A&M To Host 25th Annual Horticulturists Conference

The 25th annual conference for Texas Nurserymen and Landscape Horticulturists will be held Sunday through Tuesday at the Memorial Student Center, according to A. F. DeWerth, head of the Department of Floriculture.

DeWerth added that from 100 to 125 nurserymen are expected to attend the conference, which is sponsored by the college in cooperation with the research and education committee and the Texas Association of Nurserymen.

Registration will begin at 1:30 p.m. in the Serpentine Lounge. A tour of the research work in progress here at 3 p.m. and a barbecue later will be the program for the first day. The barbecue will be held at the floriculture laboratory nursery area.

Discussions start at 9:30 a.m., with Bill Fullingim, executive secretary of the nurserymen's association, as chairman. Dr. G. M. Watkins, director of agricultural instruction, will deliver an address of welcome.

Subjects and speakers are "State and Federal Laws Affecting Nurserymen and Landscape Horticulturists," by Avis Vandygriff, Austin attorney; "Information You Need to Beat Your Competitor and Satisfy Your Customers," DeWerth; "Pest Control Problems of Growers, Distributors and Consumers of Nursery Products," Paul Greeg, entomologist, Green Light Company, San Antonio, and Dr. Donald Ashdown, Texas Tech entomologist; "Ingenuity and Efficiency in Cutting Nursery Costs," DeWerth.

That evening, a smorgasbord will be held in the Ballroom of the Student Center and will feature a color movie on the production and use of perlite.

Subject and speakers on the last day are "Garden Center Management Practices," by Fred Fisher, garden store manager of Burwell's Inc., of Columbus, Ohio; "Garden Center Management Practices," a group discussion; "Design of Bread and Butter Landscape Developments," Thomas E. Roberts, Oklahoma City landscape architect; "Nursery Management Practices," J. J. Pinney, Willis Nursery Company, Ottawa, Kan.

In addition to Fullingim, discussion chairmen will be Harold Wood, Chiles-Wood Nursery of Devine; Ralph Griffing, Griffings Nurseries, Beaumont; Scott Mosty, Mosty Brothers Nursery of Center Point; and Tom Scarborough of Tom's Tree Farm at Lubbock.

Ten Graduates Will Receive $1,000 Loans

Ten outstanding engineering graduate students have been named recipients of "Forgivable Predoctoral Loans in Engineering," made possible by the Ford Foundation, according to Dean Fred J. Benson of the School of Engineering.

The loans were made from a $50,000 grant to A&M from the Ford Foundation for use in encouraging top scholars to enter a career in engineering teaching. The loan is forgiven at the rate of $1,000 for each year of teaching after the student has completed his work and received his Ph.D. degree.

Students receiving the loans were Charles J. Monier, Andrew J. Edmondson, Dan Lee Taylor, Daniel L. Hollis Jr. and Paul M. Beckham.

Loans were also given to Richard L. Bennett, Danny R. Tidwell, Donald L. Woods, Wayne W. Wilkins and Luis E. Mora.

Teen Journalists Due July 15 - 20

Dates for the fourth annual Texas High School Publications Workshop will be July 15-20, announced Delbert McGuire, head of the Department of Journalism and director of the workshop.

Speakers will include Walter Humphrey, editor of The Fort Worth Press; Dr. Max Haddick, director of journalism for the Interscholastic League in Austin; and Paul Swenson, newspaper fund director of the Wall Street Journal.

Morning sessions will be devoted to speakers and panels on the techniques of publications work. Later in the day, the students will participate in workshop on news writing, editing, newspaper make-up, yearbook planning, production, lay-out and photography.

Delegates will gather, write, edit and print a mimeographed newspaper and an offset newspaper, McGuire said. Yearbook students will compile and send to the printers a 64-page book, "Summertime '62."

Costs for the workshop will be a $10 registration fee and $15 for 15 meals during the five days. A charge of $3 will be made for advanced students in photography classes.
