Payne, New Staff Members Assume Editorship Roles On The Battalion

With this issue a new staff takes over editorship of The Battalion for the remainder of May and the 1962-63 school year.

As is customary on The Battalion staff, editors for the coming year assume their positions for the final edition in April the previous year.

The new staff is being headed by Alan Payne, 20-year-old '63 journalism student from Sulphur Springs. Payne succeeds Bob Sloan, '62 journalism major from Dallas, in the editor's chair.

The new editor is completing his third year on the staff and has served as a staff writer, assistant news editor and, for the last two years, as news editor.

In addition to his college work, he has served on the staff of the Sulphur Springs Daily News-Telegram and the Brenham Banner-Press. Payne is a distinguished student, holder of an Opportunity Award Scholarship, member of Sigma Delta Chi and a technical sergeant in Company E-3.

Moving up to the managing editor post is Ronnie Bookman, '63 journalism major from Belaire. Bookman, who succeeds Tommy Holbein, '62 journalism student from Hebronville, is completing his second year on the staff and for the past year was a news editor.

He has had previous experience on the Houston Press, Quannah Tribune-Chief and Bryan Daily Eagle. Bookman also holds a Corpus Christi Press Club scholarship, is a member of Sigma Delta Chi and last year was named the outstanding sophomore in the Department of Journalism.

Now heading the sports department as sports editor is Van Conner, '63 wildlife management-journalism major from Casper, Wyo. Conner, 21, succeeds Larry Smith, '62 journalism student from Brady, and for the past semester has served as assistant sports editor.

Moving up to news editor positions are Gerry Brown, '63 economics major from San Antonio, and Ronnie Fann, '65 journalism major from Houston. Brown, a staff writer during the past year, is completing two years on the staff, while Fann is completing his initial work year. They succeed Payne, Bookman and Robbie Godwin, '61 from Robert Lee. Godwin will receive his M.B.A. degree this summer.

Holding over as staff writers are Kent Johnston, '63 from Waco; Tom Harrover, '64 from Dallas; and Bruce Shulter, '64 from San Antonio. All served during the past year and have gained additional experience as journalism students.

Moving up to the position formerly occupied by sports editor Conner is Jim Butler, '64 journalism major from Amarillo, and Adrian Adair, '65 journalism student from Galena Park. Adair has worked during the second semester on intramurals, while Butler for the past year has been employed in the office of Sports Publicity Director Tommy Blake.

Retaining her position as society editor is Sylvia Ann Bookman, who has served during the past year and writes the weekly column, Woman's World.

Also retaining their positions are photographers Johnny Herrin and Ben Wolfe. Herrin, '62 from Houston, is completing his second year of work for The Battalion and other student publications. Wolfe, '65 from Houston, is ending one year of service.
