Top Entertainment

Something no-one can deny: entertainment at A&M has been on the upswing! No longer can students legitimately cry out that the campus is dead or lacking anything decent in the way of high-quality entertainment.

During the past semester and a half, the campus has been a show-place for celebrities—some of the world's top entertainment specialists have performed on the stages of G. Rollie White Coliseum and Guion Hall.

Take the past three weeks as an example: Aggie audiences have seen top collegiate talent at ITS, Broadway musical stars in "The Music Man," Jose Greco and his Spanish Ballet and local fine arts talent in "Theatre of Man" Sunday.

Tomorrow and Friday nights, the world's greatest flamenco guitarist will perform at Town Hall—Carlos Montoya. As the sparkling parade of stars continues through the year, and as more people take advantage of the programs, perhaps the days when A&M was thought of as a wasteland, entertainment-wise, will be forgotten. At least, they should!

Arkansas Wants Bowling Team

The Battalion: Do you think it would be a good idea to start a student bowling team at your school? This team could compete with other Southwest Conference schools and perhaps a SWC bowling league could be established.

It seems to me that bowling is just as much a team and individual sport as tennis, golf, basketball, football and so forth. With bowling's tremendous acceptance by the American public, I think it might be a good idea for someone to explore the possibilities of forming a school bowling team which would play other schools.

Perhaps some organization would be willing to explore the idea. Maybe a faculty bowling team might be formed to play other faculty teams at SWC schools. What do you think? Robert D. Hay 623 Oakland St. Fayetteville, Arkansas (University of Arkansas)

Placement Office

The Battalion: We would like to take this opportunity to express our sincere appreciation for the services Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. Sellers, Mrs. Bishop, and Mr. W. H. Horsley of the Placement Office in the YMCA Building render each year to all graduating seniors seeking professional employment. Their efforts make it possible for each senior to seek the type of employment that suits his interest and background without the inconvenience of voluminous correspondence with numerous companies.

The effort of these individuals in arranging complex schedules, securing reference letters, compiling personal folders, as well as the many other varied tasks they perform, is to often overlooked or taken for granted. Certainly the continuance of the service is very worthwhile and for the benefit of all concerned.
