common sense and good judgment, can make our activities a source of pride to all concerned. As president, it is toward this goal that I would strive.

Editor,
The Battalion:

I, Byrom T. Wehner, am privileged to be a candidate for president of the Class of '64.

If elected, I will represent and promote the best interests of the Class of '64 to the best of my ability. I will promote harmony and cooperation in corps-civilian relations in every possible way. I will strive to bring to the civilian members of my class the representation which they need and to which they are entitled. Long steps to end certain detrimental rivalries may best be taken through civilian representation in class offices. Finally, I will maintain the integrity of the A&M student body, and support and defend student rights in any possible way. I will greatly appreciate the votes of my fellow class members.

May I remind every student — civilian and corps — to vote in the election of class officers. None of us can justly criticize officers whom we did not help to elect or defeat by our votes. Thank you.

Editor,
The Battalion:

To the members of the Class of '64 holding the best interest of their class at heart.

After two years of observing the operation of our class, I feel that I can now contribute to the successful government and management of this class if I am placed in the position of social secretary.

One of the main jobs of the social secretary is to work with the class vice president in preparing and executing the Junior Prom that will be a model for the ones to come.

I feel that I am capable of a coordinated effort with the other officers in my class with the interest of our class always foremost in my action.

I pledge to execute the duties of my office to the very best of my ability if offered the chance to represent you, the members of the Class of '64, as your junior class social secretary.

I, Richard Jeffery, am a candidate for the position of junior yell leader. I feel that I am fully qualified for the position and I intend to perform the functions of this office to the best of my ability if elected by the members of my class.

I intend to contribute every facility at my disposal toward the advancement of my class and college and toward the following goals.

A&M College, as one of the leading colleges in the United States, must lead our conference by setting the highest standards of sportsmanship in our conference.

The spirit and traditions of this institution are of such great importance to our class and to past and future generations of Aggies that they must be preserved and nurtured; and, rather than permit these to continue in their present stature, they must be made to grow.

A coordinated effort on the part of the two junior yell leaders must be made to maintain and increase the high spirit and love of school which exists in our class.

These ideals must be instilled in the classes to follow.

Editor,
The Battalion:

There is not a member of the Class of '64 who could not be an Aggie yell leader. The position is therefore a very hard one to fill because the person who fills this place of honor must represent his school as well as his class. The candidate who is elected to this position should be the one who knows his class members and his class members should know him. It is his duty to let his class members know that he would like to represent them as a yell leader.

Experience also plays a vital part in considering a yell leader. As a fish yell leader, I was proud and honored to represent my school and the Class of '64. I realize that this position is time consuming and demanding but I am willing to sacrifice my time if I am honored with the position of yell leader.

On Wednesday, April 11, you, the Class of '64 will elect two yell leaders who will represent your school, its spirit, and our class. I would sincerely appreciate your consideration in letting me fill one of these positions.

My name is Garry Tisdale. I am running for the office of vice president of the Class of '65. In the election next Wednesday, April 11, I urge you to exercise the privilege and obligation you have in electing your own class representatives.

I sincerely want to represent you as your next vice president, so on election day remember to vote, and vote for fish Tisdale for vice president.

Editor,
The Battalion:

Next week the election of class officers will take place. I will be running for secretary of your class. If elected, I'll do my utmost to help the other officers make the Class of '65 a swinging organization.

I think that my grades allow me the time necessary to carry out the secretary's job effectively. I urge every one of you to get out next Wednesday and help elect your officers. I can't promise you a girl in every hole, or free beer in the mess hall, but if you do choose to give me your vote, I guarantee you that you won't be disappointed.
