Duewall Rites To Be Held Tomorrow

Services for Lee A. Duewall, director of student publications and college information, will be held at 10 a.m. Friday in the A&M Methodist Church. Burial will be at the College Station City Cemetery with Masonic rites.

Duewall, 39, suffered an apparent heart attack about 6:30 p.m. Wednesday as he was moving the yard of his home at 1003 Puryear in College Station.

He assumed publications duties Oct. 27, 1958. As director of student publications and college information, he was responsible for The Battalion, the four student magazines, and the yearbook. He was also responsible for all press releases concerning A&M.

Before joining the A&M College staff, Duewall was editor and publisher of the La Grange Journal, known as one of the outstanding weekly newspapers in Texas.

While editing the La Grange paper, Duewall won a National Editorial Association Award for Service to Agriculture and two Freedom's Foundations Awards for editorials. The Journal was also a frequent winner in state and regional newspaper contests.

A native of Caldwell, Duewall was a graduate of the University of Texas School of Journalism. He was active in the Texas Press Association, serving as secretary-treasurer. He was a director of the South Texas Press Association.

Duewall was active in church, civic and fraternal organizations. He had commanded the American Legion Post in La Grange, served as a district lay reader in the Methodist Church, and was on the church's conference Board of Evangelism and Lay Activities. He was also a Mason. He was a member of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic society.

A veteran of World War II, Duewall served as an officer in the Marines on Okinawa and in China.

He was a member of the Bryan-College Station Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors in addition to taking part in other community affairs.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Johnell Duewall; three sons, David, 8, Douglas, 6, Dana, 4; and a daughter Diane, 13. Also, three brothers, Bruno Duewall and Ed Louis Duewall of Caldwell and Homer Duewall of Dallas; and a sister, Mrs. Douglas Murphy of Austin.

Pallbearers will be Earl Rudder, Phillip Goode, Col. E. F. Sauer, Durwood L. Fuchs, W. B. Crossley, Bob Whitten, Vern Sanford and W. E. Dalchau.

Honorary pallbearers will be John H. Manthey, Dr. James I. Lindsey, Joe G. Russell, Joe Swan, Doyle Gougler, W. R. Tatum, Guy M. Horton, and Henry Alsmeyer Jr.

Foreign Research Grants Available

The Institute of International Education has announced that more than 800 American students will have an opportunity to pursue graduate study or research in 46 countries in the academic year 1963-64.

The scholarships are made available under the Fulbright-Hays Act. Since 1948, approximately 10,000 American graduate students have studied abroad under the programs which are now covered by this act.

There are three types of grants available. One is a full United States Government grant, which provides for round-trip transportation, maintenance, tuition, and books.

Another type grant is a joint

Campus Political Clubs Sponsor Talk

The A&M Conservative Club and the A&M Young Republicans will co-sponsor an address Monday night by Dr. S. B. Josserrand, associate professor of history at Sam Houston State College.

Josserrand will speak on "Atheism and Communism in Europe." The meeting will be held in rooms 2A and 2B of the Memorial Student Center at 7:30 p.m.

New Scholarship Offered To South Texas Students

All A&M students with two years remaining before graduation and who reside in a 20-county area in south Texas are eligible for a new $500 scholarship established by the B. D. Holt Co., according to E. E. McQuillen, Executive Director of the A&M Development Fund.

The company, with offices in Corpus Christi, Weslaco, Brownsville and Victoria, provides Caterpillar sales, parts and service to the south Texas area.

To be eligible for the scholarship a student must reside in one of the following counties: Victoria, Calhoun, Goliad, Refugio, Bee, Aransas, San Patricio, Jim Wells, Nueces, Duval, Kleberg, Jim Hogg, Brooks, Zapata, Starr, Kenedy, Willacy, Hidalgo, Live Oak and Cameron.

Recipient of the scholarship will be chosen by the faculty scholarships committee of the college. Scholastic achievement and the overcoming of financial handicaps in attending college will be strong factors in the selection of the recipient.

Interested applicants may obtain applications for the scholarship from the Registrar's Office.

grant with another nation. The U. S. Government, in conjunction with foreign governments, will provide tuition and full or partial maintenance.

The third type of grant is a "travel only" grant. This supplements a scholarship, received from a foreign government, university or private donor.

General eligibility requirements for all types of grants are, U. S. citizenship at time of application, a Bachelor's degree or its equivalent before the beginning date of the grant, language proficiency sufficient to carry out the proposed study and to communicate with the people of the host country, and good health.

A good academic record and a demonstrated capacity for independent study are also necessary. Preference is given to applicants under 35 years of age who have not previously studied abroad.

Applications for 1963-64 will be accepted until November 1, 1962. Requests for applications must be postmarked by October 15.

A&M students interested in the program should contact INE's regional office at 731 Texas National Bank Building, Houston 2, Texas.

PLAN FOR CO-OP

Aggie Wives Solve Problem Of 'What To Do With Baby'

By RONNIE BOOKMAN Battalion Managing Editor

For the more than 1,500 Aggie wives on and around the A&M campus, there often comes a problem that usually squelches any plans for a night out.

"What to do with the baby?" is the problem.

But Mrs. Judy Morrison has come up with a unique and effective answer to the baby sitting problem. It's a "baby sitting co-op."

The co-op, she explained, operates on a point system. Each member starts with 20 points for one child and five points for each additional child.

Points may be exchanged for babysitting services at the rate of two points per hour for one child, and one extra point for each additional child. Each meal the child must be fed is worth one point; and one point is assessed for weekend and holiday sittings. If the sitter must furnish her own transportation, one more point is charged.

Schiwetz, 21, To Lecture To Architects

Architecture students will hear from an "old Grad" Thursday when E. M. "Buck" Schiwetz, 21, noted Southwest artist, returns to lecture here.

Schiwetz, who earned a B.S. degree in architecture at A&M, also will present a program at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Memorial Student Center. The public is invited to attend.

The author-artist will present "An Evening with Buck Schiwetz" in discussing the paintings and drawings in his book "Texas" that has been cited as an outstanding illustration of the state.

On Thursday, Schiwetz will meet with architecture students in drawing and sketching classes to discuss various forms of architectural presentations.

The Division of Architecture also announced that Theo Holleman, head of the division, will be general chairman of the National Association of Collegiate Schools of Architecture that opens its annual meeting Saturday in Dallas.

He also will attend the national meeting of the American Institute of Architects meeting next week in Dallas. Representing A&M architectural students at the Association of Student Chapters, A.I.A., will be William Leftwich, fourth year student from College Station.

He is southwest regional director for the student association.

'Aggie Hour' To Be Aired Over KORA

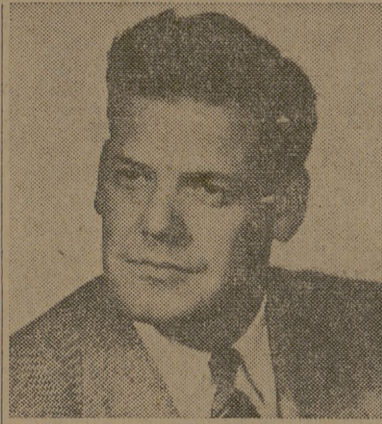

The radio and television class of the Department of Journalism will take over KORA tonight for the first in a series of weekly radio shows called the "Aggie Hour."

For the rest of this semester the show will be broadcast Thursday nights from 10 to 11. It will be a variety news and music show which will be completely written, produced and broadcast by three-man teams from the journalism class. Four teams will be made up from the class.

Journalism Department Head Delbert McGuire said, "I think the show will be an educational opportunity for the students which they could not get in the department itself."

He said it was a chance for experience in the field which a student would not otherwise get.

Bob Wade, of the KORA staff, said he hoped the show could be continued in the fall, perhaps more regularly than once a week, if the show proved a success.

DR. JOHN C. MERRILL ... new journalism professor

J Department Gets New Prof For Next Year

Dr. John C. Merrill of Louisiana's Northwestern State College will join the A&M Department of Journalism on Sept. 1 as an associate professor.

Delbert McGuire, head of the department here, said the teacher's experience in writing, editing and public relations will be a valuable asset to the college.

Merrill, 38, a native of Mississippi, received his BA degree in history and English in 1949 at Mississippi Delta State College, his MA degree in journalism in 1950 at Louisiana State University, and his doctorate in mass communications this year at Iowa State University.

He is now writing a book "Crucio: Mexican Journalists Look at the U.S.," which is an expansion of his doctoral dissertation, "The Image of the United States Presented by Ten Mexican Daily Newspapers."

The professor is the author of "A Handbook of the Foreign Press" (LSU Press, 1959), which is used in international communication courses throughout the U.S. He is co-author for "Modern Journalism," a survey text to be published this summer by Pitman Publishing Corp. in New York.

His other experience includes that of news editor of the daily Clarion-Ledger, Jackson, Miss.; special feature writer for a dozen dailies in the U.S.; director of public relations for seven years at Southwestern College in Kansas and Northwestern State College in Louisiana; and worked for six summers on the Louisiana weeklies, the Natchitoches Times and the Natchitoches Enterprise.

He has taught at Southwestern College and Northwestern State College, and has written about 100 newspaper and magazine feature articles (in English and Spanish) for publications in the U.S. and Latin American countries.

Telecast On 'A&M Today' Set Sunday

The first of two 30-minute programs, "Texas A&M Today," to be telecast over Station KBTX-TV (Bryan, Channel 3), is scheduled at 6 p.m. Sunday May 6. The second program, which will feature the Nuclear Science Center, will be telecast at the same hour on Sunday, May 20.

Both programs will feature a variety of entertaining, informative materials and several guests.

Robert L. Boone will act as host. He is a member of the Memorial Student Center staff and director of the Singing Cadets.

The programs are being prepared by the Department of College Information and Publications.

Appreciation to Station KBTX-TV officials for making the facilities available for these programs was expressed by officials of A&M.

A pictorial report on the more than $4.5 million worth of campus construction under contract, and a brief discussion of Land-Grant College Centennial Observance are among the featured items planned for the first telecast. Also, there will be a report on forthcoming events.

"The Wayfarers," a Kingston Trio-type group, will provide the entertainment numbers Sunday evening.

Participating in the land-grant college discussion with an emphasis upon A&M will be Dr. Gustav M. Watkins, Dr. R. C. Potts, and Boone.

Dean of Students J. P. Hannigan and Boone will present a brief summary of forthcoming events which in several cases will be of widespread interest.

Plans for the second program call for a narrated film "visit" to the Nuclear Science Center, followed by a discussion of that important facility. The dedication of the Center is scheduled May 25. There also will be other materials on the May 20 program.

Sneak Preview Set Saturday For New Pool

A "sneak preview" of the new outdoor, Olympic-type swimming pool is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday afternoons. The pool will be open to Aggies, staff members and guests from 1 to 5:30 p.m. this Saturday and Sunday. Details of regular operation will be announced later.

Final tests on the pool, whose auxiliary facilities are not yet completed, were conducted satisfactorily on Tuesday.

Formal opening of the pool will be held at a later date, after landscaping and other details of the project are completed.

The contractor is R. B. Butler of Bryan. The contract price was announced earlier as approximately $197,000. The project was inaugurated after a major contribution was made by the Former Students Association.

Dean of Students James P. Hannigan, in announcing plans for the "sneak preview," said that some dressing areas remain incomplete. For this reason, ladies should not plan to use dressing room facilities at the pool this weekend and men will have only the dressing room facilities of the indoor pool.

Hannigan also said those using the pool can help greatly by refraining from walking on the yet sodded dirt areas around the concrete apron.

Saddle And Sirloin Sets Annual Fete

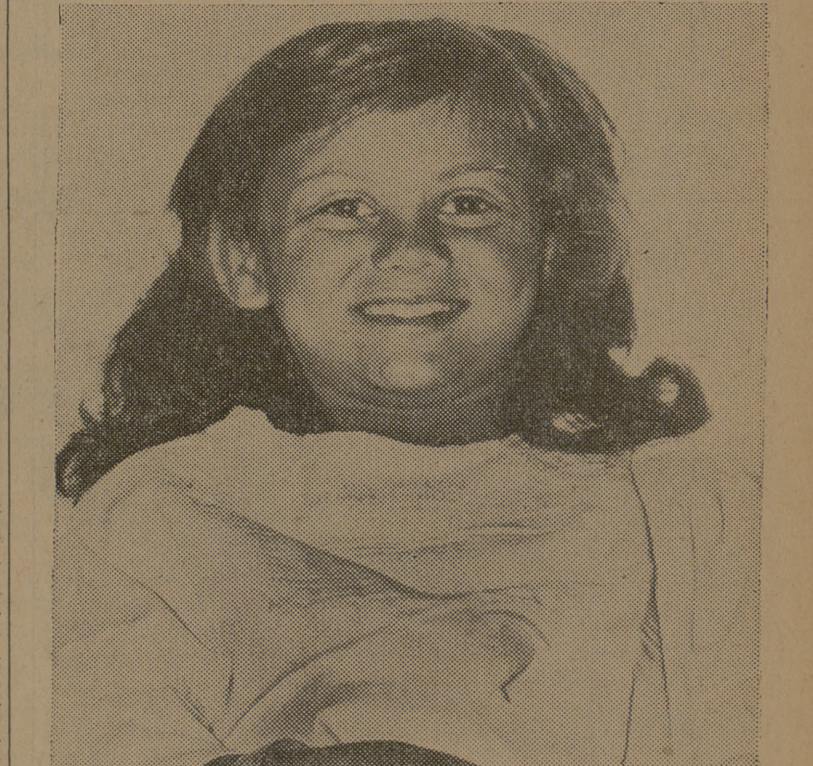

The Saddle and Sirloin Club of the Animal Husbandry Department will hold its annual Awards Banquet and Cattleman's Ball May 11.

Jim Brim of Brownwood, club president, said activities will start at 7 p.m. in the Memorial Student Center Ballroom.

Brim listed the following awards to be made:

The Ammie E. Wilson Award, which is a $100 watch, to the outstanding senior in the Saddle and Sirloin Club; the Brewer Award to the top senior in the Animal Husbandry Department; and Outstanding Students Award to freshman, sophomore, junior and senior club members.

Two honorary members will be accepted into the club. They are Hosa Rogers of Waxahachie, prominent Poland-China hog raiser and past president of the Texas Swine Breeders Association, and C. Albert Martin of Menard, well known Delaine sheep and Hereford cattle raiser.

Margaret Elizabeth Smith, 6, rests in a hospital bed at La Marque, Tex., after she was rescued from Galveston Bay where she had floated for 7 hours following the capsizing of the boat in which she was riding. The bodies of her two younger brothers and a sister were recovered, and her parents and another boy were found later. Liz and her family and friends were in a 14-foot boat which was capsized by waves from a passing ship. She was found floating in a life jacket by searchers. (AP Wirephoto)
