," he continued, "but with the coming elections we will probably start some political campaigning."

It is up to the club to choose which Democratic candidates it will support. It can't choose any one candidate in the primary, however.

The president of the club is the Rev. Charles Hall of St. Luke's Methodist Church in Bryan. Meetings are held the first Thursday in each month at the Western Motel Restaurant.

Programs consist of talks and discussions by members as well as guest speakers. The group recently heard an address by Don Yarborough, a candidate for governor in the Democratic primary. Another recent speaker was Ronnie Dugger of the Texas Observer.

The movies "Operation Correction" and "Burden of Truth" are to be incorporated into future programs. A guest speaker will be state representative John Alaniz on "The Future of Liberalism in Texas." The Brazos County club is active in the state organization of Young Democrats.

Fix, a member of the Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) and the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) is now in the process of feeling the way for an A&M civil liberties study group.

He listed these points as the beliefs or "platform" of the Brazos County Young Democrats Club: "The Young Democrats are dedicated to the principle that good government necessitates depth in political education directed toward responsible political action.

"We are dedicated to the belief that under the American Constitution, the human individual has a unique dignity that merits him equal rights, opportunities and considerations regardless of his race, color or religion, and we hold that the safeguard of these benefits is the proper function of the government.

"We believe that the Constitution was not intended by our founding fathers to be a static document; but rather they intended it to be flexible enough to meet the needs and crises in any given era.

"We do not understand the Federal government to be a foreign power which imposes a threat to our freedom. Rather, we view a representative central government as being a means by which the people can express their concern for the indigent, the unemployed, the aged, those who do not have adequate educational opportunities and those who have suffered misfortune with which they cannot individually cope.

"We further believe that a country which has vast surpluses of resources is morally obligated to share its wealth with those in other parts of the world who face starvation and deprivation.

"We feel that there can be no security in a nuclear arms race and that world destruction by a nuclear holocaust is one of our nation's greatest problems. Thus we feel that the United Nations' role in preserving peace becomes of paramount importance.

"In order to insure that the U.N. can accomplish this task, we feel that it should be endowed with more responsibility concerning sovereignty and that all due consideration should be given to admitting all nations, regardless of ideology, in order to have all possible avenues of discussion open."

First Of Two
Ag Seminars Opens Friday

The School of Agriculture will conduct the first of two teaching improvement seminars here Friday and Saturday.

Main speaker for the first seminar will be Dr. Leonard A. Duce, dean of the graduate school and professor of philosophy at San Antonio's Trinity University.

The second seminar is set for Mar. 2-3, with Dr. Max Marshall, professor of microbiology at the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco, as the keynote speaker.

Dr. Benton Storey, associate professor of horticulture and chairman of the Committee on Improvement of College Teaching in Agriculture, said student motivation is the subject of the first seminar.

He said Duce is an outstanding public speaker.

The first seminar will be opened at 7:30 p.m. Friday. Dr. William J. Graff, dean of instruction, will summarize the Feb. 17 session which begins at 8:30 a.m.

The meetings will be held in the Biological Sciences Building Lecture Room.

... new information member

Newspaper Vet
To Join A&M
Information

Henry L. Alsmeyer Jr. will join the Department of Information and Publications after March 1, Lee Duewall, director, announced. He presently is director of public relations at Maryville College in Tennessee.

"Alsmeyer is an outstanding journalist who will strengthen the College Information Department," Duewall said. "He will have primary responsibility for services of the department and to the news bureau for the college's service areas, and the military sciences and other general informational activities."

Alsmeyer, 35, brings 14 years of weekly and daily newspaper and college public relations to A&M. Besides his present post at Maryville College, he has been managing editor of the Kingsville Record, and for six years was on the staff of the Corpus Christi Caller-Times. In addition he was with the Presbyterian Pan American School as director of public relations and as a teacher. He has had experience in student and college publications work.

Alsmeyer, a native of Robstown, attended A&M and graduated with a journalism degree from the University of Texas in 1948. He holds the masters degree in English from Texas College of Arts and Industries.

LUCKY STRIKE presents: LUCKY DUFFERS

"THE DEAN"

"Well, well, well. Having a little burn-the-dean-in-effigy party, are we?"

"NOBODY LEAVES THIS DORM TILL WE FIND OUT WHO PUT SPAGHETTI IN THE PROCTOR'S BED!"

"I'm well aware, 'Hookshot,' that you scored 48 points against State. Unfortunately, you scored only 46 on your Math exam..."

"There, there, Dean Legree. I'm sure many of the boys are fond of you."

THE DEAN AS A HELPER. Supposing that after you've paid all your fees, you discover you haven't enough money left for Luckies. What do you do? You go to the Dean. The Dean will help you. That's what the Dean is there for. The smart Dean knows that college students smoke more Luckies than any other regular. The Dean will tell you to get a part-time job. Then you'll be able to enjoy the rich, full taste of Luckies. Deans certainly are knowledgeable.
