Arrangements have been made for a fleet of busses to transport A&M students to Gainesville, Fla., next October for the Aggie-University of Florida football game, it was disclosed Wednesday by Head Yell Leader Bill Brashears. The group of busses will leave Houston the morning of Oct. 12 for the 2,000-mile trip, and is due the Sunshine State early the following morning. The ball game is scheduled Oct. 13.

ASA Gives A&M Research $4,000 Job

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials last week awarded an $84,800 contract to A&M Research Foundation. An announcement was released by Ralph W. Yarborough (D-).

Officials said the contract will be used for laboratory research on automatic neutron activation analysis.

ASA also selected A&M to be part in a $2 million grant to increase the supply of space scientists and engineers. The program will furnish 10 M pre-doctoral graduate students with grants of $2,400 per plus $1,000 per in expense advances. The school will be reimbursed for tuition, fees and other expenses involved.

Other schools selected along with A&M were University of Maryland, Georgia Institute of Technology, University of Michigan, University of Minnesota, University of Iowa, University of California at Los Angeles, Slesiaer Polytechnic Institute, University of Chicago and Rice University.

Wire Review

MOSCOW — Premier Khrushchev unveiled a plan Wednesday to unveil a U.N.-sponsored trade organization "to resist the internationalization of capitalist monopolies," as the European Common Market.

The Soviet Union, he said, "considers that the United Nations cannot stand aloof from this. It must call an international conference on international trade which would discuss formation of an international organization that would deal with trade of all regions of the world on a basis of no discrimination."

U. S. NEWS

DENVER — Colorado gave its own astronaut, Malcolm Scott Carpenter, one of the biggest honors in its history today as he wound up a three-day visit to his home state just six days after a three-orbit space flight. Capt. Leonard Johnson of the Denver police, estimated 300-400 persons saw Carpenter as he passed through the Denver business district at the head of the Memorial Day parade.

TEXAS NEWS

ARLINGTON, Tex. — A ground search got under way today for a large ranch five miles south of Marlin for an 18-year-old boy who failed to return home last night from rounding up cattle.

The youth is Larry Ray Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Green. The boy's father is manager of the Champ Farrell Ranch, one of the largest in Falls County center of the search.

Ambulance, Car Crash Kills Woman

Mrs. J. J. Skrabanek of Caldwell was fatally injured Wednesday when the car she was driving was involved in a collision with an ambulance near the Townshire Shopping Center. The ambulance was answering another traffic accident call at the time of the collision.

Riding in the car with Mrs. Skrabanek at the time of the crash were her husband, J. J. Skrabanek, and their son, Milton. Both Skrabanek and his son were taken to St. Joseph Hospital where they were reported in fair condition Wednesday night.

The driver and assistant driver of the Calloway-James ambulance were both injured in the accident. However, only one of the drivers remained in the hospital after initial treatment.

The ambulance team was going to an accident involving an overturned car near Travis Elementary School. Both siren and red lights were in operation on the ambulance at the time of the accident.

878 Given Degrees As School Year Ends

Class Of 1963 Takes Command

Almost 900 Aggies were awarded degrees last Saturday as the 1961-62 school year came to an end. Records show 878 degrees conferred.

Commissions in the Army, Air Force and Marines were also given in ceremonies that day.

Degrees, presented in G. Rollie White Coliseum, included those of doctor of philosophy, doctor of veterinary medicine, various masters degrees and the baccalaureate.

Valedictorian was Robert Kincaid Wright of Houston.

Dr. K. S. Pitzer, president of Rice University at Houston was the commencement speaker. Commissioning speaker was Lt. Gen. Carl H. Jark, Fourth Army commanding general.

L. T. Peterson, vice president of the association of former students, made a symbolic presentation of a Development Fund gift of more than $304,500 to President Earl Rudder.

Pitzer's topic was "Opportunity and Responsibility." Jark told the fledgling officers that as ROTC graduates they were "the cohesive force that gives form and strength to the military instrument."

Brig. Gen. Bruno A. Hochmuth of the Marine Corps presented 13 A&M graduates with commissions. Other graduates accounted for 221 Army and Air Force commissions presented.

High point for members of the Corps of Cadets was the final review, held Saturday afternoon. The review symbolized the "change of command" from the graduating seniors to the class behind them.

After one time around the parade field, seniors left their old units to take the salute from their old units a second time around.

Graduating with high honors were:

David Collins, Arthur Moore, Bobby Joe Able, Lynn Bellamy and Robert Kincaid Wright Jr.

Graduating with honors were:

Code Of Conduct Planned By Corps

Organizational plans have begun for a Cadet Code of Conduct, effective for the first time next year, Cadet Col. of the Corps Bill Nix announced Wednesday.

The code, to be completed and printed in August, will be used as a supplement to the Aggie Honor Code and Articles of the Cadet Corps. Its main purpose will be to standardize Corps of Cadets practices and policies.

John H. Meyer, '63 from Hondo, has been named chairman of the code committee. He will be assisted by seven other chairmen for various activities, as well as over 30 new seniors who attended the first organizational meeting of the group.

According to Nix, the code will primarily involve privileges and responsibilities as they apply to the overall operation of the Corps. It is hoped that other students,

CSC Selects New Officers For '62-63

New members of the '62-'63 Civilian Student Council met last Thursday evening in the Memorial Student Center to elect officers for the coming year.

Elected to lead next year's council were Jeff Harp, president; Richard Moore, vice president; Bryan Ralph, corresponding secretary; David Johnson, recording secretary; Don Packer, treasurer; and Don Bell, parliamentarian.

At the first meeting of the executive committee of the new council, held Wednesday, the new officers discussed policies for creating a more unified and better informed civilian student body.

"Proposals for school blazer jacket and a campus civilian car wash rack were mentioned at the meeting," said Harp, president of the new council.

Room Keys Must Be Returned Soon To Get Refund

The new college policy on room reservations requires that all room keys must be turned in by Sept. 1, according to an announcement from the Housing Office.

In order to receive the key deposit refund, students who will not be in summer school must return their key to the Housing Office before leaving school.

The office also announced that all dormitories not in use for summer school will be locked at 6 p.m. Saturday.

Top Aggie Graduate

Robert K. Wright Jr. of Houston, an aeronautical engineering major, receives congratulations as the top honor graduate of the spring graduation class from President Earl Rudder. He is married to the former Virginia Lynn Schilling of Houston. The Wrights have a 16-month-old daughter. Wright, incidentally, will be the last Aggie graduate to hold the valedictorian title. Future plans call for several individuals to be cited as high honor graduates under a new honor system.

GOLD WATCHES, TOO

$1,000 Award Given Personnel

Eight A&M personnel have been honored with $1,000 awards and gold watches for distinguished achievement.

The awards were made during the recent eighth annual Faculty and Staff Recognition and Awards Program. Categories included achievement in teaching, student relations, research and extension work.

Awards went to John Paul Abbott, professor of English; Thomas C. Cartwright, professor of genetics in the Department of Animal Husbandry; Gene M. Gowing, assistant professor of veterinary medicine and surgery; and Charles A. Rodenberger, associate professor of aeronautical engineering, all for achievement in teaching.

The student relations category award went to Robert O. Murray Jr., civilian counselor in the Department of Student Affairs. Research awards were won by Sylvia Cover, professor of foods and nutrition research with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, and by Richard E. Wainardi, assistant to the dean of engineering and head of the activation analysis laboratory.

Velda Stout, Victoria County home demonstration agent, was given the extension service achievement award.

Making the presentations was W. C. McGee Jr. of Houston, president of Tennessee Gas Pipeline Company and a past president of the A&M Association of Former Students. The association provides funds for the gifts.

Program speaker was Lee Lockwood, chairman of the Texas Commission on Higher Education and a prominent business man.

The presentation of watches was a new program feature. In addition, watches were given to all past distinguished achievement award winners who are still living, according to J. B. Hervey, executive secretary to the Association of Former Students.

Abbott came to A&M in 1926 after receiving his BA degree from Vanderbilt University. His doctorate came in 1939 at the University of Iowa, and he was made a full professor in 1940 at A&M.

Cartwright completed his BS degree in 1948 at Clemson College and his MS and PhD in 1949 and 1952 at A&M. The geneticist, according to his nominators, is an outstanding research scientist and is chairman of the graduate committee of a large number of graduate students.

Gowing was born in Iowa and educated at Northwest Missouri State Teachers College, the University of Houston and A&M. From the beginning of his teaching career here he has demonstrated unusual ability. He is noted for his calm but deliberate manner of presentation of classroom material, organized logically and delivered with clarity.

Retirement Ends Gregory's Career

Col. Charles E. Gregory, professor of air science at A&M since 1958, is retiring at the end of June after 24 years active military service in the Army and Air Force.

He attended A&M and was graduated in 1938 at 20 years of age, receiving a Bachelor of Science degree and a certificate for appointment as a lieutenant in the Cavalry Reserve. He immediately enlisted as a Flying Cadet and entered pilot training at Randolph Field. He completed flight training at Kelly Field in May 1939, and was assigned as a pursuit pilot in Hawaii.

He was a combat pilot flying B-17's in the Pacific theatre during the early part of World War II and flew B-24's in Italy during the latter part of the war. His decorations include the Silver Star, the Air Medal and the Commendation Medal. Gregory is a command pilot and, as a navigator, is rated as an aircraft observer.

In 1948 he received his Master's degree in business administration from the Graduate School of Business, Stanford University. He was promoted to the rank of colonel at 34 years of age.

Summer Permits Are Now Available

Day Student Permits and student parking permits are now available in the Housing Office and the Campus Security Office.

"In order to save time in the registration line, students who want to live off campus or in college apartments are encouraged to get their permits early," Housing Director Harry Boyer announced.

Sure Sign That School's Out

Parking lot activity is a sure sign that the end can't be too far away. Here a student is assisted in loading his car after that long-anticipated last final. Exams will end Saturday afternoon, with summer school registration scheduled Monday. (Photo by Ben Wolfe)
