

Turf Management Students Plan Tour Of Dallas Parks

Fifteen members of the senior class in Turf Management will go to Dallas to observe the parks of the Dallas Park Department on Monday, April 16, according to Dr. Richard C. Potts, professor of agronomy.

The purpose of the tour is to give the students an opportunity to study the kind of turf grown in the Dallas parks.

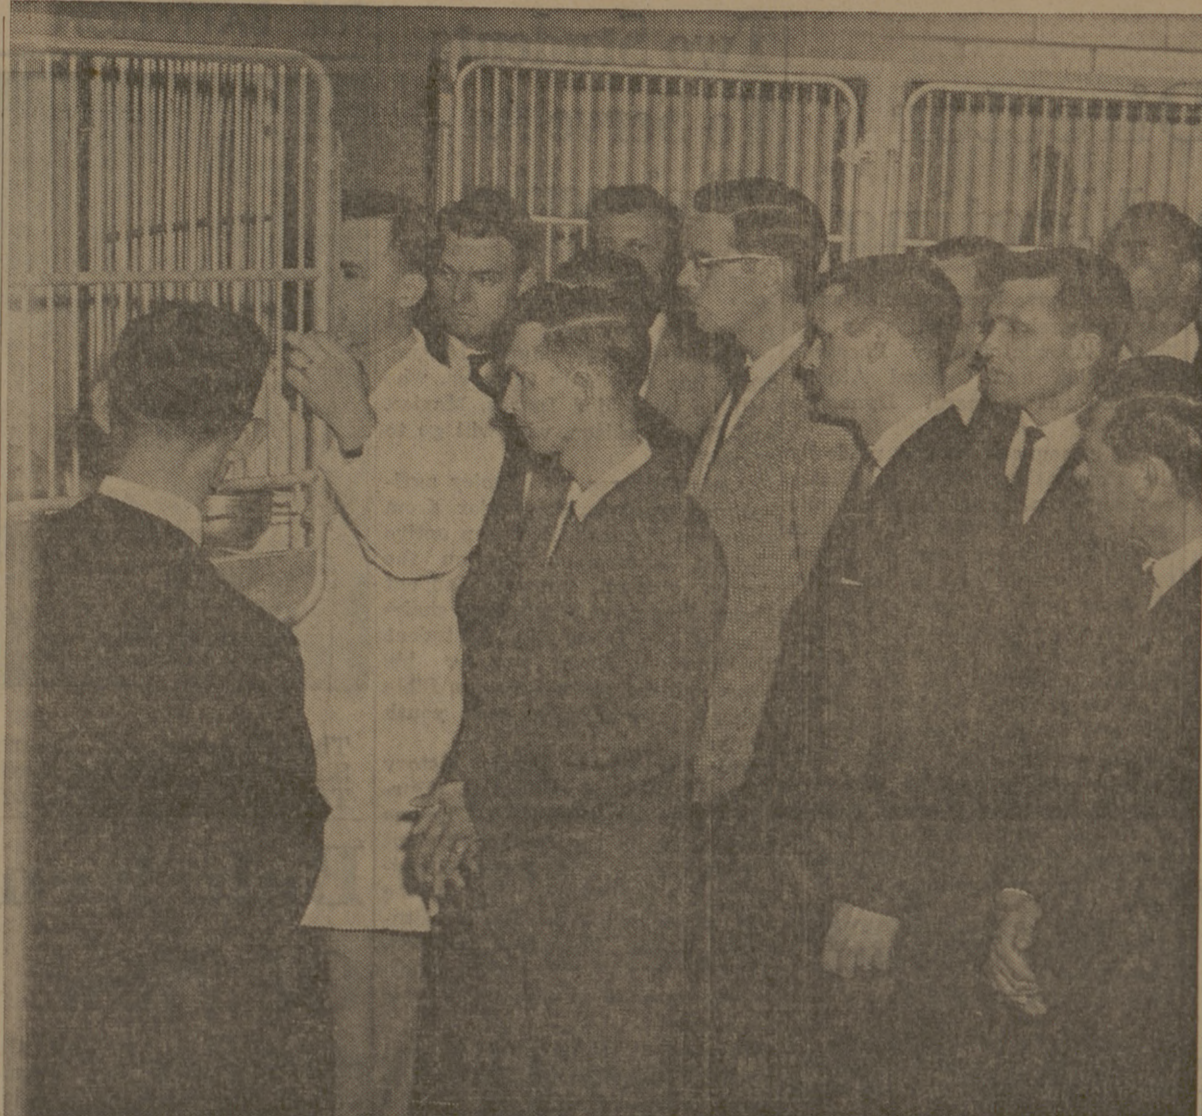

Parks visited by the group will be Turtle Creek, Norbuck, the Riverchase ball park, Samuel Garden, Fair, Lake Cliff and Kidd Springs. The students will also visit the Cotton Bowl and the Stevens Golf Course.

Leaving A&M Sunday afternoon the group will spend the night at the Tower Motel in Dallas. The tour will begin the next morning with a demonstration of the mowing shop operation by the Dallas Park Department.

They will return to A&M Monday evening.

Ag Engineering Group Plans Valley Research Field Trip

Fourteen agricultural engineering students from A&M will spend Apr. 16-18 touring engineering and agricultural research projects in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. The group will be accompanied in this field trip by Dr. Ernest T. Smerdon, professor of Agricultural Engineering.

Smerdon said the tour has been arranged by W. R. Cowley, superintendent of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Weslaco.

The tour will begin Monday with a trip through the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, where Cowley will show the students the facilities and demonstration of equipment at the station. This will include a demonstration of a logarithmic sprayer, a demonstration of a citrus sprayer, a demonstration of power pruning equipment, a tour of the Agricultural Weather Service facilities, and an inspection of soil fertility and soil physics equipment.

Cushing Facilities Open To Visitors

"Most people haven't made it to the third floor of Cushing Memorial Library where the documents division is housed," Mrs. Nina Smith, documents assistant said this week.

She went on to say that visitors are urged to inspect the facilities during the National Library week, now being held.

Used mostly by graduate students and professors, Cushing's depository is one of 18 in Texas which was selected by The U. S. Government Printing Office.

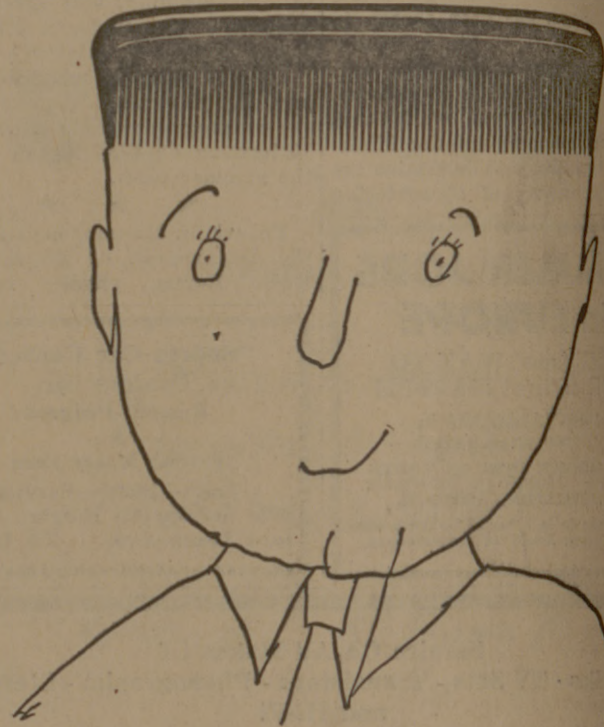

The library has met GPO depository requirements by providing document-collecting facilities and making them available to the public.

Additionally, Miss Mayme Evans, documents librarian, is available for seeing that the documents division will continue to make materials publicly accessible.

Visitors can find a booklet just about anything, from grow cucumbers on your sill to the evaluation of an animal remains in American balls, according to Miss Evans.

About one fourth of Cushing's Little red tape is involved in a government publication each year the GPO completes of its booklets according to the department.

Under the topic of "space" may be found a listing of other publications. There are also other listings in the same category.
